5 TO 7 MAJORITY PREDICTED

Reed Denounces Wilson, and Other Democrats, It Is Said, Will Do So Today.

ASSAILS OREGON MESSAGE

Missouri Senator Also Says That Bankers Are Trying to Influence Hays.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Debate on the peace resolution will end tomorrow and a final vote will be taken. Republican leaders said that the resolution would be adopted.

Before the debate is brought to a close more Democratic Senators are to discuss it and some of those who have heretofore been stanchly loyal to President Wilson are expected to criticise him. The feeling aroused by the President's telegram to G. E. Hamaker of Oregon, has grown as Senators have considered and analyzed the situation in which it places them and the party generally.

Democratic criticism of President Wilson for his attitude as expressed in his telegram continued today in the Senate. In a characteristically bitter speech Senator Reed of Missouri, a Democrat, who has consistently opposed the League of Nations covenant, flayed the President, and after telling what, in his opinion, the President had demanded of Democrats in the campaign, concluded with the words:

Mr. Reed took up the President's statement that the Democrats must "keep faith" and safeguard the nation's honor.

"Keep faith with whom and what?" Senator Reed asked. "The President says in his telegram that he was authorized by the great fighting nations to inform the enemy—Germany, in other words—that the League of Nations had been decided on. Our pledge then is to Germany. On his speaking tour the President called the opponents of the league pro-German. Now we are told we must accept the league because we promised it to Germany.

Warns of Democratic Fights.

"No sane man believes it possible that the Peace Treaty can be ratified before March 4, 1921. If the Democratic Party writes into its platform a declaration for unconditional acceptance of the treaty there cannot be such a change made in the complexion of the Senate as would prevent its rejection. Nobody outside of a lunatic asylum believes unqualified ratification possible.

"I wonder what will become of Democratic candidates for re-election to the Senate with the treaty a party issue. Does not the position taken by the President insure their defeat?"

Senator Reed read a list of the Democratic Senators who voted for the Lodge reservations and who are seeking reelection.

"How long can a party live if one man's will is to be set up regardless of the political situation?" Mr. Reed exclaimed.

When he reached the name of Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Senator Reed said:

"Woodrow Wilson would not have been nominated for President in 1912 if it had not been for Thomas P. Gore. I know that to be the truth."

In one way or another, Mr. Reed said, all but six Democratic Senators come under the President's censure and displeasure, and "wear his brand of dishonor."

"If they deserve that, they ought to be put out of office," he asserted. "Dishonored, disgraced and damned," he said, "were those Democrats who at the last voted to ratify the treaty, incurring all the dishonor imputed by the President."

"What a spectacle the party will present," he continued, "as it lines up for battle in the coming campaign! Those who voted for the Lodge reservations must eat their own words and their own votes on every platform from which they speak. We will enter the fight, if we accept the President's advice, with every man who has been honored by the party disgraced and his record repudiated. The platform will be the epitaph of present-day Democracy.

Says Bankers Work on Hays.

"Great financial interests and the international bankers are trying to influence Chairman Will Hays to adopt a halfway plank on the treaty. All such sinister influences have been at work. I do not believe they will succeed. The Republicans have heard from too many States, and Johnson has received too great a popular indorsement."

Taking up the President's telegram in detail Mr. Reed said that Democrats would be called upon to support "indefensible things." He enumerated the plural votes allowed the British Empire in the League Assembly, the question of the Monroe Doctrine and the article relating to disarmament.

"We are asked to defend before the American people," he said, "the proposal to say that when this nation is engaged in war, and defending ourselves against an invader, we cannot raise a single soldier nor call into being a single ship without the consent, the unanimous consent, of a council composed exclusively of foreigners, sitting on the top of a mountain in Switzerland, in the

Orders Seizure of Material For Making Liquor in South

ROANOKE, Va., May 14.—Seizure by field agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue of all material "designed to be used in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors" has been ordered by S. R. Brame, Federal Supervising Prohibition Agent for the Southern Division.

The division includes Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky.

Mr. Brame's orders, as announced by local agents of the bureau, stated that "not only are materials such as sugar, grain, molasses and malt ingredients to be seized, where sufficient reasons exists for the belief that they will be used in the production of illicit alcoholic liquor, but that suspicious shipments also are to be detained."

WANT RAIL FUND PROVIDED AT ONCE

Executives Ask $125,000,000 of the $300,000,000 the Law Allows to Get Equipment.

$73,000,000 FOR ADDITIONS

Also Request $50,000,000 to Meet Obligations—Senate Asks Report on Congestion.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Immediate use of a part of the Government's revolving fund for the purchase of rail equipment was suggested to the Interstate Commerce Commission today by the Association of Railway Executives to aid in relieving the present acute freight congestion. At the same time the Senate adopted a resolution by Senator Reed of Missouri calling upon the commission for information as to what steps it had taken toward relieving the situation.

The executives recommended that $125,000,000 be set aside for purchase of equipment, especially cars, to meet the insistent demands of freight. Each road would be asked for a statement of equipment needs, loans to be apportioned pro rata. The executives urged the commission to act at its earliest opportunity because of the car shortage.

The executives offered also the following program for disposition of the remainder of the $300,000,000:

A temporary reserve for judgments and claims against the Railroad Administration on the roads' accounts, $40,000,000.

Appropriation for the short line railroads, $12,000,000.

A reserve to meet maturing obligations, $50,000,000.

Appropriation for additions and betterments which will promote the movement of cars, $73,000,000.

If maturing obligations of the various roads do not require full use of the $50,000,000 set aside for that purpose, the remainder should be turned into the fund for the purchase of equipment, it was added.

Ask Liberal Policy for Weaker Roads.

The commission should adopt a more liberal policy with respect to "weaker roads," in the matter of securities accepted by the Government, the executives urged. They declared that through this method the ends sought could be more easily gained since it worked a more general development of adequate service.

The commission was asked to join in urging enactment of the Cummins amendment to the Transportation act, because of the effect it would have in aiding the corporations to expend greater sums for equipment. It was said that if the five-year limitation were removed and extended to ten years for refunding loans, the roads would be in better position to develop a complete program of equipment buying.

As viewed by some of the executives, the Cummins amendment would mean that the roads would have approximately $300,000,000 more in cash than under the original provisions of the Transportation act. The roads would be given ten years to pay back $765,000,000 expended on their properties during Federal control. Director General Hines had proposed to reduce this amount by withholding $405,000,000 which the Government owes the roads in rentals. This, it was asserted, would accomplish the object sought by Western shippers, who urged Congress last week to increase the loan fund to enable the roads to buy more cars at this time.

Say It Would Mean Available Cash.

The changes would act as a tonic for the credit of many of the roads, the executives believed, and give the roads an immediately available cash supply.

While the executives were laying their program before the commission, some of its members were engaged in investigations of the car shortage and freight congestion on which reports have come from all corners of the country. Several conferences on the situation were held with railroad representatives and with officials of the car service commission, the railroads' agency which is to work in cooperation with the commission in application of the car service provisions of the transportation act.

Protests and reports of further increases in the congestion continued to pile up. Several delegations of shippers called on Representative Esch, who was joint author of the new railroad law, asking him to urge congressional help of some sort. Coal operators from

INDUSTRY UNITED TO BREAK LABOR GRIP ON TRAFFIC

WILL FIGHT UNION TIEUPS

FEARS BREAD FAMINE HERE

Formation of Independent Trucking System to Continue to Get Food Into City.

The city's commercial interests, as represented by the six big business, industrial and transportation organizations, have formed a Citizens' Transportation Committee to deal with all transportation problems and particularly the present congestion and restricted movement of goods, due to labor disturbances.

The formation of the committee was announced yesterday by Alfred E. Marling, Chairman of the Committee for the Protection of the Public Rights in the Transportation of Goods, who declared that the transportation situation was extremely grave. The new organization is an outgrowth of the committee formed to fight the union truckmen, who, it is charged, were interfering with the free movement of goods. It will continue the organization of an independent trucking system.

Situation Demands Broader Plans.

"The rapidly increasing gravity of the transportation situation in this city has convinced us that we must broaden the scope of our plans if the situation is to be relieved," Mr. Marling said. "The Citizens' Transportation Committee will be composed of the executives of the commercial organizations and the Chairmen and Vice Chairmen of committees already organized for different phases of the fight for free transportation. It will have sub-committees. The operating committee has already been appointed, with Colonel Frederic A. Molitor as its Chairman.

"It is our purpose to construct an organization which will be permanent in character and which can be called upon at any time. We hope that the present emergency will soon be passed; but it is our purpose to protect the interests of the public and of every business man in the city against unlawful or unfair interference.

"Our movement has nothing whatever to do with union or non-union labor, but we insist that every man who wishes to work shall have an opportunity to do so, and that he shall be fully protected in all his rights. Any other position would be un-American and incompatible with our institutions.

"We do not expect to bring prices down tomorrow or the next day, but we expect eventually to bring them down to the level which is fixed by the unrestricted operation of supply and demand."

Lincoln Discusses Situation.

J. C. Lincoln, manager of the Traffic Bureau of the Merchants' Association and Secretary of the new committee, said that the situation had been acute since April 25, when the steamship companies whose lines were tied up by longshoremen's strikes got new men to replace the strikers.

Mr. Lincoln said union truckmen who delivered freight were reprimanded or fined by the Chauffeurs and Drivers' Union. Non-union truckmen were intimidated. The union trucking corporations, he said, would not order their men to go to the piers.

Merchants who employed non-uion truckmen had been threatened in various ways, he said. In some cases their men had been called out; in others they had been blacklisted, and in others again notice had been given to the steamship lines that they must not handle this business on their ships.

Potato Shipment Turned Back.

Citing an instance, Mr. Lincoln said: "Growers of potatoes in Florida were advised this year by the trade here not to use the Clyde Line until advised to do so. The first steamer carried a large consignment of potatoes. They were very scarce and the price was high—$20 a barrel wholesale. The regular truckmen were asked to get those potatoes. They told their employers they were afraid it would involve a labor strike.

"Appeal was made to Union Local 202. A great emergency existed and the people would suffer if the potatoes could not be unloaded. They said no, that it could not be done. When asked why, they replied that the Clyde Line was employing 'unfair labor.' It was suggested that privately employed truckmen might do the work. The union said the porters were all union men. The result was that the consignees had to send the goods from this city to other markets.

"This indicates how prices are being forced up as a result of labor difficulties on the transportation lines. We intend to restore prices to their normal level by opening the transportation lines. There is plenty of food if we can only get it here."

High school students of the Greater City will attend a "Ship by Trucks—Good Roads" mass meeting at the Capitol Theatre this morning under the auspices of the New York State Highways Transport Committee.

Four prizes will be awarded to winners of an essay contest recently held in the public schools on the subject of highway trucking as a solution of the living problem.

Francis M. Hugo, Secretary of State, will preside, and the speakers will include Colonel Brainard Taylor, transport officer of the Department of the East, Grover A. Whalen and Dr. William L. Ettinger, Superintendent of the New York City Schools.

Plan for 10 Per Cent. Tax on Stock Dividends To Raise Money for Soldiers' Bonus

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Indications are that the Ways and Means Committee will include a retroactive tax of 10 per cent. on the privilege of issuing stock dividends in the bill to provide bonuses for ex-service men, which has been nearly completed by the Republican members of the committee.

The Republicans have eliminated the sales tax and scaled down the awards so as to raise enough money without resorting to taxes other than those on tobacco, increases in the income surtaxes and stock exchange transfers.

Representative Green of Iowa, author of a bill to place a tax of 15 per cent. on the privilege of issuing stock dividends, offered this today as a provision to the bonus bill, but those opposed to it succeeded in defeating it, although it appeared in five different forms. In the final vote today, when the proposed tax was reduced to 10 per cent. with the proviso that it should go into effect after the Supreme Court decision declaring the tax on stock dividends unconstitutional, it was defeated by a majority of one, but it was stated tonight that the Democrats would support Mr. Green's amendment and compel its inclusion when the bill appears before the full committee next week.

This development has aroused Representative Fordney, Chairman of the committee, who asserts that he will not support the bill if it carries such a tax.

It was declared by Republican leaders that such a retroactive tax would seriously endanger the passage of the bill in the House and would certainly meet with insurmountable objection in the Senate. The inclusion of this tax in the House bill will, it is said, precipitate a long debate and prevent the bill reaching the Senate before Congress takes a recess for the national conventions.

The Republican members of the committee decided today that the cash bonuses should be paid at the rate of $50 each quarter, so that a soldier entitled to $100 would obtain his entire award in two payments. They propose to limit the highest cash payment to $500 with the other options limited to $625. It is understood that women navy clerks, numbering about 200, who served during the war will receive the benefits of the bill.

FAIL TO OVERRIDE PRESIDENT'S VETO

House Republicans Lack 28 Votes to Enact Legislative Appropriations Bill.

GOES BACK TO COMMITTEE

Will Be Reported Monday in Modified Form—Smoot Attacks President's Action.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—President Wilson's veto of the legislative appropriation bill as containing an infringement on executive authority was sustained in the House today against the effort of the Republican majority to override it.

Though aided by a handful of Democrats, the Republicans failed by twenty-eight votes to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority to repass the bill over the President's disapproval. The measure then went back to the Appropriations Committee for elimination of the section objected to, and will be returned to the House on Monday for passage in its modified form.

The Republicans rolled up 170 votes to overcome the veto, but the Democrats cast 127 votes to sustain the President. The vote carries with it a denial of opportunity for the Senate to attempt offsetting the veto, for the redrafted measure will leave the House without the provision relating to powers of the Joint Committee on Printing, at which the veto was aimed.

While the House was considering the question Senator Smoot of Utah, author of the provision and Chairman of the joint committee, told the Senate that the President had been misinformed as to the effect of the provision which would have given the committee control of all Government publications. Roger Babson, formerly connected with the Committee on Public Information, and others attacking the joint committee were accused by Mr. Smoot of having misled the President.

The Senator added that the President had signed a bill last year giving the joint committee greater power than was proposed by the vetoed provision.

Republicans in the House debate also voiced similar complaint, but the Democrats replied that Congress had sought to censor executive departments of the Government, and that it had failed to enact laws that would provide for the continuance of useful publications.

Chairman Good of the Appropriations Committee declared that 156 publications would be compelled to cease next June 30, and the blame, he asserted, would rest entirely with the President. Representative Byrns, Democrat, of Tennessee, replied that the blame would be with Congress for failure to authorize the continuance of the publications.

Representative Sisson of Mississippi was the only Democrat to urge that the veto be voted down. He contended that Congress had not exceeded its authority in adopting the provision because of its constitutional power to limit expenditures.

In the vote, however, Representatives Gallivan and Olney, both of Massachusetts; Evans of Nevada and Lea of California joined the Republicans, as did Representative Randall of California, Prohibitionist, and Representative Keller of Minnesota, independent.

LEAGUE COUNCIL ELECTS TITTONI PRESIDENT

Will Soon Take Up the Question of Asking Wilson to Convoke the Assembly.

ROME, May 14.—The fifth session of the Council of the League of Nations met at the Ministry of the Colonies this afternoon. On a motion by Leon Bourgeois of France, Signor Tittoni, President of the Italian Senate, was elected President and delivered the inaugural speech.

Thirty-six States were represented. Regret was expressed that a delegate of the United States was not present.

Private sittings were held today and others will take place tomorrow to carry forward the preliminary business.

The first public sitting of the Council will be held tomorrow evening, when there will be a discussion of the internal administration of the Council. International questions will be held over until next Wednesday morning when a public sitting will be held in the capital at which King Victor Emmanuel will formally receive the members of the Council. Later he will entertain them at dinner, after which the Cabinet will give a luncheon in honor of the delegates.

Among the more important questions which will come up for discussion will be that of inviting President Wilson to convoke the first assembly of the League of Nations, which is expected to be held in the Autumn.

BESIEGE AND KILL BANDIT IN HOUSE

KILLED OFFICER IN FLIGHT

CHICAGO, May 14.—Horace Walton of St. Joseph, Mo., 22 years old, a former postal employe and a member of the Y. M. C. A., died like a mad, trapped beast in the Drexel Square Apartments today after a thrilling battle in which William A. Roberts, a patrolman, was also killed, being shot seven times by Walton, and dying in the Washington Park Hospital.

A few hours earlier Walton had robbed the mail car of an incoming Illinois Central New Orleans train and had dropped off at the Sixty-third Street station in Chicago with a bag stuffed with more than $105,000 in currency.

Walton shot the policeman when the latter asked him about the bag he was carrying. Walton in turn was killed by Mooney, Chief of Detectives, who shot him through the heart. Six other bullets were found in his body. Patrolman Thomas Ferriter was wounded in the hip by a bullet from Walton's revolver. His condition is not serious.

This, in brief, is the closing chapter of a mystifying Jekyll-Hyde life. So far as the public knew, Walton was a hard-working postal clerk of exemplary habits, but he had another personality. Single handed he executed a train robbery almost without equal in all the annals of such deeds. His timidity betrayed him when he was within a stone's throw of safety with a fortune in his hands.

Whatever may have been his actions before last night, he crowded enough crime and adventure into the few hours before his death to last almost any criminal a life time. He began by boarding the New Orleans Express at Kankakee, aware that it was to travel over an unusual route and omitting customary stops. Displaying a Postal Inspector's badge, evidently acquired while he was in the Government Service as a clerk, he gained admittance to the mail car. Catching the five clerks unawares, he backed them into a corner and forced one to tie the other four. Then he bound the fifth man and went to work on the mail bags. How much was stolen is still problematical, but it will exceed $105,000. Then he gave each of his helpless victims an $80 "tip" and rode calmly into Chicago, alighting at Sixty-third Street. He boarded a passing street car, transferred at Cottage Grove Avenue and rode to Hyde Park Boulevard, only a block from his home.

First Shot Kills Policeman.

Two policemen were standing on a corner. They had no reason to suspect Walton, but his nervousness was so apparent that they decided to stop him. He immediately began shooting. Roberts, mortally wounded, fell against his companion and both went down.

Walton dashed into the Drexel Square apartments. Police were summoned from every direction and the building was surrounded. Walton's room was located and bullets were poured into it. Two girls sleeping in an adjoining room were near death, with bullets crashing through their window and smashing into the head board of their bed. Both crouched on the floor and escaped injury. Another woman who heard the police dash into the hallway poked her head out just as the firing began. She fainted and fell to the floor out of range.

When news of the shooting of Roberts was received at the Detective Bureau the homicide squad and police reserves were sent to the scene. They found Elmer Loeb, who told them he had witnessed the shooting and seen the bandit enter the Drexel apartment. Detective Chief Mooney, who lived only two blocks away, hurried to the scene and meanwhile the police had learned that Walton had thrown away his grip containing the money.

From Mrs. Helen Vintor, whose rooms are near the street entrance to the Drexel apartment, the police learned that a man had hurried in and entered

DICKINSON HALL AND THE CHAPEL AT PRINCETON BURN

VOLUNTEERS AID FIREMEN

Neighboring Towns Give Aid—Fire Under Control, with $200,000 Damage.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Saturday, May 15.—Princeton University came near destruction by fire early this morning when flames which started in a prized recitation hall, fanned by a stiff breeze, left it a blackened ruin, jumped to historic Marquand Chapel and destroyed it and swept on to the roof of McCosh Hall, a million-dollar building, before a determined fight by regular and volunteer firemen had subdued them.

Dickinson Hall, one of the oldest structures on the campus, is gone, and with it invaluable and irreplaceable collections of the professors of economics and philosophy whose students used it. Beautiful Marquand Chapel with its famous old paintings and its splendid artistic memorials is a thing of the past and a charred area on the roof of McCosh Hall tells how near one of the university's finest structures came to destruction.

At 2 o'clock this morning the fire was under control after apparatus and men from nearby towns had been raced to the aid of the Princeton department and the volunteers from the ranks of the students and old grads here for the big athletic events of tomorrow. The damage is estimated at $200,000, without taking into account those things which have been burned and cannot be replaced.

Probably never has Princeton lived through a night of more intense excitement. The town was jammed with visitors for today's events, and every upper class club was crowded with girls and their chaperones, attending week-end house parties, and in the gymnasium the freshmen were just swinging well into their dance when the alarm set the whole place aquiver.

While some who were not participating in the night's gaities came tumbling, tousled and half clad from the dormitories, hundreds in evening clothes hurried from the various social affairs, eager to be the first to attempt rescue work and to fight the fire. There were some among the girls in filmsy evening attire, so fired with enthusiasm they wanted to rush with their escorts into Dickinson Hall, but they were restrained.

The hall is named after Jonathan Dickinson, the first President of the University, and is three stories high. How teh fire started there is not known, but soon all the windows of the three-story building were lit with the glare of flames sweeping up the stairways and biting through the ceilings.

Early arrivals forced their way into the building, knowing that it housed invaluable collections made through the years by the professors of philosophy and economics and that they must be saved quickly if saved at all. Through the smoke-filled halls the students groped their way, clambering up stairways where tongues of flame already were following them. From room after room they grabbed armfuls of books and papers and collections of data and other exhibits, plunging down and out to the campus just as the first groups of girls and their chaperons joined the excited watchers outside.

By then other students had manned the university's fire fighting apparatus and the first of the city department's fighters had joined in. Dickinson Hall was aflame from basement to roof and even the hardiest of the students dared not go back for more. It is believed that all books, records and collections except the few armfuls carried out were destroyed.

So soon as it became apparent that the recitation hall could not be saved and that there was every probability that more college buildings would go, attention was turned to the chapel, directly in the path of the fire if it spread.

Across the blackened ruins of what had been a $50,000 building, by no means replaceable for that sum now, the flames jumped to the chapel building. Every effort had been made with the apparatus at hand to interpose a sheet of water between the ever hotter fire and the handsome chapel, but with a stiff wind whipping the flame sheets about and burning embers showering as the blaze licked through the roof, that effort proved vain.

Students Try to Save Property.

While the crowd pressed close, groups of students formed gangs and carried out as much removable property as they could get. But again the fire was too quick for them, and before they could empty the building they were ordered outside and compelled to remain there.

The volunteers did succeed in carrying out most of the pews, and some of the portraits, while stalwart members of the football team carried through the hazardous task of rescuing the altar and some of its occoutrements. Both buildings were unoccupied when the fire started, and hence there were no rescues, nor was any one hurt in the fire fight.

Princeton was more than usually crowded when the fire started because the Yale-Cornell crew race is to be

MEASURES HOTLY ASSAILED

Called "Hysterical" and "Reactionary"—Berger Defends Curbs on Radicalism.

ALBANY, May 14.—Strong opposition to and determined approval of the Lusk-Martin Anti-Sedition bills and the Fearon measures, which some opponents say seek to eliminate the Socialist Party from the ballot, were voiced at a hearing on these measures before Governor Smith in the Executive Chamber today.

Delegations from political, religious, labor and social organizations joined forces in urging the Governor to disapprove the bills, while Deputy Attorney General Samuel Berger, former Senator Elon R. Brown and Martin Conboy, who were associated with the prosecution in the case of the Socialist Assemblymen, and Henry A. Wise Wood, Mrs. John H. Iselm and Mrs. George Wilde spoke in support of the measures.

"The Lusk-Martin bills," said Mr. Berger, "incorporate the recommendations of the committee which investigated radicalism and should become laws. There is an imperative need for such statutes if New York State is to curb sedition and radicalism effectively."

Starts Reading "Married Love."

Henry A. Wise Wood of New York City roused the Governor, whose determination to veto measures had been generally forecast, when he quotd paragraphs from "Married Love," a textbook alleged to be in use in the Rand School, which caused the assemblage of men and women to utter numerous "ohs."

"Why don't you send that book to the District Attorney?" asked the Governor, interrupting its reading.

"He has one," said Mr. Wood, who, after the Governor asked for the book, told him: "You don't realize the rottenness of these people."

"Why get new laws?" questioned the Governor. "There are laws enough to suppress that. Do you mean to say that you have complained to the District Attorney and that he would not act on that?"

"That is the fact," interrupted Deputy State Attorney General Berger. "That book was placed in the hands of the District Attorney last August and he has done nothing to date."

Mr. Wood ended his arraignment of the opponents of the measures by declaring the Rand School to be made up of "moral perverts and social defectives."

Marshall Attacks Measures.

Charges that the measures were un-American and undemocratic were freely made by the opposition, led by Louis Marshall.

"These bills," said Louis Marshall of New York, "affect the fundamentals of our governmental system and attack the liberty of the system. They are so reactionary that no parallel can be found in American history.

"The Socialist doctrines are unsound. That, however, is not the question. The question is whether the thought of the State of New York shall be put in a straitjacket. In a moment of hysteria shall we forget all that America stands for and adopt this hated Prussian system?

"The sooner we shift off this hysteria the better it will be for the entire State."

Referring to the bill which seeks to establish a bureau in the Attorney General's office for the prosecution of criminal anarchy, Mr. Marshall said:

"I dread the thought of having a secret police in the State. This measure would create it. It is the same procedure that made the Czar and Kaiser detested. It is Russianizing and Prussianizing the State of New York."

Mr. Marshall said that the Fearon bill, aimed at the Socialist Party, seeks to get the courts into politics, and especially attacked the measure in its direction of a special judicial tribunal, the Third Department of the Appellate Division, to determine the fitness of a political organization as a party.

"Gossip takes the place of actual evidence in the provisions of the bill requiring a teacher's certificate of loyalty. The bill aimed at the Rand School is an attempt to pass judgment on the thought of others, would strike forcefully at the liberty to worship God as

VERA CRUZ, Saturday, May 15 (Associated Press) (Received New York 4 A.M.).—President Venustiano Carranza, who with a force of loyal troops has been resisting rebel attacks near San Marcos, State of Puebla, for the last five days, has broken through the rebel lines to the southeast, and, accompanied by 1,000 men, has fled into the mountains between Puebla and Oaxaca, according to advices received here this morning.

Before abandoning their last positions the Carranza troops destroyed their trains and war material which could not be carried with them.

Generals Murguia and Urquiso, with some of the Carranza troops, are still fighting near San Marcos for the purpose of retarding the pursuit of the fleeing President.

(May 14).—Rebel attacks on the position held by President Carranza near San Marcos, State of Puebla, have been successful at some points, but the struggle is still going on. Two more trains remaining in possession of the President have been taken, according to advices. A detachment of his men is attempting to cut its way out toward the north, and it is expected the main body of the Carranza troops will make an effort to follow.

The rebel forces are making determined efforts to outflank the position held by the troops loyal to Carranza. Generals Higinio Aguilar and Guadeloupe Sanchez are preparing for a united attack on the Carranza lines.

The position held by Carranza's soldiers extends from near Huamantle, southeastward about twenty-seven miles to Algibes, approximately six miles northwest of Chalchicomula, according to reports. As advices of yesterday and the day before indicated, that the southern end of the Carranza line was near San Marcos, it would appear that the President's troops have succeeded in working their way down the railroad nearly nineteen miles since the beginning of the combat, five days ago.

A rebel Captain who was in the battle zone Thursday arrived here today and stated that at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon forces commanded by General Sanchez, consisting of about 4,000 infantry and cavalry, entered the fight and succeeded in flanking the first positions, occupied by Carranza's men. The infantry deployed to the left over the hills, while the cavalry swung around to the right on level ground. The main attack was made against the last two trains held by Carranza's men.

The attacking forces encountered a barrage of artillery and machine gun fire, but succeeded in reaching the Carranza trains and destroying both. The rebel advance, however, encountered superior Carranza forces and was stopped. After two hours of fighting the rebels were ordered to retire to Chalchicomula. The battle lasted four hours.

Severe losses were suffered by both sides, the rebel forces losing one of their leaders, General Liberato Lara Torrea, who received a sword wound in the neck during a hand-to-hand fight. He was rushed to Orizaba, where he died this afternoon.

General Sanchez had a narrow escape from being killed while encouraging his men. He rode along the lines and encountered a burst of machine gun fire, his horse being shot from under him.

During the fighting two Carranza airplanes circled over the battlefield and inspected the positions held by the rebels General Higinio Aguilar, who fought under Porfirio Diaz, and is known as the "eternal rebel," arrived to cooperate in the attack against Carranza. He brought into the fight 2,000 soldiers, all veterans and well acquainted with the terrain. Another leader who has joined the rebels is General Medina, who commands a large force of men.

W. A. Body, British Vice Consul for this city, is with President Carranza. Efforts are being made by British and American authorities here to reach him. They have arranged, through Naval be with the Carranza party. General Commander Hiram Toledo, of the Mexican flotilla here, that Naval Lieutenant Ambrosio Ilades will go on a special train to San Marcos, where he will make an effort to get in touch with Carranza's officers and bring out Mr. Body.

British and French warships made their appearance here today for the first time since the outbreak of the revolution, the vessels which arrived being the French cruiser Descartes and the British cruiser Glasgow. The number of American warships at anchor in the harbor was increased to four by the arrival of the protected cruiser Dolphin from Tampico.

Speedy Surrender Was Predicted.

EL PASO, May 14.—Surrender some time today of President Carranza and his forces, said to be surrounded near Rinconada, State of Pueblo, was predicted in a telegram from General Alvaro Obregon, former candidate for the Presidency of Mexico, received today by Luis Montes de Oca, Mexican revolutionary Consul at El Paso.

"The convoys of Carranza have been attacked by our forces for the past four days, and I think that by Friday the battle will end, with the surrender of the enemy," General Obregon's message said. "In six days public utilities will be operating as before."

General Guadalupe Sanchez, revolutionary leader operating against the Carranza forces near Vera Cruz, was reported to have attacked the President's convoys and captured a train with 600 men.

Mexican telegraph officials from Juarez to Mexico City tonight were said to be making strenuous efforts to handle the almost overwhelming mass of Government and press messages presented to their offices for transmission. This, they explained, accounted for the delay in receiving direct advices from the theatre of action.

General Obregon said in a message received here that the States of Colima and Jalisco were entirely in the hands of the revolutionists, who had 12,000 men operating in that region. These included the forces formerly under General Manuel M. Dieguez, Carranza commander in the north, who has been reported captured, it was announced.

Antonio Hernandez Ferrer, Carranza's Minister to Cuba, has announced his adherence to the revolutionary movement, recognizing Governor Adolfo de la Huerta of Sonora as its supreme commander, and declaring his support of the "plan of Agua Prieta," Señor De Oca said.

Saltillo, capital of Coahuila, was in the hands of the Obregon commander, General Luis Guiterrez, it was said.

Plans to Rescue Two Americans.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The State Department had no definite official news today regarding President Carranza and his party further than a report from the American Embassy that Carranza's trains were still near San Marcos, about 120 miles from Mexico City, on May 12.

Frederick Body, the British Consular representative at Vera Cruz, is said to Diguez, the Carranza commander in the Guadalajara district, and his staff are reported to the State Department to have been taken prisoners.

Two Americans were today reported to the State Department to have traveled out of Mexico City on one of the trains forming part of the railway convoy of President Carranza in his hurried departure from the capital. The names, as reported to the department but not confirmed, are J. H. Durebux, said to be a representative of the National City Bank of New York City, and J. C. Pickwick, said to be a representative of the firm of Lever, Son & Co. of New York.

A statement authorized by the Department of State says:

"The American Consul at Vera Cruz has reported to the Department of State, under date of today, that he has arranged with the Mexican authorities for the safeguarding of the lives of all foreigners on President Carranza's trains and that the foreigners are to be permitted to leave under a flag of truce. Mexican naval officers left Vera Cruz on a special train late yesterday with a view to carrying out this arrangement."

Congress Called for May 24.

JUAREZ, Mexico, May 14.—The meeting of the new Congress called by Governor Adolfo de la Huerta, Supreme Chief of the Liberal Constitutionalist Government, will be held at Mexico City on May 24 for the purpose of appointing a Provisional President of Mexico, General Ignacio C. Enriquez, candidate for Governor for Chihuahua, announced here tonight.

FAVOR VILLARREAL FOR PRESIDENCY

WASHINGTON, May 24.—General Antonio I. Villarreal is favored for Provisional President of Mexico by both Generals Alvaro Obregon and Pablo Gonzales. Information to this effect reached the State Department today from the American Embassy at Mexico City, which reported that both Obregon and Gonzales had isued formal statements in the Mexico City newspapers favoring Villarreal for that position.

Other proposed candidates for Provisional President, according to information reaching the State Department from the embassy at Mexico City, are Fernando Iglesias Calderon, leader of the Liberal Party; Sanchez Azcona, who has been Acting Secretary of Foreign Affairs for the pre-Provisional Government, and General Jacinto Trevino, who is Chief of Staff for General Gonzales. Generals Obregon and Gonzales held another conference in Mexico City on May 11 and there is every evidence that they are working hand in hand in harmony with Adolfo de la Huerta, who is the titular head of the revolutionary movement.

The formal declarations by Generals Obregon and Gonzales in favor of selecting General Villarreal as Provisional President will give him great prestige before the Mexican Congress which is to be called soon into extra session and which is expected to name either Villarreal or Calderon as the Provisional President. The man so chosen would serve out Carranza's term—until Dec. 31, 1920—when the man chosen in the elections to be held throughout Mexico in July would become President of Mexico.

General Villarreal, who has the support of Gonzales and Obregon for President ad interim, is about 45 years old and is well known here and in New York City. He is a robust Mexican, highly educated, speaks perfect English, and formerly entertained rather radical ideas, but has modified them in the last few years. He has always been popular with the "Gringos" and has stood in high favor with American officials. It was through his good offices that Consul Hanna was released a few years ago.

LAST BORDER TOWN FALLS.

Matamoros, Opposite Brownsville, Surrenders to Revolutionary Forces.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, May 14.—Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, quietly surrendered to Mexican revolutionary forces shortly before noon today. It was the last northern border point remaining in the hands of Carranza officials.

Its surrender was in accordance with an agreement arranged yesterday between General Rafael Colunga, Matamoros garrison commander, and General E. Reyes, representing the revolutionary Government.

There was no demonstration in connection with the surrender. Several hundred citizens gathered in the public square and listened to speeches by revolutionary officials who explained the "plan of Agua Prieta." General Colunga occupied a place on the speakers' stand but took no part in the proceedings.

BETTER FOR AMERICANS.

Conditions in Tampico Improved, Advices Received Here Say.

"Tampico was taken by the revolutionists May 8 without resistance. Conditions here normal, business as usual. We anticipate no trouble."

Other advices received by the company from Tampico state that the revolutionary authorities are extremely well disposed toward Americans, and that conditions for Americans are much better under the present régime than before the revolution.

HENRY EXONERATED; GOES BACK TO POST

JUDGE PRAISES DEFENDANT

Declares He Enforced Laws Thoroughly and Says District Has No Disorderly Houses.

Police Inspector Dominick Henry was acquitted yesterday of the charge of neglect of duty and promptly restored as the head of the Fourth Inspection District by Commissioner Enright.

Judge Malone not only expressed the opinion that the evidence vindicated Inspector Henry but paid a tribute to the Inspector's work in suppressing vice in the district. He directed the jury to acquit, and the jury returned its verdict without leaving the box.

Judge Malone held the evidence did not indicate that a single disorderly resort existed in the entire district, which includes the west side from Forty-second Street to 110th Street. Inspector Henry, in tears, received the congratulations of his lawyers, the jurymen and personal friends. James E. Smith, Assistant District Attorney, who seemed surprised by the verdict, refused to say anything for publication. District Attorney Swann said:

"I have nothing to say. The case was entirely in the hands of Mr. Smith. I did not even appear in the courtroom."

Victory for Enright and Hylan.

The result was not only a vindication of Inspector Henry but a victory for Police Commissioner Enright and Mayor Hylan in their controversy of two years' standing with the District Attorney's office on the question of vice in New York City. Mr. Smith, who has been consistently backed by District Attorney Swann, had charged that the Police Department was "more corrupt" than it had ever been, and that Inspector Henry's district was the worst policed in the city. He numbered the disorderly houses there at more than 300. Both Police Commissioner Enright and Mayor Hylan challenged these statements and asked for the evidence. After the evidence had been submitted in the Henry trial Judge Malone concluded his statement to the jury with these words:

"I am constrained to hold that in the entire district there are no disorderly houses, no houses of ill-fame. I am constrained to hold here that the defendant has enforced thoroughly and well the laws affecting public morals and public interests. Nothing more could be humanly expected of the defendant. I direct you to acquit."

"Slacker" Raids Caused Enmity.

Enmity between Mr. Smith and the Police Department arose two years ago over the "slacker" raids conducted by Mr. Smith in Inspector Henry's district. Mr. Smith entered scores of restaurants and cafés, making hundreds of arrests a night. Almost without exception the men and women so arrested were released the following day.

After the first few raids Commissioner Enright refused to allow policemen to assist Mr. Smith in making wholesale arrests. Inspector Henry had an open break with the Assistant District Attorney when he ordered his men not to make arrests demanded by Mr. Smith. The two men had a violent dispute. Police Commissioner Enright and Mayor Hylan supported Inspector Henry and District Attorney Swann stood by his assistant. Since then there has been coldness between the District Attorney's office and the City Hall and bitterness between Assistant District Attorney Smith and Police Headquarters.

A long series of attacks by Mr. Smith on the Police Department was followed by the Henry affidavits, a series of seven documents in which Inspector Henry charged that he was being persecuted by Mr. Smith because of the rejection of indirect proposals by which the police official and the Prosecutor would provide joint protection for vice and gambling and divide the revenues.

This was vehemently denied by Mr. Smith, who then presented the evidence to the March Grand Jury on which Inspector Henry was indicted. The Extraordinary Grand Jury in the meantime investigated the charges of Inspector Henry, but obtained no evidence against Mr. Smith.

Henry Makes Statement.

After shaking hands with W. Bourke Cockran and W. E. Smith, who defended him, and a score of others, including the jurymen, Inspector Henry said:

"The Judge and jury have spoken for men and I have little to add. After thirty years of clean and faithful service in the Police Department it was a great shock to me to be indicted, but I never had any doubt that I would be completely vindicated.

"I want to thank the press for its fair play. I got an absolutely square deal in the accounts of the trial. No man could expect more."

The only testimony taken yesterday was that of character witnesses. Inspector Henry's personal integrity was vouched for by Robert J. Cudahy, Charles Thorley, Henry Thompson, Fire Chief John Kenlon, Robert H. Mainzer, Joseph E. Crowe and General Theodore E. Bingham, former Commissioner of Police, who submitted an affidavit telling of the confidence he had shown in Henry by promoting him to a captaincy.

EDWARDS DISCUSSES BRYAN.

Says Nebraskan Is Really the Democratic Joke.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 14.—Governor Edwards of New Jersey, here attending the New Jersey Bankers' Convention, talked to reporters on politics this afternoon. He said:

"There seems to be keen interest as to whether I will submit a wet plank at the convention of insertion in the platform. I will say yes. I want to have an expression put on record at the convention.

"I have learned that Bryan called me a joke yesterday. Well, if I am a joke, I will not be one more than a year—not for seven or eight years. Bryan, I may say, has been a joke in the Democratic Party for twenty years. He does not realize that he is the national joke.

"When I am in the convention I mean to ask Bryan where he was during the war. I had a son with the colors overseas. Bryan was running around, jabbering with long-haired men and short-haired women. Bryan is a man who may be some duck in this manner. I say he is too lazy to work, too honest to steal, but always ready to accept some one else's money."

Police Accuse Four Men of Taking Woolens from North River Pier.

Charged with the theft of twenty cases of woolens, valued at $75,000, from Pier 66 North River, four men were arrested at the Atlanta Storage Company, 1 to 13 Gansevoort Street, last night by the police, who said they found their prisoners stamping the stolen goods with the trademark of a Cuban firm when they entered the building.

The men gave their names as Abraham Zasloff, a truck driver of 346 East Fourth Street; Samuel Peristein, chauffeur, 118 Suffolk Street; John Mullins, 175 Tenth Avenue, and William Cunningham, 571 Seventh Avenue. Cunningham said he was a merchant and a member of the firm of Cunningham & Co. of Philadelphia.

SEE HOOVER REQUEST AS AIMED AT JOHNSON

Oregon Supporters Will Drop Efforts for Food Chief and Fight for Pro-League Delegates.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 14.—Herbert Hoover's request that his local management devote exclusive attention to the selection of national convention delegates who are committed to the principles of the League of Nations is construed as an urgent appeal for the defeat of Senator Hiram Johnson, the only anti-League Presidential candidate before Republican voters of Oregon. His action is not understood, however, to be in any sense a withdrawal from his candidacy before the Chicago convention.

This is the construction put on Mr. Hoover's statement by Chester S. Murphy, Chairman of the Hoover Republican Club of Oregon, and O. C. Leiter, Secretary, who declare that his instructions can have no other interpretation.

Mr. Murphy and Mr. Leiter acted immediately in conformance with the instructions of Mr. Hoover and sent the following message in reply:

"Your telegram of today received. Subordinating our own desires, we shall follow your wishes and stop our campaign efforts in your behalf in the Oregon Republican primary, and will, as requested by you, devote our energies toward influencing the people of the State of Oregon to choose only delegates to the Republican National Convention who are committed to the League of Nations with Senate reservations."

When asked to comment on the Hoover telegram Mr. Murphy and Mr. Leiter made the following statement:

"Mr. Hoover's telegram came as a complete surprise to us, and is only another evidence of his supreme fitness for the Presidency of the United States. It is an evidence of his willingness at all times to subordinate self to the best interests of the nation. We have no further comment to make other than is contained in our telegraphic reply to Mr. Hoover."

Asked regarding the attitude of the local Hoover forces toward any of the candidates who are committed to the League with reservations, both Mr. Murphy and Mr. Leiter said they had no recommendations to make with regard to Republican National Convention delegates, save that the weight of their efforts would be directed toward the selection of delegates pledged to Presidential candidates favorable to the League.

HALLOCK, PROMOTED, HEADS POLICE NAVY

Lieutenant's Jump to Inspectorship Is First in the Department's History.

The place of Marine Inspector of the Police Department's Marine Division, created a few days ago by the Legislature, was filled yesterday when Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright appointed Lieutenant James W. Hallock, who has been Acting Captain of the "police navy" for several years. His salary will be $4,400, an increase of $1,650. This is the first promotion of a Lieutenant to Inspector in the history of the department. Hallock has a splendid record for efficiency in the Marine Division, in which he has served continuously since he was appointed a policeman on Jan. 9, 1897.

A year ago, when the steamer Princess Anne grounded near Far Rockaway, Hallock, in the storm and heavy sea, reached the vessel with his patrol boat and rescued thirty-eight members of the crew and several passengers. At the time of the Slocum disaster in the East River Hallock was officially commended for aid he rendered with the men and boats under his command. Hallock's headquarters will be at Pier A, and his fleet consists of the police boat Patrol and several launches.

SALVATION ARMY PRAISED.

Stories of Its Work in War Told at Opening of $10,000,000 Campaign.

Stories of the Salvation Army's work in again making human beings of men who had been benumbed by the carnage of battle in Europe were told last night at a meeting at the Metropolitan Opera House, to inaugurate the city appeal for the army's national $10,000,000 Home Service Fund by Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Bullard and Private Irwin Ira Rackoff, smallest enlisted man in the A. E. F., as well as by Martin Green, war correspondent, and Franklin K. Lane, former Secretary of the Interior, who is National Chairman of the Salvation Army Home Service Appeal. Mr. Lane was unable to be present on account of illness, but [illegible] wrote:

"[illegible] to the people for me that in my opinion, if we are not made to do the kind of work the Salvation Army does, then the teachings of 1,900 years have been in vain."

Colonel William A. McIntyre, Commander of the Salvation Army forces in New York and New Jersey, presided at the meeting, which, he said, was the first ever held in New York when no collection had been taken up. The story of the founding and development of the Salvation Army was narrated by Commander Evangeline Booth.

HAS NO PAPER FOR SPEECHES

Public Printer Says That Shortage Threatens the Congressional Record.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Political propaganda sent far and wide from Congressional offices in the form of copies of speeches made for home effect stopped abruptly today.

Directions came from the Public Printer that no further orders would be accepted from members of Congress for the printing of speeches or public documents.

There is no paper for this purpose, and the shortage threatens the Congressional Record with extinction. Members who asked for paper for speeches were informed that the "fate of the Congressional Record hangs in the balance."

new capital of the world. We are asked to sanction giving up what no nation or no man ever should give up—the right of self-defense."

Predict Majority of Five to Seven.

WASHINGTON, May 14 (Associated Press).—Arrangements for the Senate's vote tomorrow at 4 P. M. on the Republican peace resolution were completed tonight, with its adoption and a veto later by President Wilson foregone conclusions, according to leaders of both parties.

Democratic estimates were that the resolution would have a majority of from five to seven votes, depending on whether another Republican joins Senator McCumber of North Dakota in opposition. At least four Democrats were expected to vote with the Republicans for adoption.

The President's veto message is expected to define more clearly the campaign issue on the question of peace and the Treaty of Versailles. Democratic leaders tonight predicted that the treaty would not be returned to the Senate with the veto message, but that the President would outline more extensively his position in the veto message and thus let matters "go to the country."

MORGAN BANK TO PAY MILLS RENT IN GOLD

TO ERECT 25-STORY BUILDING

Must Replace Old Structure by 1928 —To House All Morgan Enterprises.

J. P. Morgan & Co. will pay to the Mills estate an aggregate rent of about $27,300,000 for the Mills Building, which was leased last month for an eighty-four-year period. Details of the lease, which will rank as one of the biggest ever closed in New York, were learned yesterday for the first time since the announcement from the Morgan offices on March 12 that the famous old office building at 15 Broad Street had been taken over for eventual use as the site for a new skyscraper to house the Morgan enterprises.

The rent for the first twenty-one years will be at the rate of $300,000 a year net, plus taxes and other carrying charges. For the second twenty-one-year period the rent will continue at the same figure, but in May, 1962, a new rent rate will be established, based on a new appraisal of the land value. The lease stipulates, however, that the rent for the third and fourth twenty-one-year terms shall not be less than $350,000 a year.

These figures indicate that the property will net the Mills estate $12,600,000 for the first two periods and at least $14,700,000 for the last two, an aggregate for the entire life of the lease of about $27,300,000. This is about $2,550,000 more than the Standard Oil Company will pay Elmer E. Smathers for the Welles Building at 18 Broadway in the recently reported ninety-nine-year lease at the rate of $250,000 a year net, heretofore the record transaction of its kind in New York.

The Morgan interests are required to pay the taxes and other charges. The lease also provides that the lessees must erect on the site, not later than May 1, 1928, a modern office building at least twenty-five stories in height.

Must Pay Rent in Gold.

An unusually interesting clause in the lease stipulates that the rent payments must be paid quarterly in gold, the phraseology reading "in gold at its present standard of weight and fineness."

Real estate men expressed surprise that a payment of such character should be incorporated in the terms. Few transactions within recent years have provided for such a renting arrangement, although it was said that years ago, especially after the civil war, payments in gold were quite common in long term leasing deals. The demand in those days was explained by the desire of owners to obtain specie rather than currency during the troubled days of post-war reconstruction.

When Gimbel Brothers, in 1910, leased the present site of their big Broadway store the lease called for a rent payment in gold at the rate of $630,000 a year. It is not known that these payments were ever actually made in specie, and since then the Gimbel interests have bought the property outright from the Hudson Companies, builders of the McAdoo Tunnels.

Aside from this deal and one or two others recently closed for several of the downtown holdings of the Wendel estate, realty brokers could not cite a transaction of any magnitude closed on this basis. It was pointed out by well-informed real estate men that the Mills estate was probably seeking to safeguard its investment against any world changes that might occur within the next eighty-four years.

The clause requiring the erection of a new building within a stated period was also cited as an indication of the intent of the owners of the land to obtain for their site an improvement which will be able to compete with the new office buildings in the neighborhood and further protect the investmnet.

At the Morgan offices it was said that building operations would not be started for at least two years. No architect has been selected as yet to prepare plans for the new structure, since numerous leases in the Mills Building have still a year to run. Possession was taken by the 15 Broad Street Corporation, the holding company representing the Morgan interests, on May 1.

Has Frontage on Three Streets.

The present Mills Building has been on the site for thirty-five years and has survived the keen competition from nearby modern properties largely because of the splendid way in which it has been maintained and on account of steadily dwindling supply of space in the financial district. Its frontages on Broad and Wall Streets and Exchange Place make the location peculiarly strategic for a huge office building improvement. The building now on the site is eleven stories in height and covers about 23,000 square feet of surface area. It has a frontage of 163 feet on Broad Street, 29 feet on Wall Street and 126 feet on Exchange Place, further enhancing its desirability because it makes possible entrances on three streets.

It forms at present the eastern and southern boundaries of the four-story banking home of J. P. Morgan & Co., at the southeast corner of Broad and Wall Streets, and its acquisition by these interests is said to have been largely influenced by the desire of that firm to control its eventual reimprovement and to eliminate possibility of the erection of an objectionable structure that would overshadow the splendid corner building, which cost $1,000,000 to build.

Another factor which was to have entered into the transaction was the steadily expanding business of the Morgan subsidiary companies, who have been forced to leave the home building for space in various structures in the neighborhood. The corner building is large enough to provide accommodations for the banking business but inadequate to provide space for the affiliated enterprises. Some of them are already established in the Mills Building. The foreign trade department, organized by E. R. Stettinius early in the war to manage purchases for the British and other allied countries, had quarters in the Wall Stret side.

Other Morgan companies in the Mills Building include the Foreign Finance Corporation and the Foreign Commerce Corporation. It is planned to have all these enterprises grouped in the new building.

FRENCH STRIKE IS CRUMBLING

Men Are Hurrying Back to Work —Paris Gas Workers Ignore Call to Go Out.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 14.—The common sense of French workingmen is defeating the strike that was to cause a peaceful revolution. In many of the trades that were called out those returning to work were so numerous that the struggle might be said to be almost over. The traffic of Paris is again normal. The electricians have returned to their posts. Ninety per cent. of the gas workers who were called on to strike today refused to obey the order. Metal workers and furniture makers are all flocking back to the factories and shops, and, although here and there groups of workers remain on strike, the work infection is spreading and the industry of the city is again resuming its full volume. On the railways, where the men have received final notice to return or suffer dismissal, the train service is rapidly being re-established.

Dockers and seamen are going back in larger numbers daily, and even in the mines of North and Pas de Calais, which did not come out until Monday, the return movement has begun. Great masses of workers have deserted their radical leaders, and when Jouhaux and his colleagues made their first appearance today before the Examining Magistrate to show cause why proceedings should not be taken to dissolve the General Federation it was with knowledge that their followers were fast abandoning them. One feature of the events of the past week has been the quietness and almost indifference with which the workers generally accepted the Government decision to proceed to the dissolution of the labor federation. Even in Government circles it was at first thought that it might strengthen the strike movement, but it seems to be having contrary effect.

PARIS, May 14 (Associated Press).—The Cabinet at its meeting today decided that the Government would decline to intervene with the railroad companies to have dismissals and other punishments connected with the railroad strike annulled.

DICKINSON HALL AT PRINCETON BURNS

rowed on Carnegie Lake today. There also is a baseball game with Harvard and an interscholastic track meet. As a result, probably the biggest crowd that ever gathered on the campus at such early morning hours watched the fire, cheered the regular and the volunteer fire fighters impartially, shouted advice and encouragement and generally joined in the excitement.

Dickinson Hall was the gift of John C. Green, and was erected in 1870 from the design of George B. Post of New York. It is built of local stone, trimmed with Connecticut limestone. Extensive alterations were made in the building in 1876, and the exterior was altered to the appearance familiar to the present generation.

Marquand Chapel was the gift of the late Henry G. Marquand of New York. The corner-stone was laid in June, 1881. The building was cruciform and constructed of brownstone. The apse contained the organ and choir stalls, the gallery over the main entrance was used in part for visitors and the faculty stalls were along the side of the building. The mural and window decorations were of high artistic character.

The Saint Gaudens heroic bronze high relief of the late President McCosh, erected by the class of 1879, was one of the first objects to confront the visitor. By its side were a low relief memorial tablet to Professor Joseph Henry and a bronze tablet of Professor Arnold Guyot, set in a fragment of a Swiss glacial boulder presented by his native city, Neuchatel. On the east wall of the south transept was the memorial tablet to the Rev. James Ormsbee Murray, first Dean of Princeton University. The tablet was of rose-colored Numidian marble, with a bas relief portrait in white marble, surrounded by an embossed wreath.

Wood an Academy Trustee.

President Russell R. Whitman of the Roosevelt Military Academy announced yesterday that appointments to the Board of Trustees had been accepted by Major Gen. Leonard Wood, Theodore Roosevelt, Henry L. Stimson, Governor Henry J. Allen, H. F. Sinclair, Senator Walter E. Edge, Philip B. Stewart, Governor R. Livingston Beeckman, J. S. Wanamaker, J. G. Longdale and Elbert H. Gary.

West Virginia claimed they were unable to ship coal and that, while their mines were still operating, the production was low, due to the freight traffic situation.

Fruit and vegetable interests in several sections sent word that their crops were in danger because they could not be moved. The apple crop of the Pacific Northwest is nearly all awaiting shipment, it was declared, but without immediate prospects of movement.

300,000 FACE IDLENESS HERE.

Rail Congestion Hits Building Industry and Many Men Are Laid Off.

More than 300,000 men are facing unemployment in this city alone because of the transportation congestion, Edward I. Hannah, President of the Central Federated Union, declared yesterday. Mr. Hannah said that the building industry would be completely tied up by the end of this month, unless conditions improve, and that thousands of workers of employment.

About 2,500 carpenters and cement workers have been laid off within the last five days, Mr. Hannah said, and about 15,000 more have been warned that if the congestion does not improve they cannot expect employment beyond June 1.

"Stop orders have been placed on building contracts involving hundreds of thousands of dollars," he said. "This is shown by reports filed with the federation. Matters have reached the point where it is almost impossible to get cement, and virtually all of the cement now coming in is being brought by speculators by barges from points on the Hudson River. The bargeloads are auctioned off by the speculators in this city."

Samuel Donnelly of the Building Trades Employers' Association said that building operations were about 25 per cent. normal. He said that they had been practically at a standstill several days ago, but that conditions had improved. He estimated that the supply of cement was about 25 per cent. normal. Mr. Donnelly confirmed reports that many cement workers and bricklayers had been laid off.

The meeting called by Julius H. Barnes, Director of the United States Grain Corporation, to be held in Washington on May 19 for a discussion of the transportation breakdown and other conditions affecting the wheat market was decided upon as the result of first-hand information of economic conditions in the Middle West, it was said yesterday at Mr. Barnes's office in this city. Mr. Barnes is now in Chicago, and it was said at his headquarters here that no details regarding the conditions which resulted in the calling of the conference had been received here.

SOCIALISTS AGREE TO JOIN WITH LENIN

FAVOR WORLD AFFILIATION

National Convention Votes Down Berger Motion to Cut Loose from Russian Communists.

The Socialist National Convention yesterday adopted the majority report of its Committee on Foreign Relations, presented by Morris Hillquit, declaring the adherence of the Socialist Party of America to the Third International, organized and dominated by Lenin, Trotzky and the Communist Party of Russia, with instructions to its international delegates to insist that no special method for the attainment of the Socialist Commonwealth, such as the "dictatorship of the proletariat," be imposed as a condition of affiliation. The delegates were also instructed to participate in movements looking to the union of all Socialist organizations in the world into one international. The Socialists of France, Great Britain and Germany have refused to affiliate with the Third International.

Upon the plea of Mr. Hillquit that its adoption would necessitate a change in the method of the Socialist Party of America from one of political action to a program of violence and a recurrence of the street fighting and barricades of the Paris Commune, the convention voted down the ultra-radical substitute offered by J. Louis Engdahl of Illinois and William F. Quick of Wisconsin, as a minority of the committee, merely reaffirming the adherence of the party to the Third International without any qualification. This substitute was defeated by a vote of 90 to 40, constituting a clear-cut division between the conservatives and the ultra-radicals. Under the party rules the minority report will be submitted to a referendum of members.

Berger Attacks International.

Victor L. Berger of Wisconsin, who was expelled from Congress, offered a second minority report, which provided for withdrawal from the Third International. Mr. Berger declared that the Third International was not socialistic but communistic and controlled by those who had sought to disrupt the Socialist Party in the United States and had succeeded in cutting its membership from 118,000 to 20,000. Mr. Berger also charged the Third International with seeking to disrupt the Socialist organizations in other countries.

The convention voted down a proposal to receive back into the party members who had left it to join the Communist movement. It was decided to invite co-operation from members of other radical organizations in support of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist nominee for President, but if Communists return to the Socialist Party they must come in as new members and without the restoration of any seniority rights they may have held.

An amendment to the party constitution, adopted at the night session without opposition, provides that all delegates to international, national and other conventions and all executive officers must be citizens of the United States. The qualifications for membership, to which all residents of the United States of 21 years or more are eligible, were not changed.

Propaganda Among Negroes.

Special efforts for spreading Socialist propaganda among negroes were called for by the report of the Committee on Organization and Propaganda, which was unanimously adopted. The National Executive Committee was requested to put into immediate effect a resolution calling for the employment of two negro organizers and one negro woman to work among negro women.

The National Executive Committee was directed to appoint a committee to investigate the possibilities of motion pictures for use in Socialist propaganda, and arrangements were made for the formation of a Socialist publishing society and the preparation of a special series of pamphlets for use among women of all classes.

The convention reiterated its belief in the organization of workers along industrial lines or into "One Big Union" for each industry, but disclaimed intention of interference in the internal affairs of labor unions. The constitution was amended to make the Young People's Socialist League again an integral part of the Socialist Party organization.

For Co-operative Associations.

Other resolutions alopted urged upon workers the importance of the formation of co-operative associations, not for the purpose of reducing the cost of living but as a means whereby workers may control the distribution of the necessities of life, declared for the independence of India, urged support of the Socialist press and urged legislation for the registration of the votes of migratory workers.

The convention adjourned, to meet in Washington today to hear the report of the special committee appointed to see Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer and Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President, in regard to the request for the release of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist nominee for President, and other political prisoners. The delegates, and others who may accompany them, will leave the Pennsylvania Station this morning at 8 o'clock.

In moving the adoption of the majority report of the committee Mr. Hillquit sketched the history of the various Internationals and declared that the Third International, of which the principal member is Soviet Russia, should not be accepted blindly and that everything that comes out of Russia should not be adopted dogmatically. Mr. Hillquit read the manifesto of September, 1919, which states that with the coming of the world revolution soviets will be organized everywhere and the dictatorship of the proletariat be enforced.

Opposes Dictatorship.

"If this statement is authoritative," Mr. Hillquit continued, "I will not attach myself to it and we cannot subscribe to it. The term 'dictatorship of the proletariat,' is a misstatement and misleading, so far as we are concerned. It would be anti-revolutionary.

"I say in all kindness to my friends in Russia that the Russian Soviet Government is not a dictatorship and not a government of the proletariat. To speak of distatorship means an irresponsible government, and Russia has a responsible Government.

"Lenin is not a dictator. Trotzky is not a dictator. They have not proclaimed themselves such and can be recalled by the soviets or by the people at any time. They and the other officials of the Soviet Government were all elected.

"Russia is not a Government of the proletariat. It is a somewhat limited democracy, which excludes the nonproducing classes, just as the democracy in the United States excluded the nonproperty owning classes at one time. The rule in Russia is a rule of workers and peasants, with the peasants, who own land and tools, in an overwhelming majority. But even if there were a 'dictatorship of the proletariat' in Russia, that is no reason why we should adopt it in the United States.

Violence or Politics.

"If we adopt this theory and say to the Democrats and Republicans that we want to take advantage of the ballot box, but that, when we get power, we intend to disarm, outlaw and disfranchise the bourgeoisie, why don't they reply, 'We will disarm, outlaw and disfranchise you today'?

"It must either be a fight in the streets, behind barricades, by the old methods, or a political fight. It must be one or the other. We can't do both. If we want to fight in the streets there is no need for going into politics. We must arm for the revolution."

Mr. Hillquit said he favored affiliation with the Moscow or Third International because he believed it offered the best field for an international alliance, provided it did not attempt to impose Eastern or Asiatic socialism on other countries and provided it left to the Socialist organization of each country the right of self-determination in matters of policy, so long as no principle of Socialist philosophy was involved.

Mr. Hillquit said he favored a movement to bring the Socialists of other countries, now outside, into the international organization. "It is just as impossible to create a real International without Russia," he said, "as it is without England, Germany and France."

Appeal from French Left Wing.

Mr. Engdahl said the Socialist Party of America already was affiliated with the Third International through a referendum vote of its members after the national convention held in Chicago last September. He denied that acceptance of the principle of the "dictatorship of the proletariat" was a necessary condition, and read an appeal from the Left Wing of the Socialists of France to the convention to continue its affiliation.

Mr. Berger said there was nothing new in the attempt of the ultra-radicals to split the Socialist Party. Both the I. W. W. and the Communists had tried to and failed, he said, and this was merely another attempt. Hisses and boos from the communistic element in the galleries greeted these remarks of Mr. Berger, who said:

"I have faced patriotic mobs and I am not afraid of any communistic mobs."

Mr. Berger said the dictatorship of Lenin in Russia reminded him of that of Woodrow Wilson in the United States.

Cameron H. King of California supported Mr. Berger's position. Mr. King said the Third International, which he characterized as a communistic organization, had disrupted socialism the world over, and asserted that only those could affiliate with it who favored revolution by violence. "I am opposed to the majority report," he said, "because it makes us go hat in hand to those who would destroy our party in the United States in the hope that some time by 'boring from within' the communistic International we may make it socialistic."

Mr. Berger's motion to withdraw from the Third International was lost by a viva voce vote. The affirmation of affiliation, offered by Mr. Engdahl and favored by the ultra radicals, was lost by a vote of 90 to 40.

How Delegates Voted.

| State. | Yes. | No. |
| Arkansas | .. | 1 |
| California | 1 | 4 |
| Connecticut | 0 | 4 |
| District of Columbia | .. | 1 |
| Georgia | .. | 1 |
| Illinois | 16 | 2 |
| Indiana | 2 | 3 |
| Iowa | .. | 1 |
| Kansas | .. | 1 |
| Kentucky | .. | 1 |
| Maryland | 2 | 1 |
| Massachusetts | 2 | 5 |
| Michigan | .. | 5 |
| Minnesota | 1 | 5 |
| Missouri | .. | 4 |
| New Hampshire | 1 | 1 |
| New Jersey | 3 | 4 |
| New York | 4 | 21 |
| Oklahoma | .. | 4 |
| Pennsylvania | 3 | 8 |
| Rhode Island | .. | 1 |
| Texas | .. | 1 |
| West Virginia | 1 | .. |
| Wisconsin | 4 | 11 |
| Total | 40 | 90 |

The Hillquit or majority report was then adopted by a viva voce vote without a division being called for. It follows:

"The international organization of Socialism has been disrupted as a result of the world war.

"The old or Second International is represented principally by the majority party of Germany, the Socialist parties of the countries carved out from the former Austro-Hungarian empire and of most of the countries of Europe that remained neutral during the war.

"The parties affiliated with this organization have largely abandoned the revolutionary character and the militant methods of working class Socialism. As a rule they co-operate with the middle class reform parties of their countries.

Organized by Communists.

"The Third or Moscow International was organized by the Communist Party of Russia, with the co-operation of several other communist organizations recruited in the main from the countries split off from the former Russian empire and some Scandinavian and Balkan countries. The Third International also includes the Labor Party of Norway and the Communist Labor Party of Poland. Of the other important countries the Socialist Parties of Switzerland, Italy and the United States, and the British Socialist Party have expressed their intention to affiliate with it.

"The Moscow organization is virile and aggressive, inspired as it is by the militant idealism of the Russian revolution. It is, however, at this time only a nucleus of a Socialist International, and its progress is largely impeded by the attitude of its present governing committee, which seems inclined to impose upon all affiliated bodies the formula of the Russian revolution, 'The dictatorship of the proletariat in the form of soviet power.'

"The Independent Socialist Party of Germany, the Socialist Party of France and the Independent Labor Party of Great Britain are unaffiliated. They have initiated a movement to unite all truly Socialist parties of the world, including those represented in the Moscow organization, into one International.

Effective Organization Needed.

"At no time was an active and effective organization of a Socialist International more vitally necessary for the success of Socialism than at this crucial period of the world's history. Socialism is in complete control in the great country of Russia. It is represented in the bourgeois governments of several important countries of Europe. The Socialists constitute the leading opposition parties in most of the remaining modern countries. It should be the task of the Socialist International to aid our comrades in Russia to maintain and fortify their political control and to improve and stabilize the economic and social conditions of their country by forcing the great powers of Europe and America to abandon the dastardly policy of intrigue, war and starvation blockade against Soviet Russia. It should be its task to help the Socialists in countries of divided political control to institute full and true Socialist governments, and to support the struggles of the Socialists in the capitalist-controlled countries, so that they may more speedily secure victory for the workers in their countries.

"But above all a true Socialist International would at this time fulfill the all-important function of serving as the framework of the coming world parliament.

"To accomplish these great tasks the International of Socialism must be truly Socialist and truly International.

Wants Industries Socialized.

"It cannot be truly socialist if it is not based upon the program of complete socialization of the industries and upon the principles of class struggle and uncompromising working-class struggle and uncompromising working-class politics. It cannot be truly international unless it accords to its affiliated bodies full freedom in matters of policy and forms of struggle on the basis of such program and principles, so that the Socialists of each country may work out their problems in the light of their own peculiar economic, political and social conditions as well as the historic traditions.

"In view of the above considerations, the Socialist Party of the United States, while retaining its adherence to the Third International, instructs its Executive Committee, its International Secretary and international delegates to be elected:

"(a) To insist that no formula such as 'the dictatorship of the proletariat in the form of soviets' or any other special formula for the attainment of the Socialist Commonwealth be imposed or exacted as condition of affiliation with the Third International.

"(b) To participate in movements looking to the union of all true Socialist forces in the world into one international, and to initiate and further such movements whenever the opportunity is presented."

Hillquit Elected Secretary.

The conservatives then won another victory by electing Mr. Hillquit International Secretary and Algernon Lee and James Oneal of New York and Joseph E. Cohen of Pennsylvania international delegates.

Samuel Holland of Illinois offered a resolution condemning the method of defense at the trial of the five Socialist Assemblymen at Albany, which was aimed at Mr. Hillquit, their counsel. Mr. Hillquit, who was supported by the sympathy of nearly all the delegates, explained that the statement which Mr. Holland criticised was made in answer to a hypothetical question put by one of the committee, and that he had stated that the hypothesis was impossible before answering.

Meyer London, former Representative in Congress, declared the resolution unfair, and on his motion it was laid on the table. "The whole world is crazy, and the Socialist Party is affected," Mr. London said. "The Socialist Party, like everything else, needs a lunatic asylum. We have our left wing."

The convention adopted a resolution denouncing the refusal of the State Department to permit Jean Longuet, the French Socialist leader, to enter the United States, and declaring that it was part of the program to prevent the people of this country from learning of conditions in Europe and in line with the refusal of the British and other foreign Governments in refusing to let Americans bring the truth of American conditions to Europe.

Panken Charges Conspiracy.

Municipal Court Justice Jacob Panken of New York declared that an applicant for a passport to visit France was told to apply to the British Consul, who refused him permission, and declared that this showed a conspiracy on the part of the European capitalistic Governments to prevent the free intercourse of workers of different countries.

A referendum condemning Federal prohibition and calling for a referendum was tabled after considerable discussion. The resolution came from the Wisconsin delegation and had the support of Victor L. Berger, who admitted that he liked a glass of beer or wine once in a while.

DEBS EXPECTS BOLTS IN BOTH OLD PARTIES

Still Radical, Says Socialist Candidate in Federal Prison, and Still Against War.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14.—Given permission by the Department of Justice, Eugene V. Debs, who is Convict 2,253 in the Atlanta Federal Prison, where he is serving a sentence of ten years for violation of the espionage law, made a statement this afternoon in regard to his nomination for the Presidency by the Socialist Party.

"The Socialist Party," said Mr. Debs, "will appeal this year to men who think. Economic circumstances surrounding the average man will lead him into the Socialist fold through sheer distrust of both the older political parties. Out of all our divisions and internal squabbles has come good, for we, the Socialists, are unified and our principles are the precepts which the everyday man can understand and digest. I hardly think the people would be interested in a statement from me. Their primary interest is in finding channels and mediums through which they can express their distrust and dissatisfaction with the Democratic and Republican Parties.

"I look for both the big political conventions to be very tempestuous and, in my opinion, both will be bolted. Hiram Johnson will prove a very unsatisfactory bed fellow to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and vice versa. On the Democratic side there are great forces working against reaction and the situation in Georgia indicates the people are seeking to make themselves heard.

"I do not think Hoover's name will be mentioned at either convention and Mr. Palmer has no strength. The alarmist reports and Red raids of Mr. Palmer and his failure to appeal the decision of the lower courts which granted 180,000 acres of oil lands, valued at $600,000,000, to the Southern Pacific Railroad has killed off whatever chances he might have had for the nomination. His settlement of the packers' case has also placed him in bad odor with the people.

"Both of the old parties are disintegrating. There is no fundamental difference between the Republicans or the Democrats. Both are wings of the same bird of prey. The Republican Party was once Red. Lincoln was a revolutionist; now he is deified. But Lincoln would not belong to the Republican Party of today any more than Thomas Jefferson would consent to become a member of the Democratic Party now in the saddle.

"Personally I am a radical. I have always been one. My only fear has always been that I might not be radical enough. In my own party I always led the minority, but I hope to lead a united Socialist Party to the polls this Fall. They are fighting within my own party today. It is a good healthy sign. The radicals keep the conservatives from giving away too much to popularize the movement. That is what killed the Populist Party. The leaders sought to popularize its political propaganda by pandering to more conservative elements. They lost the radical support of their party, which became the Socialist Party, and naturally the conservatives had no further use for them. To begin to placate your enemies is to invite decay."

When Mr. Debs was asked how he would conduct his campaign he laughed and said: "I will be a candidate at home in seclusion. It will be much less tiresome and my managers and opponents can always locate me.

"I am a traitor, no doubt, in the eyes of Attorney General Palmer and the Department of Justice, and perhaps some of the American people, but the words 'Thou shalt not kill' mean to me just what they say. I would not kill in defense of my own life, and certainly would not for hire to some one else. Seventy per cent. of the drafted men applied for exemption. They were forced to fight—forced to go out and kill—and why? As for the German Socialists, I condemn them just as strongly as I do capitalists when they surrendered their principles and joined the movement to crush the world. Principles mean something to me. I am against war, and I would go to the gallows without the slightest qualm of fear, preaching my opposition to war."

NATIONAL STEEL STRIKE SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST

Organizers Reported at Work in Mills Preparing for Another Struggle.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, May 14.—Another nation-wide steel strike is scheduled for August, the exact date to be determined later, according to information obtained here today while six organizers, sentenced to jail for thirty days Monday by Mayor Crawford of Duquesne, were fighting in the County Court for their liberty on the ground that their constitutional rights had been violated. They were freed pending a decision on their appeal from the sentence of the Mayor.

Their attempt to hold a meeting last Sunday without a permit is said to have been a preliminary step toward organizing the steel workers solidly for the August strike. It developed that representatives of the National Committee for Iron and Steel workers of the American Federation of Labor have been working in steel plants throughout the country since the last strike, getting the men ready for another struggle.

William Z. Foster will not be actively associated with the next strike although he has been addressing meetings.

WANT SPROUL IMPEACHED.

Pennsylvania Labor Federation Assails His Stand in Steel Strike.

ALTOONA, Pa., May 14.—The State Federation of Labor convention today adopted a resoltion demanding the impeachment of Governor Sproul "for his gross failure to consider and relieve the many complaints of abuse of power on the part of the State constabulary during the steel strike."

Another resolution urged President Wilson to recognize the Republic of Ireland and the refusal of further loans to Great Britain.

SOCIALISTS REQUEST FREEDOM FOR DEBS

Ask the Attorney General to Release from Prison Their Nominee for President.

GO TO WHITE HOUSE TODAY

Petition Calls the Detention of Political War Offenders in Peace Time "Vindictive Persecution."

WASHINGTON, May 14.— Release of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist Party's nominee for President, and all other political prisoners was asked in a petition presented to Attorney General Palmer today by a committee appointed at the Socialist Party Convention in New York, with Seymour Stedman, the party's Vice Presidential nominee, as Chairman.

The committee will see Secretary Tumulty at the White House tomorrow to present a similar petition to President Wilson, and on Monday another committee named at the New York convention will call on Secretary Baker. A joint resolution on the three petitions is expected.

Mr. Stedman said the delegation did not believe that Mr. Palmer had been favorably impressed by the appeal for general amnesty. He added that the Attorney General had told them he would take under advisement the matter of releasing Debs, who is serving a ten years' sentence in the Atlanta Penitentiary for violation of the war time espionage act.

Mr. Stedman told Mr. Palmer he believed Debs had paid sufficient penalty for his alleged wrong doing and that nothing further was to be gained by his further imprisonment.

The memorial presented to the Attorney General said that the "practice of prosecuting citizens for holding and expressing political views opposed to those of the administration in power, or for participating in working class movements and struggles not favored by it, is deeply repugnant to the genius of Democracy."

"When it is resorted to in time of war," continued the memorial, "it is invariably done upon the justification that the critical emergencies of wartime conditions necessitate extraordinary measures. Hence it has been the invariable custom of all enlightened nations to grant amnesty to war opponents immediately upon the cessation of hostilities."

The memorial said that all powers participating in the war, with the exception of the United States, had granted amnesty to their political prisoners, and continued:

To say that the United States is still at war is to reply to a demand for justice by an unworthy quibble and technicality. The United States is not waging war at this time, and has not been engaged in warfare for eighteen months. Further detention of so-called political war offenders cannot be seriously justified on the theory of wartime necessity, but assumes the character of a vindictive persecution of political opponents."

FRAZIER NOMINATED AGAIN.

Non-Partisan Leaguers Name Ladd to Succeed Senator Gronna.

FARGO, N. D., May 14.—An entire State ticket, headed by Governor Lynn J. Frazier, for the primary to be held June 30, was endorsed by the State Convention of the National Non-Partisan League here today. Governor Frazier has been North Dakota's Chief Executive ever since the league became a power in the State.

Dr. E. F. Ladd, President of the North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo, was named as the candidate for United States Senator. He received forty-four votes and United States Senator A. J. Gronna nine. The vote followed an address by A. C. Townley, President of the league, after Senator Gronna's name had been presented for nomination. Townley asserted that Gronna was not in favor of the organization.

The ticket included the following candidates for Congress: First District, Congressman John M. Baer; Second, State Senator Thomas Pendray; Third, James H. Sinclair.

TO OPPOSE ANTI-LABOR MEN.

State Federation Will Organize Drive Against "Hostile" Legislators.

ALBANY, May 14.—A concerted drive against members of the 1920 Legislature "hostile to organized labor" who seek re-election next Fall will be recommended to the labor organizations of the State by the Executive Council of the State Federation of Labor, it was announced today.

The council, meeting here, decided to send to all labor organizations the voting records of members of the Legislature on a majority of the bills acted upon by both houses during the last session.

"These records," said John M. O'Hanlon, Acting Chairman of the legislative committee, "speak for themselves and will allow the labor organizations of the State to pick their own tickets next Fall."

The records include the roll calls on the Lowman Eight-hour Day bill and the Simpson minimum wage measure, which passed the Senate but were killed in the Assembly.

The council also voted to send letters of thanks to Governor Smith and Senator Frederick M. Davenport "for their efforts in behalf of organized labor."

ASSERTS SHOES SELL AT DOUBLE THE COST

Labor Spokesman Says $3.50 Footwear Is Advanced to $8.50 to Consumer.

Packers, Tanners, Manufacturers, Wholesalers and Retailers Accused by Lauck.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Shoes cost the manufacturer less than one-half the price paid by the consumer, the rest of the cost to the buyer being taken up in profits, W. J. Lauck, former Secretary of the War Labor Board and now economist for the railway workers, stated in a report made public today.

The entire cost of making shoes for which the consumer paid $8.50 in 1917 was $3.46, he stated, adding that of a representative $3.50 increase in prices during the war on a pair of shoes, labor received only 15 cents, or less than one-twentieth of the advance.

He placed the blame for profiteering in shoes jointly on the packer, tanner, manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer, with the chief responsibility on the leather producers.

"The retailers' margin of profit," he asserted, "is by far the largest, absorbing over one-third the price, but it does not show so large an increase as the packers and tanners' profits. As the largest tanneries are indirectly a part of the big packers' varied interests, it can be said without danger of contradiction that their profiteering is very largely responsible for the high price of shoes."

"The retailer has increased his margin 102 per cent. or $1.82 a pair on the basis of shoes selling for $8.50. The manufacturer appears to have increased his profit less than the others, although it should be mentioned that he took his highest profits in 1916, during which year they amounted to twice the amount he took in 1914."

In 1914, Mr. Lauck contended, all the labor costs, from hide to finished shoe, absorbed less than one-sixth of the price paid by the consumer, while in 1917 this share of labor had decreased to one-ninth of the price. A wage increase of 35 per cent. after 1914, he asserted, was responsible for a direct increase of merely 15 cents in a pair of shoes.

Mr. Lauck maintained that the retail margin had advanced from 35 to 42 per cent. in 1917 and was still soaring. "The shoe industry," he said, "is no exception to the general rule that the war made possible higher margins all along the line—that these profits have been absorbing a much larger proportion of the consumers' money than prior to the war and that this fact has resulted in enormous corporation profits and in exhorbitant prices."

The report cited the rates on earnings on investments of 237 shoe manufacturers for the years 1914-17, showing that the general level of profits in this industry advanced from approximately 15 to 25 per cent. during the war year. Four of the largest shoe concerns had average annual earnings of $4,800,000 for the 1912-14 period; but for the years 1916-17 they had increased to more than $10,000,000.

Leather men here seem plainly worried over the existing conditions. It now appears that immense stocks of leather are held in storage, despite the fact that only a short time ago the tanning interests and the shoe manufacturers were asserting that there was a scarcity of both hides and leather. No one knows how much leather is stored up except the tanners, and they are keeping the facts a secret.

The drop in exports of leather and the refusal of the public to pay exorbitant prices for shoes have put a stop to the efforts to hoist the prices of leather and footwear.

MISS NIGHTINGALE HONORED

The Rev. George Jones of Cameron Terrace, L. I., one of five men still living who took part in the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava in the Crimean war, told his recollections of Florence Nightingale in a talk last night at an observance of the centenary of Florence Nightingale at the Metropolitan Tabernacle.

The Rev. Mr. Jones, who is 83 years old, said that he was ill in a hospital near Balaclava when he first met the famous nurse. She took care of him, prayed for him and converted him to Christianity. It was under her influence, he said, that after the war he became a preacher.

"She went from cot to cot with a word of cheer for each soldier," he said. "She wrote letters home for us. She prayed with us. We often wondered when she got any sleep. She was worshipped. The men would kiss her shadow on the wall. I have her picture on my desk and I often take it down to gaze on it. I shall never forget her."

BESIEGE AND KILL YOUNG TRAIN BANDIT

The police knocked at the door while a detachment was sent to the rear to cut off possible escape

"What do you want?" came the reply, accompanied by oaths.

"We're policemen—we want to get at you."

"To h— with you. The Government will handle me."

Refuses to Surrender.

This was accompanied by a shot which grazed Patrolman Ferriter's hip. The police returned the fire, riddling the door. At the same time the detachment in the rear opened fire on the kitchenette windows. Walton, crouching in a short corridor between the two rooms, maintained a steady fire in both directions, using two automatic pistols.

"Are any policemen killed?"

Some one replied that Roberts was dying. Walton renewed his fire. Chief Mooney, creeping along the wall of the corridor, attained a position near the door, where he was out of range of the robber's pistol. He called on Walton to surrender.

"Will you fight fair if I do?" asked the bandit.

"Yes," promised the Chief. There was a pause. Then Walton fired again. Chief Mooney emptied his automatic pistol through the panel of the door. There was no reply.

The police rushed the door but were driven back by a fusillade from the forces in the rear, who continued to fire through the windows. Walton lay in a heap on the floor, amid a pile of cartridge shells. One pistol was still clutched in his hand; the other lay on the floor. Seven bullet wounds were found in his body. A bullet from Chief Mooney's pistol had lodged in his heart.

A bag containing a kit of burglar tools, including a jimmy, several screw drivers and a lock picking device, was found in the room.

$35,000 Still Missing.

Search of the valise carried by Walton when the police intercepted him, showed a shortage of $35,000 and it is believed some one robbed it as it lay on the pavement.

Post Office Inspector J. E. Stuart announced that there was $60,980 in the satchel when it was received from the police. He refused to state how much the Decatur post office authorities said the mail bag contained but it is said there is a discrepancy between the amount indicated by the Decatur Post Office receipts and that found in the satchel. Investigation showed that the mail pouch robbed by Walton contained a large amount of currency shipped by the Citizens' Bank of Decatur to a Chicago bank and amounting, it is said, to $105,000.

Among Walton's effects were found several railway time tables. Some of the mail trains had been marked, evidently for future operations. Occupants of the building believe Walton was the head of a gang operating on a large scale. They say a girl about 18 and a dark slender man made many night visits to his apartment.

Walton entered the mail service a year ago and is said to have made a notable record as a substitute clerk. A month ago he quit after a quarrel with the Railway Mail Superintendent, bought an expensive car and indulged in other luxuries. He said he had cleaned up $10,000 on the Omaha Grain Exchange. The police do not credit this story, but believe he may have been connected with the robbery of a train near Lexington, Mo., about a month ago.

Police Officer Roberts was married and had five children, the oldest 6 years and the youngest 5 months old. He had been on the force four years and had a record for aggressiveness.

Is Old Man Friction At Work on Your Car?

He's a destructive old cuss, is Friction. Once he gets in his work you're up against excessive wear, noise and trouble. Not to mention growing costs!

That's why it's so important that you use Dixon's Lubricant.

Ask for Dixon's 677. Also, the famous Dixon's Cup Grease and Other Dixon Lubricants. They all come in snappy red cans.

DIXON'S Gear LUBRICANT

Friction hasn't a chance with Dixon's on the job. In fact, the heavier the pressure the more firmly Dixon's works into the minute irregularities you'll always find on gear and bearing surfaces. It can't "squeeze out." So you get a permanent, smooth, slippery film that sweetens up the action of your car, lengthens its life and cuts down noise and expense.

And here's another important advantage. Dixon's is not affected by heat or cold like plain grease or oil.

Your dealer will tell you why Dixon's Lubricant is best for your car. Ask him.

DECLARES ENGLAND IS ALMOST NORMAL

WELCOME AWAITS VISITORS

Tells Correspondents That Food Is Cheaper and More Plentiful in Britain Than Here.

Major Evelyn Wrench, British head of the Overseas Club, speaking last night at the dinner of the Association of Foreign Press Correspondents in the Vanderbilt Hotel, at which he was the guest of honor, said that he was surprised to find existing here an erroneous impression about present conditions in England. People in the United States had the idea that England was short of food, that strikes were general, and that the ranks of labor were more or less revolutionary, he said.

"The facts are that normal conditions have been very largely restored in England, that food is plentiful and even cheaper than in this country, while labor is fully occupied at wages far in advance of the pre-war scale," he declared. "While the London hotels are unusually crowded at the present time, we are expecting to welcome a multitude of American visitors this season, and they can be assured that every effort will be made to take care of them.

"By means of the recently established Overseas Visitors' Bureau and other associations plans have been made to provide accommodations in private houses and elsewhere for all who are unable to find quarters at the big hotels. Never before has there been such a widespread desire in England to welcome visiting Americans. Tourists from this country who visit England this season will find that London has regained much of the life of pre-war times, and for those who are in search of recreation there will be abundant opportunities for social enjoyment."

Alluding to the League of Nations, Major Wrench declared that unless the rank and file of the people of the United States were for the League there was no need of leaving it on parchment. In regard to the Irish question he said in part:

"In England we are desperately anxious to solve the Irish question. The rank and file of all parties in England want to give any kind of self-government, provided she remains in the United Kingdom. The Home Rule bill now before Parliament, Iam sure, will pass.

"Ulster has accepted i tand that is a great step forward. In the British Empire we are drifting toward a modified form of civil war and all clear-minded Englishmen are trying to do all in their power to avert it. A great deal is talked about the Irish Republic. Ireland dominates the Atlantic seaboard of Scotland, England and Wales from a strategic standpoint, and the average electors in England think back to the Easter rebellion of 1916. I can feel for the elector, even though I am half Irish, when they think of this time in discussing the Irish question.

"There is a reign of terror in Ireland because the Sinn Feiners have the upper hand and the average fair Irishman is afraid to speak. The English Government does not want tanks, airplanes or soldiers in Ireland, but in face of the present crisis they are needed. Ulster represents very important business interests and these interests are not to be overlooked."

Maurice Cazanove, French High Commissioner, said that the views expressed by Major Wrench about the impressions prevailing here of conditions in England might apply equally as well to France. He said that while his country was suffering terribly from the war, it was returning to normal rapidly.

Underwood Has 10,300 Plurality.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 14.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood, the Democratic leader, was nominated to succeed himself in the Alabama State primary election last Tuesday. Complete official returns from the 67 counties today gave: Underwood, 66,870; Musgrove, 56,563, and Weakley, 3,640. In the race for the short-term Senatorship Representative Heflin was nominated by a majority of 11,865 over Captain Frank White.

CONVICTED IN BOND THEFT.

Receiver of Securities Found Guilty—Former Clerk Sentenced.

A jury before Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday returned a verdict of guilty against Michael Rost, 33 years old, of 229 East 103d Street, indicted for receiving securities stolen from DeCoppet & Doremus, brokers at 42 Broadway on March 3 last.

Donald C. Bergess, 32 years old, of 601 West 135th Street, formerly a clerk for Henry L. Doherty & Co., brokers at 60 Wall Street, pleaded guilty to the theft of $200,000 worth of securities and was sentenced to two years in Sing Sing.

Robert MacDonald, arrested early Thursday morning and held in $10,000 bail on a charge of being connected with the theft of $17,400 worth of securities a year and a half ago from Auchincloss, Joost and Patrick, brokers at 61 Broadway, was discharged at the request of Assistant District Attorney Dooling, who explained that William Lane, a messenger serving four years in Dannemora for the theft, had been brought to this city and declared MacDonald was not the man to whom he had given the securities.

SENTENCE HEATLEY KILLER.

Beckenbaugh Gets 30 Years, Including 10 for Shooting Mrs. Heatley.

George M. Beckenbaugh of Scranton, Penn., convicted of manslaughter for killing Thomas M. Heatley, was sentenced yesterday to thirty years in prison by Judge Nott in General Sessions. The court added ten years for first degree assault on Heatley's wife, Gertrude, who was shot twice after Beckenbaugh had killed her husband. Beckenbaugh had sought to induce Mrs. Heatley to leave her husband, and when she repulsed him, borrowed a revolver at Scranton, came here and watched their home in West Fifty-first Street. When they appeared on the street Beckenbaugh followed and fired without warning.

Judge Nott sent Richard Gallagher to prison for from twenty years to life for the murder of John T. Fitzgerald of 287 West 127th Street in a Harlem saloon on Feb. 1. Gallagher said he shot Fitzgerald in self-defense.

GILLETT PUTS STOP TO ATTACK ON PARTY

CHAMP CLARK INTERVENES

But Recognition Is Refused Him in Appealing for Extension of Time for Byrnes.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Speaker Gillett refused today to permit Representative Byrnes, Democrat, of South Carolina, to proceed with a speech criticising the House War Investigating Committee, after he had delivered a twenty-minute attack on the Republican Party. At the end of his allotted time Mr. Byrnes asked for five minutes more.

"The chair declines to recognize the gentleman," said the Speaker.

Former Speaker Clark asked that Mr. Byrnes by unanimous consent be given ten minutes, but the Speaker said he would not recognize him.

"It's a fine House," the former Speaker remarked.

Mr. Byrnes challenged the investigating committee to summon General Pershing and "learn from him that which you do not seem to know—that we won the war."

"You had a year in which to investigate," Mr. Byrnes declared. "You have discovered no fraud, and you owe it to the tax payers of America to put an end to your extravagant expenditures before you recess or adjourn. Put up or shut up."

Mr. Byrnes was speaking on his resolution, introduced today, proposing appointment of a committee to investigate expenditures of the House War Investigating Committee, of which Representative Graham, Republican, of Illinois, is Chairman.

Mr. Byrnes declared that more than fifty investigations had been authorized by the House, covering every activity of the Democratic Administration, and that there had been serious interference with every executive department of the Government. Throughout the whole series of inquiries he charged the Republicans with having concerted attempts to attack the President and said expenses had been piling up "world without end." He wanted an accounting as to amounts spent, declaring that "the true purpose of the Republicans was to endeavor to obtain material for the coming campaign."

"How you longed for a thief, without finding him," said he.

SAYS POLICE BEAT HIM TO FORCE CONFESSION

"You had better tell your brother officers in headquarters to leave this man alone," said Magistrate Short in the Gates Avenue Court in Brooklyn yesterday to Detective Dadis, of the Manhattan Headquarters, when Vito Grillo, 29 years old of 258 Melrose Street, Brooklyn, charged with a suspicion of homicide and having a dangerous weapon in his possession, was arraigned a second time. Grillo, when arraigned Wednesday, had one black eye. When he appeared in court yesterday he had two black eyes, little lumps on his head, and his face was badly swollen. He had been in jail all of the intervening time.

Frank X. McCaffrey called the Magistrate's attention to the man's condition and said his client complained of having been beaten by the police in their efforts to get him to confess.

According to the complaint, Grillo was seen leaving the premises at 69 Central Avenue, Brooklyn, at 2 A. M. last Tuesday. A few hours later the bodies of Joseph and Baptiste Vultaggio were found in the rear of the grocery at the Central Avenue address. Both had been shot and killed. At the request of Dadis the case was adjourned until next Tuesday.

"I know his condition now," said the Magistrate, "and if he is beaten between now and next Tuesday there will be trouble."

RAND BOOK ON LOVE ROUSES GOVERNOR

Calls Marshall's Arguments "Cheap."

Former Majority Leader Brown of the Senate attacked the constitutional arguments of Mr. Marshall as being "cheap constitutional law." Senator Brown's arguments were marked by frequent indulgence in exchange of personalities between himself and Mr. Marshall. He declared the Rand School convicted of purposing to "poison the well springs of patriotism."

"It seeks to destroy the Constitution and the laws of the State, and the only deterrent to a Socialist revolution is the fact that they recognize that they are not numerous enough to effect it," said Senator Brown.

Hisses and laughs interrupted the former Senate leader. "We don't expect to make these people decent," he cried in retaliation.

"We expect them to follow their false gods. They are most of them misled, and, Governor, I want to tell you, if the good people of this State understood this issue they would vote for it 6 to 2, if not 9 to 1.. The people do not want traitors. Neither do they want a disloyal party placed on the ticket for a State election."

The Lusk bill to license schools would kill or stultify all "the good work of the Young Women's Christian Association," Mrs. William H. Rockwell, representing the national board, told the Governor.

"These bills ought to be entitled acts to render impossible the orderly and lawful solution of social and economic problems and to incite the resort to secret organization and lawless violence," Algernon Lee, representing the State Socialist Party and the Rand School of Social Science, declared.

Conboy Defends the Measures.

"I fail to see how the measures can receive the hostility of any real American," Martin J. Conboy of New York City, associate counsel to the Assembly Judiciary Committee in its trial of the five Socialist Assemblymen, declared. "If the people of the State, as expressed in that vote on March 31, did not want the Socialists in the Assembly, why permit them to be on the ballot? Isn't it futile to have constitutional oaths and qualifications for public office and then place men on the ballot guilty of disloyalty and tyranny?"

Turning to the Governor, Mr. Conboy said:

"I know you would, if the opportunity were given, state that no disloyal or treasonable person or organization should participate in the administration of the Government or be allowed a place on the ballot."

Hissing, immediately stopped by Gov. Smith, filled the Executive Chamber upon the completion of the arraignment of the Socialist Party and its individual members by James P. Holland, President of the New York State Federation of Labor.

Although Mr. Holland, representing 650,000 organized workers of the State, opposed the Fearon measures as "hitting the laboring man worse than any other group," he made an attack on the Socialist Party and its expelled Assembly members, and said that "they ought to be sent back to the country they came from."

The Associated Teachers' Union of New York, who were among the opponents of the three Lusk measures, sent the Governor a written protest embodying ten reasons why the Governor, in the teachers' opinion, should veto the bills.

TAX HETTY GREEN'S $38,000,000 ESTATE

Court Reverses Surrogate Fowler's Decision Limiting Levy to $6,000,000 in Realty.

STATE WILL GET $1,500,000

Appellate Division Rules Entire Non-Resident Fortune Taxable Because It Was "In Business" Here.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, in a unanimous opinion handed down yesterday, decided that the estate of Mrs. Hetty H. R. Green, who was a resident of Vermont, must pay a tax on $38,144,234, which sum counsel for the State Controller contended was used as her capital in doing business in this State at the time of her death. The tax will be more than $1,500,000.

The importance of the decision upon the tax on the estates of non-residents was emphasized last night by Eugene M. Travis, the State Controller, in his comment on the case. It would have an important bearing, he said, in computing the inheritance tax on the estate of William Waldorf Astor.

"The principle involved in this decision has a great effect upon property owned by non-residents and employed in this State," he said. "Since the Hetty Green decision of four years ago approximately $40,000,000 in taxes has been lost to the State from the estates of Henry M. Flagler, L. V. Harkness, James J. Hill, Henry C. Frick and others who were non-residents at the time of death."

The decision, written by Justice Merrell, reversed a ruling by Surrogate Fowler that the evidence did not show that Mrs. Green was "doing business" in this State, either individually or through corporations formed by her. The higher court had reversed a previous decision by Surrogate Fowler that the State Controller could not conduct an inquiry to learn whether the fortune of Mrs. Green, the greater part of which was in this State, was used in "doing business."

Reverses Former Decision.

The estate had escaped with a tax on about $6,000,000 of property, which was conceded to be subject to a tax here. The higher courts had upheld the Surrogate's first decision that Mrs. Green was a non-resident of New York when she died. In the previous decision by the Appellate Division ordering the inquiry as to the use of Mrs. Green's money in this State the court had said:

"It is unnecessary to determine upon this appeal whether continuous investment and reinvestment, as one's sole occupation and for the purpose of making money, constitutes doing business, for it is quite evident, and it is not disputed, that engaging regularly and so frequently and habitually as to constitute a course of dealing in the practice of lending money would constitute doing business.

"The evidence taken by the appraiser is insufficient to determine whether Mrs. Green was merely making investments of surplus income from time to time and, if so, whether this was done in such a manner, in such volume and so regularly and frequently as to present the question whether the course of dealing constituted doing business, or, on the other hand, whether she was engaged in the business of money lending."

The opinion of Justice Merrell, pointing out why the court decided that Mrs. Green was doing business in this State, says that the evidence showed that during the last 730 days, or two years, of her life Mrs. Green lived in this city at least 644 days, and that her son, Colonel E. H. R. Green, the executor under her will, testified that she was here solely for the transaction of business and that she was "nothing but business, business, business." Counsel for Colonel Green had made this concession:

"It is conceded by counsel for the executor, for the purposes of this proceeding only, as follows: From the date of the death of the decedent's husband, in 1902 * * * to the time of her own death the City of New York was the centre of the decedent's business activities, and while staying at Hoboken she would ordinarily go to New York City in the daytime to prosecute her business.

"During most of this period she had one or more safe deposit boxes in New York City in which from time to time she placed important documents and securities owned by her. She constantly kept large deposits of cash in New York banks. The decedent's interrests were largely centred upon the conversion and enlargement of her finances, and practically her entire time and attention were given to business matters and to the investment and reinvestment of her principal and income."

Contrasts Two Contentions.

The court points out that this concession is in "violent contrast" to the present contention of Colonel Green that his mother was not engaged in business here at the time of her death, which contention, Justice Merrell says, was not made until "it became necessary to avoid paying taxes as a non-resident."

The evidence before the court on the present appeal showed for the first time that Mrs. Green had until her death $38,144,234 which, the Controller contends, was capital invested in her business in New York and on which no tax had been paid. This capital included $26,608,390 to her credit in the Westminster Company, formed by her in 1911 for the purpose of carrying on her individual business, with a capital of $125,000.

The Controller is willing to deduct capital represented by foreign stocks and mortgages, leaving $23,324,431 invested through the Westminster Company. The remainder of the capital, contended to be subject to tax, consists of bank deposits, bonds, certificates of deposit, securities and $682,520 to her credit in the Windham Company, organized by her for transacting her business, with $10,000 capital.

After deciding that the business of buying notes and securities through the Westmnster Company was taxable, the court took up the question as to whether the business of money lending engaged in by the Westminster Company was Mrs. Green's personal and private business. Short term investments of $7,185,000 were made in 1914 with money furnished by her and after Jan. 1, 1914, new loans aggregating $12,111,190 were made by the Westminster Company. The company on July 3, 1916, held $5,812,000, representing sixty-three New York mortgages.

Referring to the decision of Surrogate Fowler that Mrs. Green was not doing business in this State, the Appellate Division says:

"The use of the term 'doing business in this State' is criticised by the learned Surrogate as uncertain and practically meaningless. It is, however, the same term used in the above statute and, until the present case, the courts have never seemed to be troubled about the use of the term, and taxes have been constantly levied upon such capital and property as was found within this State invested in any enterprise of a non-resident. In many cases the courts have referred to such capital as being invested in 'business interests.'

"The testimony clearly shows that Mrs. Green, as an individual, negotiated her loans, complained about rates of interest offered on mortgages, kept a large amount of her funds invested in liquid securities, thus enabling her to take advantage of fluctuations in the money market, especially in respect to call money, and was otherwise engaged in this State as a money lender.

"The President of the Title Guaranty and Trust Company testified that decedent was a very frequent visitor at his office, purchased mortgages in large numbers, and that her son, the Colonel, was simply a messenger. This fact the latter seems to admit in his testimony, as he says he consulted his mother about all of her investments. The learned Surrogate, in considering the question as to what is meant by the term 'business,' seems to rely largely on similar situations which he says might have arisen in ancient Rome.

"The Surrogate bases his decision that the decedent was not engaged in business in this State upon the fact that she did not have a public place of business into which she invited the public for the purpose of permitting the public to transact in such place their own business.

"Capitalists of the present day who make a business of loaning money would hardly think of opening a public resort for the transaction of such business. It would seem that the gigantic and numerous loans made by the decedent from her liquid estate were operations which, in our American way of thinking, classes the decedent as one engaged in business.

"It is hardly consistent with our American ideas to say that the only capitalists who are engaged in business are those who follow the vocation of money lending in a place open to the public for such purpose. It is true that decedent had no office open to the public, and placed no money lender's sign or device above her door. Nevertheless her whereabouts was well known and she was frequently and constantly sought by those who would borrow her money, and she herself went about loaning it.

Sought Extensive Business.

"In fact the evidence is replete with facts showing decedent's constant and persistent endeavor to obtain for herself larger loans and good securities at high rates of interest. Moreover, she did not conduct her affairs at the place of her domicile, but voluntarily came to this city to market her money, and here she made it her constant business to loan her money to the best possible advantage. Had her transactions been conducted in her individual name in a public place or office she would undoubtedly have been a money lender and, therefore, a business woman within the rule laid down by the learned Surrogate.

BRITON'S INTRIGUE WON DARDANELLES

GUEST OF FIRST DIVISION

Says He Will Be First Volunteer in American Army in Event of Another War.

How he, a prisoner of war in Constantinople, was able to open the Dardanelles, which the Allies had failed to take after tremendous losses in 1915, was told by General Sir Charles E. Townsend at the dinner of the 1st Division, A. E. F., at the Commodore last night.

"The Turks, long before the overthrow of the Young Turk party," said Sir Charles, "saw that they had put their money on the wrong horse. In October, 1918, I was taken in by a secret door to the chambers of the new Cabinet at Constantinople. They wanted my help. I told them that I must have two things: My freedom at once to go to England, and the opening of the Dardanelles.

"To make a long story short, in half an hour I walked away from the council chamber with the edict opening the Dardanelles in my pocket and a free man."

When he surrendered at Kut, Sir Charles said, the Turkish Minister of War offered him his freedom, which he refused, because he could get no terms for his men. Taken to Constantinople, he met a welcome as "if I had come to a review."

"I was given my choice of a place to live, motors, a yacht and the freedom of the city. I would not give my parole, and after trying to escape three times, decided that I might be able to accomplish something by intrigue."

Sir Charles told how he had made friends with Turkish officials and watched the growing hatred of the Germans, particularly the German naval officers stationed at the Turkish capital. Having gained the confidence of the elder statesmen, they sent for him when the Young Turks were overthrown. With the "Dardanelles in his pocket" he proceeded to Smyrna on a special train, escorted by high Turkish officials who showed considerable hesitation as how to explain his presence. Sir Charles said he told them to inform the curious that he was a Swiss Admiral, and this explanation was accepted in good faith.

"I was fairly nervous at this time," Sir Charles confessed, "because I knew that the Germans had 5,000 men at Constantinople and might recapture me at any time if they knew what was going on. But finally I was taken on a Turkish mine sweeper in the Gulf of Smyrna to the British fleet. Immediately I got in touch with London by wireless and the details of the armistice with Turkey were concluded.

"I, as a prisoner of war, had done what Napoleon and the Russians had failed to do, and had opened the Dardanelles to Christendom.

"I shall never forget the kindness of the Americans at the Embassy at Constantinople my two years of captivity. If America has another war I shall be the first to come, no matter how humble the position, as a volunteer in your army."

Lieut. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, Commander of the Eastern Department, who was one of the commanders of the 1st Division in France, impressed upon his hearers the spirit of the A. E. F., which was a union of the regular army, the National Guard and the National Army, and which should exist in the army of peace time.

CAN'T GIVE EXTRA TICKETS.

Republican National Convention Wants Delegations Kept Down.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Specific orders went out to Republican National Committeemen today directing them to trim down their State delegations to the size prescribed by the official call for the national convention. They were informed that under no circumstances will there be extra seats placed or extra tickets and badges allotted in excess of the number of delegates to which each State is entitled.

In at least seven States, so far as the records show, extra delegates have been elected with fractional votes assigned to them. The most notable instance is Illinois, where ten delegates at large have been chosen with eight votes between them, or four-fifths of a vote each.

"There will be but 984 seats in the sections for delegates," L. W. Hanley, Secretary of the Convention Arrangements Committee, said. "Not another seat will be placed or can be obtained, and National Committeemen today have been informed that the delegations involved must decide within their own ranks who will occupy the State's seats."

HUGE OIL PROJECT DROPPED

Sinclair Company Finds Materials Too High and Labor Too Restless.

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 14.—Due to unsettled labor conditions and high prices of building material, the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company announced today that the plan for the oil station at Tremley Point to cost approximately $10,000,000 had been temporarily abandoned.

Two oil tanks, each with a capacity of 65,000 barrels, now building, will be completed.

The oil station was to be one of three for the Sinclair Oil Company in the East, the others being at Boston and Buffalo.

Britain Must Provide Subsidy or Raise Price to 15 Pence.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 14.—The Select Committee on National Expenditure of the House of Commons, in a special report, forecasts a deficit of something like £20,000,000 on operations of the Sugar Commission this year.

If sugar is retailed to the public at present prices this means that there must be either a subsidy from the Exchequer or that the selling price must be raised to about fifteen pence a pound.

Get $9,000 in Express Office.

SPOKANE, Wash., May 14.—A single package of currency containing $9,000 was obtained just before midnight by two holdup men who beat the American Railway Express Company agent at the Great Northern Station here, H. A. Peterson, into insensibility, according to his story.

According to him the men were able to enter the money cage because of a defective lock on its door. Approximately $6,000 in sacked silver was left scattered about the floor of the room.

INSPECTION:

Goods are sold "F. O. B." at storage point. Samples of practically all articles are displayed at Zone Supply Offices and at the Surplus Property Division, Munitions Building, Washington, D. C.

NEGOTIATIONS:

No special form is required for the submission of a bid. Bids may be made by letter or telegram.

All bids must be submitted by 3:00 P. M. (Eastern Time), June 12th, 1920. They should be addressed to the Zone Supply Officer at the nearest address:

Bids must be for goods at point of storage, as set forth in the specifications of materials advertised.

Bids should include the lot number or numbers on which the bid is made. In bidding stipulate price bid per article instead of for total quantity desired. No bid stipulating "all or none" of any lot will be considered unless that bid is the highest.

NOTIFICATION:

Successful bidders will be promptly notified by mail and advised of the quantity awarded to each. A deposit of 10 per cent. of the amount due under each award must be made immediately upon receipt of notification.

DELIVERY:

The articles offered are for spot delivery. Purchasers will be permitted to leave stocks which they may acquire in Government storage for a period of thirty days after receipt of notification. Goods, so held, will be held subject to purchaser's risk.

IMPORTANT:

The War Department reserves the right to reject any part or all of any bid or bids. Inquiries relative to sales conditions or stocks offered should be addressed to the nearest Zone Supply Office.

BOND PLOT HUNT BLOCKED IN OHIO

INSISTED THAT SWANN ACT

Demanded New York Detectives Be Made Complainants—Arnstein Fails to Surrender.

Failure on the part of certain Cleveland, Ohio, officials to co-operate in the quest for evidence in that city in connection with the murder last August of Benjamin M. Binkowitz, Wall Street messenger, at Milford, Conn., and the search for stolen securities believed to have been received by Cleveland gamblers and politicians from Nicky Arnstein and Nick Cohen, fugitives from justice, has delayed the work of the New York authorities, according to admissions yesterday by John T. Dooling, Assistant District Attorney.

Mr. Dooling admitted he had suggested to the County Prosecutor of Cleveland that the latter arrest Cheeks Ginsberg, whose name frequently has been mentioned in the Arnstein-Sullivan & Co. bankruptcy proceeding, on a charge of receiving $50,000 worth of Liberty bonds, part of the $178,000 worth of securities stolen from Richard C. Whitney & Co. last Summer by Binkowitz, but the Cleveland authorities declined to act unless New York detectives were sent to Cleveland to act as complainants. District Attorney Swann contends Cleveland officials should assume the initiative, it is said, on the ground that the alleged crime of receiving stolen securities was committeed in that city.

"We do not desire to be placed in the position of criticising any official in Cleveland," said the Assistant District Attorney, "but I will admit that we are not altogether satisfied with the work of certain officials out there in the Binkowitz matter and in the Arnstein case. There seems to have been a lack of interest in the matter, which we can't understand. We have been in communication with officials in Cleveland and other cities in Ohio in the Binkowitz case and in the Arnstein matter, and I feel sure that when we have laid all the facts in our possession before officials in Ohio we will obtain the co-operation we seek. At any rate, before this thing is over we feel that Cleveland will be found doing its part."

Denies Writing to Governor.

Mr. Dooling denied the report that he had written to the Governor of Connecticut that he had received no help in his quest for evidence in the Binkowitz case from officials in Cleveland, but intimated some other official might have done so.

Edward P. Strong, a lawyer in Cleveland, whose name has been used in the examination of witnesses in the Arnstein bankruptcy proceeding, offered to testify several days ago in the bankruptcy proceeding but was not called, Mr. Dooling admitted. "But the fact is," he added, "that at the time Strong made the offer Saul S. Myers, counsel for the surety companies in the city in the bankruptcy proceeding, was not ready to examine him. That was at the beginning of the bankruptcy hearings, but when, a few days later, Mr. Myers desired to place Mr. Strong on the witness stand he found Strong had left the city for Cleveland and Mr. Myers has not been able to induce him to return here to testify.

"If Mr. Strong is willing to come to this city and testify in the bankruptcy," continued the Assistant District Attorney, "we shall arrange for his immediate examination. I do not hesitate to declare that we consider Mr. Strong a very important witness in the Arnstein case. If Mr. Strong consents to come to this city, I would suggest that he bring with him other gentlemen of his acquaintance who, we feel, know much about the same matter. Altogether there are thirteen persons in Cleveland whose testimony we would like to have."

May Hold Hearings in Cleveland.

Mr. Dooling then said it is not unlikely that as soon as certain leads in the Arnstein and Binkowitz cases requiring immediate attention are run down the bankruptcy proceeding will be resumed in Cleveland. He intimated that Mr. Myers has a list of names of persons in Cleveland who will be called as witnesses if the proceeding is transferred to the Ohio city.

Mr. Dooling said a warrant was issued for Ginsberg by Coroner Mix of New Haven, soon after the finding of the mutilated body of Binkowitz, charging him with the murder of the messenger. He said the warrant was not effective outside of the State of Connecticut and for that reason no effort had been made to cause the arrest of Ginsberg on the charge.

Mr. Myers admitted he and Mr. Dooling had questioned Arthur C. Ecrement, former member of the Canadian Parliament, about the Arnstein case on his arrival Thursday night from Chicago. He said Ecrement came here voluntarily, following his arrest in Chicago in connection with the case, but he admitted he was accompanied by a Canadian detective named Carrington. He said Ecrement will be placed on the witness stand in the Arnstein-Sullivan bankruptcy proceeding in the Federal Building this morning before United States Commissioner Gilchrist.

"Nicky" Fails to Appear.

Mr. Myers said he received a telephone message yesterday morning from a man who said he was representing William J. Fallon, counsel for "Nicky" Arnstein, and the caller said "Nicky" would surrender in General Sessions at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Myers and Mr. Dooling waited in the District Attorney's office until 6 o'clock last night, but Arnstein did not appear. A few minutes before Mr. Myers left, Mr. Fallon and the representative of a surety company conferred with Mr. Dooling and Mr. Myers in the former's office, and when Mr. Fallon departed the Assistant District Attorney said he did not expect Arnstein to surrender.

"My opinion today is the same as from the beginning—and that is, that detectives under Deputy Commissioner Lahey will bring Arnstein here."

It was said later that detectives have located Arnstein's hiding place and they expect to arrest him within twenty-four hours.

PUTS AIR TO WORK

Air That's Fit to Breathe

The success of a theatre or restaurant, the profits of a factory, often depend on supplying air that's fit to breathe. Smoke, steam, gases, odors, fumes, dust—all should be removed from places where people congregate.

For this kind of special ventilation Sturtevant Propeller Fans are designed. They act independently and locally in laboratories, stores, restaurants, club rooms, small theatres, lavatories, and factories, operating smoothly and effectively, with a minimum of trouble and expense.

Sturtevant Propeller Fans

These units consist of a cast iron wall ring within which the motor-driven fan revolves. They are usually mounted in the wall of the building, acting as exhaust fans with discharge out of doors. The design is particularly strong and rigid.

Propeller Fans form one group of the great Sturtevant family of fans, blowers, and allied apparatus, for putting air to work Every Sturtevant apparatus is backed by three generations of development in the scientific application of the equipment to the work to be done, resulting in the acknowledged leadership of Sturtevant in this field.

Let a Sturtevant representative help you make the right selection of apparatus for your need. His recommendations will be based on a scientific analysis of your problem. Write, wire, or phone for him.

We Have the Real Goods
—Not "Something Just as Good"

EVER since knee-high-to-grasshopper days, we've felt that some time somebody would open up a shop with never a "we have something just as good"—a place that would handle only advertised goods of proven reputation and merit—one where the man behind the counter would never have any mental reservations when serving you.

Today, at 212 West Forty-Second Street, Philard, Inc., opens this kind of a shop—new in spirit—new in service—new in the absolute certainty that what you want you get.

A Little Utility for Yourself—An Appropriate Gift for a Friend—in the Exact Model You Want

You look at our list. You want, perhaps, an Ingersoll—a Gillette—a Thermos. You have in mind the exact model you want. You will be certain of finding that model here. Or, perhaps you don't know exactly what model you want. You are just as certain then of finding the entire range of models here—to make your choice entirely satisfactory.

And If You Ever Have a Kick, We'll Receive it Like a Long-Lost Brother

Mind you, we sell only goods on which the percentage of kicks can, in the very nature of the case, be but as frequent as the blossoming of the century plant. But when that kick comes, we're here to receive it like a long lost-brother. We're here to make it good without a prosecutor's cross-examination. We're here to prove to you that a sale's but a sale, while a satisfactory adjustment means an added booster.

Let us sell you what you need of what we have—we'll do it in a new sales way.

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION OF UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD

Inquiry Into Groton Iron Works and Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation Held

The Special Committee of the House of Representatives which has been investigating for the past several months the dealings of the United States Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation with all of the shipbuilding concerns engaged in war work, has recently been holding hearings in Washington and New York concerning the contracts given to the Groton Iron Works and the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation.

Before the Committee temporarily adjourned the hearings being held in New York, counsel for the Groton Iron Works and Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation requested that the Committee, as soon as possible, examine witnesses who have actually been connected with the plants so that the Committee may be fully informed upon all transactions by persons who have been familiar with the contracts from the beginning. This the committee promised to do at an early date.

The witnesses so far called, many of them Emergency Fleet Corporation employes, have testified that the plant of the Groton Iron Works at Groton, Connecticut, is the best built steel shipyard on the Atlantic Coast with a large equity over and above the Shipping Board's mortgage; that it has delivered six steel vessels valued at $10,515,648.00 which have proved in operation most satisfactory; that it has nearly completed three other vessels valued at approximately $6,000,000.00; that with the return of surplus material already effected and now being completed, the Emergency Fleet Corporation will have received steel vessels paid for at contract prices with no loss to the Fleet Corporation. These same vessels, costing approximately $16,000,000.00, will have a selling value (at the present prices asked by the Shipping Board) of nearly $18,000,000.00, a net profit to the United States Government of approximately $2,000,000.00.

The Fleet Corporation employes, while saying that some of the early payroll records of the Groton Iron Works were necessarily inaccurate, due to the forced plant and ship construction under wartime conditions, were positive in their statements that all funds received had been properly accounted for; that there was no padding of payrolls, fraud or deceit in any transactions with the Government.

The investigation by the Committee relative to the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation contract has developed the fact that the Emergency Fleet Corporation has granted to the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation one contract for twelve ships, aggregating in contract price $18,048,000.00.

By reason of increase in wages, changes in construction and extras, the Fleet Corporation became obligated to pay for these twelve vessels approximately $22,560,000.00. In the performance of this contract the Fleet Corporation has paid to this company, including all sums loaned on mortgage, approximately $13,500,000.00. The Company has delivered to the Fleet Corporation seven vessels of a contract value of over $13,160,000.00. Not only this, the Company has nearly completed three other vesesls with its own funds, leaving to the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation an equity in ships of approximately $4,000,000.00 with an unencumbered plant.

From a careful consideration of the entire testimony taken by the Committee, it becomes apparent that the United States Shipping Board, in its dealings with the United States Steamship Company and its subsidiaries, has secured for the United States merchant marine substantial vessels of a value largely in excess of the amounts paid for their construction, and that the United States Government, instead of suffering any loss by reason of those dealings, is now in a position to reap a substantial profit.

When the Committee examines the witnesses from the plants of the Groton and Virginia companies, the latter will be in a position to show that the value of the construction work and materials on hand was at all times in excess of the amounts which had been paid on account by the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

PICKS 'BEST BABY' IN NEW YORK CITY

QUEENS INFANT IS SECOND

Selection Is Made from Winners in Borough Contests in Health Department Campaign.

A jury of physicians, one from each borough, decided yesterday at the offices of the Health Department, 505 Pearl Street, that Muriel Borgos, 23 months old, of 14 Fourth street, Brooklyn, was the best baby in New York. The second best, they said, was Madeline Robinson, 7 months old, of Long Island City.

To arrive at who was the best baby in this city contests have been held in the different boroughs as a feature of the Department of Health's Better Babies Campaign. One "best baby" was selected in each borough and these were taken before the physicians yesterday and they decided which child took the palm for the entire city. Baby Muriel is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Borgos. The winner from Queens is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson.

In the class between 2 and 6 years old, Mary Cornelle, 2 years and 9 months, received first prize, and Dorothy Gardner, 2 years and 7 months, second prize. Mary is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cornelle of 268 East 143d Street, the Bronx, and Dorothy is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner of 1,597 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn.

The prizes will be given at the Milk and Child Health Exposition in Grand Central Palace next week. The first prizes will be gold medals, to be presented by Mayor Hylan on Saturday, and the second prizes, as well as the prizes for the best baby in each borough, will be given by the respective Borough Presidents on the show day dedicated to their particular boroughs.

CONTROLLER TO ARRAIGN SIX

Finance Department Employes Accused of Neglect in Warrant Error.

For failure to observe irregularities in the filling out of the Crimmins warrant, which increased the feud between Controller Craig and City Chamberlain Berolzheimer, six employes of the Finance Department will receive a hearing this morning on charges of neglect of duty, the Controller said yesterday.

The warrant to the Thomas Crimmins Contracting Company issued in figures for "$3,487.00" but written out for "Thirty-four thousand eighty-seven dollars and sixty-nine cents" passed through the hands of ten municipal employes, of whom six were in the Finance Department. The Controller refused to give the names of the employes involved as it might be shown they were not to blame for the error.

Mr. Craig disagreed with District Attorney Swann's conclusion after a "preliminary investigation," that persons responsible for the mutilation of the Mayor's and City Chamberlain's signatures were not criminally responsible. The Controller said that the code pronounces a felony any attempt to "alter, mutilate, or obliterate" a city warrant.

LEGION TO AID DISABLED.

Names Gerald J. Murphy to Co-operate with the Government.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Gerald J. Murphy of Rutland, Vt., has been appointed by Franklin D'Olier, Commander of the American Legion, as the legion's representative to co-operate with the Federal Board for Vocational Education in placing disabled former service men in training.

The vocational board through U. W. Lamkin, Chief of the Division of Rehabilitation, issued a statement today in connection with Mr. Murphy's appointment, saying that "in helping to get the men entitled to it into training the legion is rendering distinguished service not only to the men themselves, but to the country in whose economic life the retrained men will become a still more valuable asset."

Tax Figures Show That Fortune Increased $1,034,408 Between Two Appraisals.

$26,524,225 IN SECURITIES

Daughter to Get $9,370,442—Harvard, Johns Hopkins and Columbia $5,541,401 Each.

The transfer tax appraisal filed yesterday in the estate of Captain Joseph Raphael De Lamar, capitalist, who died Dec. 1, 1918, shows that the value at the date of his death was $32,282,927, which had been increased to $33,327,335 when an accounting was filed recently.

The estate was decreased by debts, including judgments obtained by friends for whom Captain De Lamar made stock speculations under an agreement guaranteeing them against loss, so that the total sum left to his daughter, Alice Antoinette De Lamar, is $9,370,442, and the share of the three residuary legatees, Harvard, Johns Hopkins and Columbia Universities, is $5,541,401 each. He also gave $500,000 to the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor and made liberal gifts to personal friends and associates.

The appraisal reveals the fact that after Captain De Lamar's art objects and other personal effects in his city home at 233 Madison Avenue and his office at 43 Exchange Place had been appraised at $373,509, and the effects in his country place at Glen Cove, L. I., had been valued at $257,331, the transfer tax authorities in the office of the State Controller learned that many of the articles listed had been sold at much higher figures than appeared on the schedules filed. One item in particular was an Ardebil rug, appraised at $17,500 and sold after Captain De Lamar's death for $57,000.

In order to avoid the necessity of a reappraisal of the many thousands of items scheduled, Sullivan & Cromwell, counsel for the estate, consented to the value of the effects in the city being increased 24 per cent., making the total $531,219 instead of $373,509, and the property at Glen Cove raised 50 per cent., or to $385,997, instead of $257,331.

Rug Prices Tripled, He Says.

In justification of his appraisal, Thomas E. Kirby of the American Art Association said that many of the articles owned by Captain De Lamar were showy and required a large house for a proper setting. The present tendency of persons who can afford valuable art objects such as those owned by Captain De Lamar is to live in apartments where they are unable to house such tapestries, paintings, antique furniture and statuary, and the demand for them is diminished, Mr. Kirby said. He stated that the value of antique rugs tripled after Captain De Lamar's death.

Mr. Kirby's schedule fixed the following valuations for the most important paintings owned by Captain De Lamar: "Bavarian Holiday" (Knaus), $4,000; "L'Aurore" (Bouguereau), $3,000; "The Gleaners" (Breton), $2,500; "The Sculpture Gallery" (Alma-Tadema), $7,500; "Louis XV." (Van Loo), $2,500; "Moorish Sheik Escort" (Schreyer), $6,000; "Grand Canal, Venice" (Ziem), $1,800; "Monarch of the Forest" (Bonheur), $1,500; "Roman Interior" (Gerome), $1,500; "Scene at Monte Carlo" (Beraud), $1,500; "At the Window" (Alma-Tadema), $1,500; "Princess Led to Dragons" (Burne-Jones), $1,500; "Incoming Tide" (Vibert), $1,250; "Departure of His Eminence" (Vibert), $1,000; "Procession" (Weeks), $1,250, and "Landscape with Sheep" (Verboeckhoven), $1,000.

The list of Captain De Lamar's rugs and tapestries, which comprised the most valuable objects he had collected, included the following:

Ardebil rug, $17,500; Flemish Brussels tapestry, $12,500; two Flemish tapestries, $7,500; Beauvais tapestry, $5,000; Paris tapestry, $7,500; Beauvais tapestry, $7,500; Flemish verdue, $5,000; Italian tapestry, $4,000; Aubusson tapestry, $3,000; Persian silk hunting rug, $1,500, and Persian silk rug, $1,200.

The statuary included "The Greek Slave" in Carrara marble by Powers, $1,500, and "Wounded Hirondelles," by Boucher, $1,200.

$26,524,225 in Securities.

Captain DeLamar had two pipe organs, the one in his country place being appraised at $3,000 and in his city home at $7,500. He owned jewelry worth $6,065, the two most valuable items being a genuine sapphire ring, nine carats, $1,500, and a star ruby ring, seventeen carats, $2,000. The contents of his wine cellar was appraised at $3,841, the pre-prohibition period valuation.

The chief asset of the estate consisted of securities appraised at $26,524,225. As to the value of a promissory note of the Delta Beet Sugar Corporation for $2,607,000, the report states that several years before his death Captain De Lamar entered upon a project of establishing a beet sugar plant in Utah. He spent $1,500,000 on a factory and site, and advanced $1,197,000 for operating expenses. The plant was working before he died, but it was not profitable, and the net assets, excluding the amount of the note to him, were valued at $1,168,941. The estate contended that this should be taken as the value of the note, but the value was fixed by Appraiser Komp at $2,000,000.

The chief stock holdings were 7,000 shares Manati Sugar common, $665,000; 5,275 preferred, $298,000, and 5,000 Aetna Explosives, $290,000. He had $1,496,250 bonds of the Sinclair Oil & Refining Company; $588,535 of the Sinclair Gulf Corporation; $440,000 National Conduit & Cable Company; $432,000 American Petroleum & Transportation; $314,160 International Mercantile Marine; $500,000 Tacajo Sugar Corporation; $463,000 Coronet Phosphate Corporation; $3,127,500 Federal Farm Loan; $1,463,100 Liberty bonds; $594,000 City of Denver 4½s, and $592,500 State of Delaware 4½ Highway bonds.

SCHWAB DESCRIBES REAL PEACE NAVY

Charles M. Schwab wished New York University Godspeed in its endowment fund drive yesterday and urged the workers to centre their energies upon the smaller contributions. At a luncheon in the Biltmore, given by the fund organization, Mr. Schwab said:

"Your progress will be marked most of all by the small contributions, for they show to what extent the public is behind the university and how much at heart it has her prosperity and permanence."

Mr. Schwab discussed the building of monster battle cruisers 1,000 feet long and of 60,000 tons displacement, with main batteries of twelve sixteen-inch guns. Such a ship would cost $50,000,000, Mr. Schwab said, but a fleet of these vessels would effectually preserve peace, as any nation would be afraid to attack the United States.

Rear Admiral James H. Glennon, commander of the Third Naval District, and the Rev. Nehemiah Boynton were other speakers. The toastmaster was Alexander Lyman, general counsel of the New York Central and Chairman of the Council Committee in the fund campaign. He announced that the total subscribed to date was $765,000. Others at the guest table included Commodore A. N. Wadhams, commander of the United States prison ship at Portsmouth, N. H., and Captain G. L. P. Stone, in charge of the United States receiving ship at Bay Ridge.

The impression apparently got abroad that the vessel suggested by Mr. Schwab was being built at Philadelphia. In contradiction of this the following Associated Press dispatch was received last night:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—Navy Department officials said tonight that no such ship as that described by Charles M. Schwab was under construction for the navy or had been authorized. The six battle cruisers authorized in 1916 are all of the same type, 850 feet in length, beam 104 feet and speed something less than 35 knots. Their normal displacement, according to officers of the Construction Bureau under whom they were designed, will be 43,500 tons, and they will carry eight 16-inch rifles in their main batteries.

It was suggested that Mr. Schwab probably referred to the proposal just after the war to abandon entirely the battleship and battle cruiser program, substituting for both types a new class of ships described as cruiser-battleships, and having the offensive and defensive power of modern dreadnoughts combined with the speed of modern battle cruisers. This meant, according to navy experts, a ship of about the characteristics mentioned by Mr. Schwab, and there was considerable controversy over the subject within the Navy Department.

C. W. Van Zile, Soapmaker, Kills Himself.

Cornelius W. Van Zile, 50 years old, who, with his brother, Edward K. Van Zile, manufactured soap, committed suicide at 6 o'clock last night by shooting himself in the left breast on the back porch of his home, 24 Bonn Place, Weehawken, N. J. About two weeks ago he bought the interest of his brother in the soap plant. Ill health was said to have caused him to take his life.

Stability of policy continued for 16 years—

Are the elements that have made our business successful—that have retained the patronage of old customers—that have brought thousands of new customers—that have made it necessary to operate four stores instead of one—as follows: Three stores on the west side of Broadway, near 30th, 45th and 99th Streets, and one store in Herald Square, 6th Avenue near 35th Street.

SALTO-NUTS

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

This sign has a deeper meaning for you

WHEN you seek to avoid the hard, unyielding pavements your feet have learned to dread: When you turn instinctively to a few small patches of turf left in our cities today.

—This sign bars your way. It denies you the relief you need—the relief from all the jolts and jars that make walking for you a serious cause of fatigue and exhaustion.

Only a few years ago we walked on soft dirt paths and elastic turf, which cushioned every step. But today, on leather heels or ordinary "dead" rubber heels, every step acts as a hammer blow to the delicate nervous system. The average man takes 8,000 steps a day—suffers 8,000 shocks. Here is one of the greatest causes of fatigue today.

You cannot change the pavements back to elastic turf. But you can change your heels. O'Sullivan's Heels eliminate the fatigue caused by pounding hard leather heels or ordinary rubber heels on hard pavements.

To secure the resiliency, the springiness of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are blended by special formula. With this blend of live, springy rubber are "compounded" the best toughening agents known. The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

Stop pounding away your energy. Go to your shoe repairer today and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes.

O'Sullivan's Heels

Why Cheap Luggage is a Waste of Money

TO many people a leather bag is simply a leather bag. They can see the leather. They take for granted that it is good leather. And there their knowledge and interest stops.

It isn't to be expected that the average purchaser will know the facts about leather.

There are many ways of cheapening a bag without the purchaser being any the wiser—until he takes it out on a trip!

Even the dealer himself cannot always detect the cheapening processes. That is why he puts his faith in a reliable manufacturer—like the Belber Company.

The Belber name is an absolute guarantee of sound value—today as for thirty years the dominant name in the luggage business.

If your present need is a Wardrobe Trunk, a Bag, a Kit Bag, an Overnight Bag, or a Suit-case—remember that name Belber.

When the dealer shows you luggage with this name on it—you can be sure that he puts responsibility to his customers first—that the article is exactly as represented—and full value for your money.

TRAVELING GOODS

Buying vs. Building

The price of a building is determined largely by the cost of its present-day erection—its replacement value.

It is no great task to estimate the cost of building a second Woolworth Building, an Eiffel Tower or a Panama Canal.

And while not so concrete, the same principle holds true in estimating the present-day trade-mark value of a Coca-Cola or an O'Sullivan Rubber Heel.

Yet it is difficult to get the same banker who will buy for millions a trade-mark that has "arrived" to consider the construction of a national trade-mark at the cost of a few years and perhaps five or six hundred thousand dollars.

Prizes seem justly reserved for those with constructive imagination.

FAILS TO FIX A STANDARD

No One Can Contend What Is a Fair Price, Asserts Lawyer—Decision Reserved.

An appeal from an order of Federal Judge Hazel in the Western District denying a motion to restrain United States Attorney Lockwood of Buffalo from prosecuting C. A. Weed & Co., clothing dealers, on an indictment charging a violation of the Lever Law by profiteering in the sale of clothing, was argued yesterday before the United States Circuit Court. Simon Fleischmann and Edward L. Jellinek of Buffalo represented the appellants, Charles E. Hughes appeared for the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and the Government was represented by United States Attorneys Carl Sherman and Stephen P. Lockwood.

Mr. Fleischmann stated that Weed & Co. were not members of any trade combination and that unrestricted competition exists between all dealers in clothing. He said the indictment against his clients consisted of twenty counts and that when Judge Hazel charged the jury which returned the indictment he told them that they would be justified in finding indictments under the Lever act if any person had sold a single article of wearing apparel at a profit which they deemed unjust and unreasonable.

He contended that the Lever act, as amended, was unconstitutional and invalid because it failed to fix any standard by which it could be determined whether the price charged for an article was unjust ro excessive; because if the act was enforceable all merchants would find it impossible to continue in business, and because a criminal prosecution was a violation of Article 5 through depriving dealers of proper liberty without due process of law.

Mr. Fleischmann argued that in the absence of orders and regulations by Presdient Wilson the Lever act is unconstitutional and uninforcible, that the indictment si worthless because the various counts are based on single transactions and that there exists no right on the part of any official to attempt to enforce the act, even as a war measure, because it deprives merchants of equal protection.

"It is absolutely impossible," he said, "for any one dealing in wearing apparel, especially at retail, having in mind the nature and variety of the articles involved, the innumerable and constantly varying conditions under which they must be bought and sold, to determine in advance, or to be advised by counsel, attorneys, judges or courts as to what is or will be regarded by a court or jury as a reasonable and fair price and what would be regarded as unreasonable and unfair.

"We venture to assert that no brains or combination of brains can formulate what are fair or unfair prices of articles of wearing apparel in any given locality much less in all localities, which will stand the test of business expediency for a period extending beyond the time required for their formulation."

Mr. Fleischmann said that it would be difficult for lawyers to properly advise their clients as to prices to be charged when courts have differed so widely on the subject.

He concluded by saying that during the last five years a business man could grow rich by merely keeping his goods on the shelves, and tha tthis was the real explanation of much of the so-called profiteering.

Mr. Hughes stated that the Lever act was a direct invasion of property rights through criminal proceedings, and that he would file a brief on the subject.

Decision was reserved.

TO DENY BARBERS' DEMANDS

Owners of Shops Say Increases Would Make Haircuts a Dollar.

According to Joseph Byrne of The Barber's Journal, speaking for the master barbers, the demands of the journeymen barbers of New York for increased wages and shorter hours will be rejected. The threatened strike for next Monday morning, he said, would involve 6,000 shops and between 12,000 and 15,000 barbers.

Mr. Byrne asserted that the demands, if granted, would mean $1 for a haircut and a proportionate raise in other prices. The demands include a minimum wage of $35 a week, a commission of 50 per cent. on all over $45 taken in by each barber each week, a half hour less work daily, one hour less work Saturday, an hour and a half for lunch, one day off a week and a half day off on Sundays. The present average pay, Mr. Byrne said, is $60 a week in hotel barber shops and $40 a week in other uptown shops.

A union leader said that the question of a strike would be discussed at a meeting at Bryant Hall tomorrow afternoon.

TUBE FARE HEARING TODAY.

Evidence Regarding Terminal Building Rents to be Submitted.

Before Examiner Geery of the Interstate Commerce Commission, at 171 East Thirty-sixth Street, this morning, there will be another hearing on the increase of fares on the tubes between Jersey points and Manhattan. The Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company, under authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission, is now charging 8 cents fare for downtown points and 10 cents for uptown points. The new hearing was granted at the request of Hoboken citizens.

Evidence concerning the rental received by the company from the Terminal Building in Manhattan, estimated at $2,800,000, must be presented at the hearing today, according to word received yesterday by Corporation Counsel Fallon of Hoboken, from Chief Examiner William Laroe of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Car Problem is "Gas"

HOW

SOLVES IT

GASOLINE is steadily going down in grade. Motor car engineers are much concerned. Some have found a remedy by accepting the Chalmers principle of Hot Spot and Ram's-horn.

For this principle has supplied the answer to the problem of "gas."

Ram's-horn, minus abrupt sharp corners, short in length and ingeniously designed, makes the distance "gas" travels from Hot Spot to each cylinder equal.

At a velocity estimated at 100 miles an hour the "gas cloud" is rushed through Ram's-horn and the results are marked:

Power
Smooth action
Spark plugs seldom foul

Absence of engine troubles such as burned bearings and scored cylinders.

The sum of results from Hot Spot and Ram's-horn looms large in your mind once you become a Chalmers owner and you, too, will say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

MARRIES BURGLAR SENTENCED FOR LIFE

TAKEN FROM JAIL TO WED

Couple Parted Immediately After the Ceremony—Wife Expects Husband Will Win a Pardon.

Three hours before he was to start for Sing Sing Prison to serve a life term for burglary, Jacob Miller was taken in shackles yesterday from the Bronx County Jail to the Marriage License Bureau in the County Court House where he and Hannah Rosenbaum, of 1,079 Washington Avenue, the Bronx, were married. Miss Rosenbaum said she was 21 years old, a seamstress, and was a "boyhood sweetheart" of the convict. Miller told the clerk he was a salesman, 26 years old.

As a fourth offender Miller was sentenced to a life term by County Judge Louis D. Gibbs last week after he had been convicted of attempted burglary in the dental manufacturing laboratory of Edward Rowan, at 625 East 163d Street, the Bronx. Rowan is the father-in-law of District Attorney Francis Martin, who prosecuted the case and who caused two of Miller's companions to be sentenced to short terms. The men had been caught while they were preparing to take $300,000 worth of gold leaf.

Every day since he was arrested, on April 15, Miller has received visits from Miss Rosenbaum, and both pleaded with Sheriff Donnelly to permit them to go to the Marriage License Bureau, both in chains and handcuffs, if necessary. The Sheriff withheld permission until after the end of the trial.

Before the hour set yesterday for the ceremony, the bride and some of her friends were waiting near the jail for the bridegroom to emerge. On the minute of 9 o'clock he came out accompanied by his two best men, Sheriff Donnelly and a deputy.

When the bridal party reached the Marriage License Bureau, the Sheriff permitted the prisoner to slip the shackles and the clerks in the bureau attempted in every way to make the ceremony just like other weddings there. When the ceremony was ended they passed cigars around and expressed the usual wishes. Then the deputy slipped the handcuffs on again and the groom was led away from his tearful bride. She is confident he will be pardoned and released from prison within a few years.

CITY ACCEPTS STADIUM.

The offer of Mrs. Isaac L. Rice to present a $1,000,000 stadium, playground and athletic field to the city, in memory of her husband was accepted formally by the Board of Estimate yesterday. The board passed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Rice and her family, and Mayor Hylan appointed Controller Craig, Borough President Henry Bruckner of the Bronx, and President F. H. La Guardia of the Board of Aldermen, as a committee to confer with the Rice family. The site, presumably in the vicinity of Pelham Bay Park, will be determined finally by the Park Board.

The gift was intended as a memorial hospital for convalescent soldiers, but after the war Mrs. Rice changed her offer to a stadium and playground, to be known as the Isaac L. Rice Memorial. It was proposed at first to erect the stadium in Central Park on the site of the old reservoir, but the plan was abandoned when it was found that the reservoir would not be drained for nearly two years, and after considerable opposition on the part of various civic bodies against more buildings in the Park developed.

Under the acceptance of the gift by the Board of Estimate, the Park Board, which, under the legislation passed last month, has the final determination as to the site of the stadium and playground, has but two choices. It was said at Park Commissioner Gallatin's office yesterday that the board would not act on the matter for several days.

Craig Moves to Appeal Fine.

Controller Charles L. Craig yesterday applied to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals on the decision affirming the court order which adjudged the Controller in contempt of court and imposed a fine of $834. The fine was imposed by Supreme Court Justice Lazansky because of an alleged violation of an injunction restraining him from selling corporate bonds of the city.

Can Business Be Done Today Without the Motor Truck

Just in the one item of ice cream for the soda fountains—think what it means to deliver this perishable commodity to 70 soda fountains every day at a delivery cost of only 15%.

Eleven out of their fifteen trucks are Packards. They put a Packard in service seven years ago and it is on the job nine hours daily.

The fleet is kept moving 90% out of a nine-hour day—and the stores know what every truck is doing and what it costs every hour of the day.

Cost records are kept by the National Standard Truck Cost System—to the fraction of a cent per mile, per package, per gallon of gasoline or dollar's worth of tires.

Dollars and cents facts are available to every business man and his transportation department. 1700 Packard owners in all lines of business are using the National Truck Cost System. For information regarding these, telephone or write our local salesroom.

You Pay MOST for the LEAST Addressing Efficiency!

So, why not have 100 per cent Belknap Efficiency? It Costs the Least!

This No. 3 Motor Drive Belknap Addressor addresses 15,000 to 25,000 names a day

IT'S the business that is "getting along well enough" with some half-way addressing system where the cost of addressing work comes high.

You are paying the cost of addressing efficiency today!—over-paying for it, without enjoying it. And you will keep on paying for it, in leaks and wastage, to several times the cost of an efficient Belknap System—until you install one.

Then the cost virtually ceases; addressing efficiency is effective; there is no more waste; nothing except a nominal upkeep expense—and EFFICIENCY! Why not have it?

You are half-equipped for it right now!

Any business with a typewriter, and a stenographer to operate it, is more than half equipped for Belknap Addressing Efficiency.

Your regular office typewriter is the only machine needed to cut a Belknap Addressing Stencil. Your stenographer can cut it, just as she would address an envelope.

After that it is just a question of using the stencils as often as you need them. And when you need them a Belknap Addressor will hustle through the job for you with mechanical infallibility and more than human intelligence, at the rate of 1,500 to 14,000 per hour, depending on the type of machine your business seems to need.

We will be very glad to send you a book we published some time ago, telling more about Belknap Systems of Addressing. Have your stenographer write for it—or if you prefer, we will ask one of our expert Service Men to call any time you suggest. Anyone of these men is thoroughly experienced and equipped to get to the heart of your addressing problem in short order.

A personal talk is generally more satisfactory, so write or phone when you would like our Representative to call.

Because they save both time and money

Well known manufacturers buy Du Pont Surplus Equipment

A few weeks ago, the Corning Glass Works called on us. They are building an additional plant to take care of unfilled orders. They expected to start operation at this plant about October 1st.

We supplied them with five air compressors and some power equipment at $25,000 less than their estimate and because of our immediate delivery, the new plant will be producing by July 15th instead of three months later.

Merely knowing that this is happening every day will not save you any money. You must apply this knowledge to your own buying. We have the proof that we can save time and money for you.

Let us quote prices on equipment you need now for expansion, for replacement, or for emergency. Our prices make it profitable to purchase for future requirements also. This involves no obligation to buy; but you will buy from our surplus because of the savings in dollars and in time.

Don't delay. Write, wire or phone at once, telling us what you need, or come personally to Wilmington or any of our plants listed below.

APPLIED SOCIALISM.

Having nominated "a flaming revolutionist" for President, the Socialist Party named as its candidate for Vice President Mr. SEYMOUR STEDMAN, the gentleman who admits that he made a "witty" speech at Chicago last year, the wittiest passage of which seems to have been his insistence that bombs were necessary "to blow open "the armories so that we will get "possession of the guns, ammuni-"tion, &c." Mr. MORRIS HILLQUIT, roused by the infamous or ironical charge of "conservatism" brought against his party, said, somewhat superfluously, that "our nomination of "DEBS means that we are determined "not to recede one inch from our "program of revolutionary social-"ism." As the result of what is curiously called a "compromise," this interesting resolution was included in the platform:

> The Socialist Party of the United States summons all who believe in this fundamental doctrine to prepare for a complete reorganization of our social system, based upon public ownership of public necessities, upon government by representatives chosen from occupational as well as geographical groups, in harmony with our industrial development and with citizenship based on service, that we may end forever the exploitation of class by class.

In short, let us have a Soviet Government to consist, presumably, of Councils of Workmen and Farmers, if farmers can be induced to bite. From the raptured throats of delegates and spectators poured the touching melodies of the "Internationale," the "Hymn to Free Russia" and the "Red Flag." On the same day that these demonstrations in favor of "free Russia" were made, Colonel RYAN, Red Cross Commissioner for North Russia and the Baltic States, was telling us of the harmony of industrial development to which Russia has come. The transportation system is broken down. In Petrograd wooden houses are pulled down and barges on the Neva chopped up for fuel. No water is to be had save in the river. There is no soap. Virtually there are no lights. Moscow is in the same delightful condition. In both cities the streets are unspeakably filthy, with piles of dirt and rubbish four feet high. Everybody is dirty and shabby. The hospitals lack the most necessary medical supplies. In Moscow "everybody was cold." Horse meat was practically the only meat on sale. The bread ration was a quarter of a pound a person.

This is what the glorious achievements of Soviet Government and socialization of industries have ended in. A terrible confession of the Minister of Public Health summarizes those achievements: "There are no poor. In Russia all are equal." All dirty, famished, ill-clad, suffering from cold, hopeless. A great nation brought to rags and wretchedness, demoralized or ruined, materially and morally. Any foreign observer admitted to the country is surrounded and followed by spies. Colonel RYAN's testimony is that of a man who could not be bamboozled by the officials. Mr. GEORGE LANSBURY, editor of The London Daily Herald, organ of the Labor Party, who made a more favorable report of his visit, was understood to be "Lord" LANSBURY. The house of desolation was "dressed" for his benefit. Some tramways were set to running. Some electric lights were fixed up. His movements were restricted. His prepossessions were in favor of the Bolshevist saints, and both he and they were hoaxed. Colonel RYAN records what his own eyes saw. He gives us a faithful picture of the perfect work of that form of misgovernment, of that economic, political and social ruin to which the American Socialist Party invites Americans.

GENEROUS MR. BRYAN.

The Great Commoner is displaying a chivalrous spirit comparable to that of the knights of old. He is determined to take no unsportsmanlike advantage of the enemy. He has viewed with alarm the reciprocal mudslingings of the Republican Presidential candidates, each of whom seems to regard it as his first duty to prove that all Republicans but himself are unfit for the office. Mr. BRYAN will put both parties on an even footing; so he proceeds with the denigration of eminent Democrats.

Mr. CUMMINGS's selection to sound the keynote by which the Democratic trumpet is to be tuned seems to Mr. BRYAN "worse than a comedy—a tragedy." "If the Democratic Party is "to be wrapped in a 'wet' shroud, "locked up in a Wall Street safe, and "buried at sea, CUMMINGS is just the "person to officiate." As for Mr. EDWARD I. EDWARDS, he is "a joke"; a drunkard in the last stages of delirium tremens, says the Peerless Leader, would know that he can't be nominated. Governor Cox "has "fairly won the dishonor he seeks. "After disgracing his State he aspires "to a position in which he could dis-"grace a nation."

One by one they fall before the silver bullets of the Anti-Saloon League's lecturer. "Why should any Demo-"crat be willing to support a man "whose nomination would insult the "conscience of the nation?" There is only one man, we are to infer, whose nomination would not be such an insult; and that is the Keeper of the National Conscience, the Orator of the Platte. Meanwhile, Alabama ignores the protest of the incarnate conscience of the nation and gives its support to Senator UNDERWOOD; Governor Cox goes on picking up delegates; and Governor EDWARDS's friends smile hopefully. It looks as if the conscience of the nation were in for a shock.

GOVERNMENT AND NEWSPAPERS.

If, during the recent or present shortage of shipping, the Government had issued an order or admonition to exporters that they must reduce their shipments of goods in order to "conserve shipping," and because of the further reason that the unrestricted outflow of goods from a port like New York might deprive ports like Baltimore or Savannah of sorely needed ocean freight facilities, we should have a pretty fair analogue to the proposal that the Government meet the shortage of newsprint paper by restricting the size and the circulation of newspapers. Putting aside for the moment, although that question cannot be left out of the account, the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press, it is plainly and indubitably unwise for the Government to attempt to dictate to newspapers the manner in which they shall conduct their lawful business. The primary business of newspapers is to inform and instruct the public, to tell their readers what is going on, what is being done and said by Governments and individuals. It is a function of highest utility; the existence of the press is one of the marks that distinguish civilized and enlightened nations from savages living in the forests. Public opinion is formed very largely from information diffused by the newspapers, and up to a very recent time it has been the policy of the Government to encourage the publishing and distribution of news. Except among a few of the national legislators who feel or fancy that they have grudges against newspapers, we think that policy is still held in esteem.

Senator REED of Missouri, Chairman of the committee which is investigating the causes of paper shortage, declares that the committee does not "intend to sit here and see thirty-five "or forty newspapers build up for-"tunes while smaller ones are driven "out of business." He added that he wanted the "great newspapers of this country to solve this problem." It is in that quarter that the only hopeful solution of the problem can be sought or secured. THE TIMES feels that it has done something to solve it. It has recently entered into a paper contract, the largest ever signed in the history of newspapers, which will call into existence a new paper mill of large capacity, whose output will enlarge existing production. THE TIMES is diligently striving to relieve the shortage by limiting the size of its daily editions to a number of pages far below the requirements of its business. Almost every day for months it has declined a large amount of advertising. On one day during the present week it omitted advertising to the value of $20,000. We concur in the judgment of Mr. LAWSON of Chicago that the great newspapers are striving by every reasonable sacrifice to conserve print paper. And it is our judgment that their efforts will be far more effective and much less injudicious and harmful than any attempt on the part of the Government to restrict their size or circulation.

Another recent innovation in Government policy toward newspapers calls for notice and protest. We know of no maxim or motive of private or public policy that can justify the Government in establishing postal rates upon second-class matter that discriminate against newspaper advertising by higher charges than those applied to reading matter. The present second-class rate applicable to newspapers is 1½ cents per pound for all zones upon that part of the paper devoted to reading matter; upon the part devoted to advertising the rate is the same for the first and second zones, but increases progressively to 3½ cents for the fifth zone, 4 cents for the sixth zone, 5 cents for the seventh zone and 5½ cents per pound for the eighth zone. The new rates going into effect on July 1 of the present year, unless Congress shall act favorably upon the committee recommendation that the increase be postponed one year, will be a full cent higher for the fourth zone, 1¼ cents higher for the fifth zone, 1½ cents higher for the sixth zone, 2 cents higher for the seventh and 2¼ cents for the eighth; so that for the seventh and eighth zones the postal rates per pound for advertising matter will be 7 cents and 7¾ cents respectively. After July 1, 1921, the rate will be 10 cents for the eighth zone unless the increase is postponed. These postal charges are burdensome, for they tend to impede and restrict the diffusion of information throughout the country, they intentionally impose a heavy, we might fairly say a punitive, tax upon advertising.

It is difficult to understand how the authors of these rates got it into their heads that it is a sound policy to divide a newspaper into two parts and impose upon one part, that carrying advertising, a very much higher charge than that devoted to news and comment. Advertising is news; if it does not convey information, it has not been intelligently prepared. Advertising is the first and chief help to business; it has become so by custom and experience. It is the very life of competition. It promotes the sale and exchange of commodities, it helps and builds up trade, it enlarges the sales and increases the prosperity of the merchants, it adds to the national wealth. It enlarges the income of individuals, firms and corporations, and so swells the yield of income taxes collected by the Government. Is it a wise or intelligible policy for the Government to lay a special tax upon an instrument of trade that operates powerfully to swell its own revenue?

These postal rates were established before the days of newsprint shortage. The conservation of white paper was not one of the motives that prompted Congress to impose them. The desire for additional revenue cannot be admitted as a motive, for the discriminatory rate plainly tends to diminish the revenues of the Government. By greatly increasing the cost of newspapers to subscribers in distant zones, it so evidently tends to check the wide distribution of news as to beget the suspicion that this may have been one of the results desired by the original authors of the policy.

THE BUILDING MYSTERY.

A curious anomaly has developed in the building situation. Of business offices there is apparently to be a considerable supply. The Grand Central Palace is to be remodeled and a vast new structure is to arise on the neighboring blocks between Park and Madison Avenues. Two hotels are actually to be converted into office buildings, the old Spingler, in Union Square, and the Knickerbocker, in Times Square. The demand for residential apartments, meantime, is at least equally keen and is rapidly on the increase. Prospective tenants swarm about any promised vacancy, and many who despair of placing a roof over their heads are taking to tents in spite of the sodden ground and the rain. Yet the amount of housing construction in progress is portentously small.

In part this shortage is to be attributed to the high cost of material, uncertainty as to its delivery, the dubious outlook as to labor and the difficulty of placing building mortgages. Yet the promoters of the gigantic project near the Grand Central Terminal announce that they will proceed "regardless of building conditions." However high the cost, they are obviously confident of being able to pass it on to their tenants. As a considerable shortage in buildings of all kinds is likely to exist for some years, they may be justified. The same reasoning, however, would apply with equal force to the building of new apartments. Yet very few such houses are projected, whereas the conversion of residence structures to business purposes, of which the Spingler and the Knickerbocker are shining examples, is widespread. Significant figures are furnished by FRANK MANN, Chairman of the Tenement House Commission. Prior to the war the annual average of apartments built was 28,000. In 1918 the number had dropped to about 2,100. Today the number of apartments in construction exceeds the number being torn down by only 231. The present need of the city, owing to the lagging construction of recent years, Commissioner MANN places at 40,000.

The only comprehensible explanation of this mystery centres in the new rent laws. The trouble is not with the 25 per cent. increase, which seems to be sufficiently liberal and which in any case does not apply to new construction. It is with ejecting present tenants. In a city as closely built as New York new structures are made possible only by destroying or remodeling old ones, and the local Justices, in whose hands a virtually absolute power is vested, have shown a marked favoritism for present residents of their districts as against the outside owner and prospective builder. According to our report of Thursday, Justices in "practically all of the Municipal Courts" have granted stays where tenants prove "their inability "to find other living accommodations "in the same neighborhood." As a result, owners who intend large and sorely needed additions to the city's housing have in numerous instances been balked. In certain cases two or three tenants, in buildings which are already under the ban of tenement house regulations, have prevented the erection of large and thoroughly equipped apartment houses.

The chief obstacle to new housing lies in an uncertainty with regard to full possession and control of existing tenements. It is a matter that cannot be too strongly urged upon the attention of the Mayor's new Housing Conference Committee. The plight of a few old residents should not stand in the way of the pathetic multitudes of the homeless for whom enlightened action would eventually supply thoroughly modern homes.

ON THEIR BEST BEHAVIOR.

In their attitude toward the United States the Mexican revolutionists are on their best behavior, although they have selected as their "First Chief" and Acting President one DE LA HUERTA, a name that suggests the usurper and dictator whom President WILSON declined to recognize because he was responsible for the assassination of MADERO. Mr. WILSON's views about recognizing Spanish-American Presidents who wade through blood to the national palace he never concealed; in fact, he has proclaimed that he would not approve of them or have official relations with them. But the HUERTA with the aristocratic flourish to his name is a different character from the cynical soldier and unprincipled politician who defied Mr. WILSON. The civil leader of the revolutionists was the first man of note to raise their banner, in Sonora, and his recognition as "First Chief" and chair-warmer for General OBREGON is merely formal.

The real spokesman of the movement to overthrow the Carranza Administration is the hero of Celaya. Concerning relations with the United States, General OBREGON is conciliating and plausible. "My ideal," he says, "is to make the international "border like the Canadian boundary, "withdrawing troops, except customs "officials"—who are troops in a sense in Mexico. The Mexican border has contracted some bad habits, however. It is to be feared that troops must be within call on the American side for some time to come. General OBREGON is in happier vein when he says that CARRANZA's interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine was a "mistake," although he may have been sincere enough. General OBREGON would apparently co-operate with the United States in enforcing the doctrine, and accept its benefits without invidious distinctions. Yet he has been known to utter the same kind of opinions about the Americans that CARRANZA proclaimed, possibly for political effect.

The revolution has not been sanguinary, except in spots. General OBREGON says it has been "a moral and not an armed revolt." Private rights have been respected, he asserts. This seems almost too good to be true. Strict orders have been issued not to harm supporters of CARRANZA "physically." Nationals are to be protected, and no vengeance is to be taken upon CARRANZA or upon any one in his political household. All this is in the right spirit and commendable. Still it sounds un-Mexican. OBREGON himself has rivals for the Presidency, and Generals who have an ill reputation for honesty and humanity are in command of troops and a law unto themselves. However, they all know, and none better than OBREGON and GONZALEZ, that they must deal with an American President who will not extend recognition to Mexicans in power until they have proved themselves worthy of it.

STATEN ISLAND'S HOPE.

Transit Commissioner DELANEY yesterday produced several interesting plans for the relief of Staten Island's transit needs. One plan proposes one of the world's greatest bridges, greater than the bridge which it has not been found possible to build over the Hudson. It would be 160 feet high, 1,800 feet long and cost $100,000,000. There are half a dozen tunnel routes, costing $25,000,000 apiece, more or less. Sympathy with Richmond's troubles is genuine, and its backward condition is a loss to the city. But sympathy will not supply bridges or tunnels, and proposals on the Transit Commissioner's scale would meet a more promising reception if brought on a day when there was not also published a complaint that the city is in arrears of construction on its seven-year-old subway contracts. The only clause in those contracts which the city regards as binding is the one compelling the companies to charge a nickel fare, whatever the cost of providing the ride. That the same contract binds the city to complete the system, and that the city is forward in altering the contract in respects desired by the city, is so unknown to the city officials that the embarrassed partner is compelled to call the city's attention through the courts to slackness in its duty.

It is not mockery of Richmond to say that its best hope of either bridge or tunnel is through the completion of the dual subway system. When a fair fare makes the finished subways profitable the city will have resources at its disposal which should be earmarked as reserved for Richmond's benefit. The city faces an increase of tax valuations of a billion and more for the next budget, which will be the largest ever known, the result of an administration which was elected on a promise of economy, and which thus far has crippled the city's greatest earning asset, in either taxes or profits from operation. The rest of the city's obstruction to the completion and profitable operation of the dual subway, the Transit Commissioner's interesting plans must be regarded as no less enterprising than those of the genius who almost bought some steamships on a capital of $10. The present promise is that the city will make an assessment to cover a deficit before it allows the subways to earn profits for the benefit of Richmond.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Proposing to Rival Rochdale.

Up in Schenectady some employés of the General Electric Company—a thousand of them are interested in the plan—have undertaken to duplicate the success of the famous Rochdale weavers in co-operative buying and selling. In theory there is no reason why they should not do this. Indeed, there are reasons why they should, or might, be even more successful than the most notable of their predecessors in the elimination of the middleman from between consumer and producer.

The Rochdale weavers were few and they were almost desperately poor. The Schenectady men are numerous, their work is done in far better conditions, their wages are high, and in the very beginning of their experiment they can command an amount of capital that it took the earlier co-operators years and years to attain. The idea, too, is entirely practicable, as has been proved when carried out on a large scale in most of the European countries, including Russia under the Czar.

But Europe is not America and Europeans are not Americans. Hitherto co-operation of this sort has always been a failure here, sooner or later, and of the many attempts of one form or another that were made by American communities back in the middle of the nineteenth century to reduce living costs in this way, as an incident in the carrying out of other purposes, usually religious, the great majority ended in speedy disaster, while of the others only two or three now are lingering like pallid ghosts on the very edge of final disappearance.

The Schenectady proposal is much simpler than those just referred to, as its aims are purely economic, but that, judging by the past, by no means makes its prospects brighter.

Conditions Here Are Changed.

Probably the chief and most effective handicap of co-operative buying and selling in the United States has been the fact that life was comparatively easy here and the working classes could get along well enough in spite of paying profits to the middlemen. Successful co-operation requires, for a long time, at least, the doing by somebody of a lot of work for nothing, or for less than the market rate of labor, and it is also necessary that the work should be done as well as it is done by the ordinary shopkeepers. The middleman, after all, is not such a dreadful creature, taking him by and large, and what he does is an essential element of distribution. He is, in fact, the paid servant or agent of his customers, and in computing what the latter can save by getting rid of him they will deceive themselves unless they take into account the value of their own time and convenience, lost in performing the tasks now assumed by him.

But conditions have changed in this country, and the need to cut down living costs is constantly impressing itself on an increasing number of people. The prospects of co-operation here are therefore better than they formerly were, and it would be unsafe to predict that the present revival of the old plan will end in disaster and disappointment. What happens depends on the patience and persistence of the co-operators—on their willingness to take trouble in order to make small economies, and on the luck they have in finding for managers of their enterprise persons of exactly the right sort. They must combine intelligence with enthusiasm, and even these qualities will not be enough unless they are accompanied by practical business sense, which is just as much needed in co-operative as in the other sort of trading.

Genealogy Taught by Telephone.

"Fitzroy" is a name so unfamiliar to the ears of New Yorkers that a good many of them will wonder why it has been chosen by their telephone company as the name of its new central station over in the Greenwich Village region. And so wondering, they may be moved to read some history, both American and English.

Thereby will they learn that the station is named after a man who married one of the three daughters of Sir PETER WARREN, an enterprising sailor who brought here in the early days a lot of money gleaned from the waves in a manner then accounted honest, or honest enough, and invested his wealth in what was then uptown land. Perhaps the investigation, especially if the investigator be a Young Person, should end about there, for to continue it into the biography of CHARLES FITZROY, Baron SOUTHAMPTON, would lead far and deep into ancient scandals the revival of which makes more for interest than for edification. CHARLES FITZROY's great-grandmother was the very much too gay Duchess of CLEVELAND who figures so extensively in most stories about the Court of the most vivacious of the Stuarts, but her near-royal great-grandson was quite a "catch" for the daughter of a retired near-pirate, and was so considered in all except the stricter circles of New York society.

Probably he was neither the worse nor the better for his lineage, and at any rate there will be no mistaking his name for another when it is spoken over the telephone.

Profiteers Sent Home Early.

Political reasons, rather than a desire to save coal, it seems, have moved the French Government to enforce early closing on Paris. It is not deemed judicious to have the people who go to work early in the morning pass other people going home after the hilarious spending of much money in all-night restaurants, for that, the Wise Ones in authority believe, would increase to a dangerous degree a popular discontent with existing conditions that is already sufficiently disquieting.

For Paris, like other cities, has its representatives of the class enriched instead of impoverished by the war, and its members, there as elsewhere, lack both the sense and the caution that would prevent them from making a contrast too obvious between their habits and those of the multitudes who find life after the war something of a struggle.

Early closing of the gay resorts may help to conceal the extravagance of profiteers, but it will not be stopped by a device so simple.

An Army for Armenia.

Every American must have read with grateful feelings the letters which appeared in THE TIMES Sunday last urging our Government to accept the mandate for Armenia.

The sympathy for the Armenian people has been so widespread that if it were not for the American lives which of necessity will be sacrificed during the period of pacification the opposition to the mandate might not be strong.

We understand it will not be right and may be objectionable to many of us to send the men of our National Army to adjust the conditions for which we are not responsible. But why not organize a new army for service in Armenia, advertising it as such at the army recruiting stations, so that those who enlist will be doing so voluntarily?

I am sure we will be able to raise an army large enough to cope with the situation in Armenia, and those who enlist will certainly be mostly Armenians, with few of other nationalities, including Americans, who will enlist by feeling of sympathy or for love of adventure. Therefore, the mandate will have none of the appearance of having been forced upon the unwilling section of the American people.

As to the financial sacrifices which have been topics for discussion, those sacrifices will only be for a short period of time. Armenia, with her vast undeveloped mining and agricultural resources and with her possibilities as a centre of trade, being situated at the junction of Asia and Europe, and finally with her man power capable to attain the highest culture, will compensate us for those sacrifices.

The United States undertaking the Armenian mandate may be the cause of preventing another war.

We must not forget that the World War, from whose effects we have not recovered yet, started in the Balkans. The world has become so interdependent that we cannot fold our arms and look indifferently on what is happening in other parts of the world.
DR. D. P. BENDER.
New York, May 10, 1920.

Thanks of the Japanese Mission.

Will you permit me through the medium of THE NEW YORK TIMES to express my gratitude for the kindness and attention shown me and the members of my party, when, as the Honorary Japanese Commercial Mission, we visited your city with the object of making an investigation of commercial and industrial affairs and with the hope of establishing much more intimate business relations between our two countries. On that occasion you not only accorded me and the members of my party a most kind welcome, but afforded us every facility and opportunity to make our visit of profit to us, for which I have no adequate words to express my appreciation. Though our stay in your city was rather short, we could observe the actual state of affairs, which affords us not a little benefit.

I return convinced that, in order to maintain the peace of the world and to promote the happiness of mankind, there is no other way but for every country to enter into friendly relations in full concord and with one heart, and one way to accomplish this is to make our business relations still more intimate.
R. YAMASHINA.
Tokio, April 10, 1920.

Teachers' Pensions.

For the retired teacher, who went out under the old pension system, that is, half of a very meagre salary, now reduced to one-fourth or less by the high cost of living, there seemed no future until the letter in the Sunday TIMES of April 25. The writer, Mr. John Y. Culyer, a member of the original Committee on Pensions, understands the situation and calls attention to our needs. I wish to thank him publicly. A few others like himself might put a movement on foot to better our condition a little during these hard times.

Faithful and devoted public servants, we gave the strength of our best years to what is universally recognized as the highest work of Americanization. Now that the teachers still in the system are being justly dealt with, I hope we will not be entirely forgotten.
A RETIRED TEACHER.

Native and Foreign-Born Candidates

A tabulation in today's issue shows that 96 out of 156 delegates to the Socialist Convention were born in the United States. It also reveals that so far as the New York State delegates are concerned, only 9 were born in the United States while 15 were born in foreign countries. The birth place of two is stated "unknown."

In November last the National Security League compiled similar statistics with respect to the candidates of all the political parties for the offices which were voted upon by the citizens of New York City. It was found that the Democratic and Republican Parties had nominated candidates 86 per cent. of whom had been born in the United States. The Socialists had nominated candidates of whom 55 per cent. were born in foreign countries, the leading one of which was Russia, with 34 per cent.

Peace Before a Bonus.

The first duty of Congress is to provide for those incapacitated in the war and their dependents. The next is to fulfill the promise made to the volunteers of 1917 that this was a war to end wars. Our country has not taken the measures promised, and the situation is fraught with danger. Three times we have been dragged into European wars, and we still, like the ostrich, seem to think we can escape by hiding our head in the sand. We shall be embroiled again unless the peaceful inclinations of the more civilized nations curb the aggressiveness and armaments of the more belligerent. The whole matter of a bonus can well await the attainment of our object in entering the war, the drafting of a bill that does substantial justice to all who served and a time when economic conditions of the country will warrant its passage.

THE FOOTLIGHTS.

They dance all day, the daffodils,
In yellow frocks and fluffy frills.
Their partner is the satyr breeze
That smites the oak tree's knobby knees,
And pipes a little haunting tune
It learned from Pan beneath the moon
When Spring was never coy or cold,
And all the world was blue and gold.

The tulips light their crimson lamps;
Like incandescents, row on row,
Along the winding walks they glow,
Illuminating every bed
With lambent globes of vivid red—
The footlights for the daffodils

£28,350 FOR A ROMNEY.

LONDON, May 14.—British pictures which had belonged to Earl Waldegrave, Lord Methuen and others realized high prices at Christie's today.

The most conspicuous was Romney's portrait of Sir Christopher and Lady Sykes, painted in 1785. It represents them setting out for an evening walk. Romney received 140 guineas for it in 1793. The bidding today began at 10,000 guineas and, amid great excitement, the portrait, which was sold by order of the executors of Sir Mark Sykes, was knocked down for 27,000 guineas (about $108,000 at present exchange rates).

Among other sales were the following: Raeburn's Lady Belhaven, 9,500 guineas; Nattier's Lord Brooke, 3,500 guineas; Raeburn's Mrs. Morley, 3,500 guineas; Reynolds's Francis Bassett, 2,000 guineas.

Fine old damask brought the top price at the sale of ancient Spanish art, the collection of Pedro Ruiz, at the Clarke Galleries yesterday, going to H. Blackmer for $3,220. There were 558 yards of this, Seventeenth century, red, with galoons and fringes, from a convent at Castile. It was No. 589 in the catalogue.

An interesting Sixteenth century iron pot with rings, No. 519, went to Stanley Mortimer for $225, and an Eighteenth century French picture, No. 477, "Lady in a Flowered Dress," to Mrs. F. A. Powell for $575. No. 472, a Sixteenth century Salamanca bargueno, with carved legs, was bought by Mrs. William Braden for $475. W. R. Hearst was a large buyer, paying $1,300 for No. 596, a Fifteenth century carved walnut chair of Gothic design; $600 for No. 592, a Thirteenth century figure of St. Peter, in stone; $525 for No. 583, a Renaissance iron lattice with crest; $950 for No. 568, a Spanish Renaissance carpet with coat of arms, and $325 for No. 422, a Seventeenth century velvet arm chair finished with large headed nails.

A primitive painting representing St. John, a panel in carved and gilded frame, went to Woodward, agent, for $575; to Mme. Keller went No. 516, two large Renaissance candlesticks in iron, animal design, for $550; a Sixteenth century red velvet banner embroidered in gold, with figures of the Virgin and Child, No. 91, went to A. A. Smith for $330; No. 428, an Eighteenth century red lacquer desk with Chinese designs, to Mrs. H. R. Halricht for $300; a Gothic primitive, "The Calvary," on a panel, sold to Henry, agent, for $350, and Joseph Brummer paid $605 for No. 450, a Sixteenth century carved and polychromed altar frontal with a design of St. John the Baptist.

Returns for the afternoon were $30,945, making a grand total to date of $53,449. The sale will be continued this afternoon and throughout the coming week.

DISCUSS PAPER PRICE FIXING

Walsh Attacks Wartime Agreement —Hyman Defends It.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The agreement between the Department of Justice and print paper manufacturers by which the Federal Trade Commission was to fix print paper prices during the war was attacked and defended today before the Senate Paper Investigating Committee.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, a Democratic member of the committee, said the agreement was "a confession of weakness" by the Government that it could not control profiteering. He added that while the agreement was to remain effective until three months after peace, testimony had been given in executive session by Department of Justice officials and representatives of the Federal Trade Commission that the agreement was not being lived up to.

Mark Hyman, of New York, one of the Government's attorneys in the prosecution of print paper manufacturers in 1917, defended the agreement, declaring it was the best that could be obtained at that time. Publishers, Mr. Hyman said, were "very well pleased with it," as it had saved them from "an intolerable situation" and prevented "extortionate charges" being asked for paper. The agreement, by authorizing the commission to fix paper prices, he said, also fixed a standard for prices to be prescribed in special contracts.

Asked by Senator Walsh as to whether there was any way by which the Government could compel the manufacturers to live up to the agreement, Mr. Hyman said if the Government could prove there was coercion by the manufacturers to compel the consumers to accept their prices the Government could interefere.

The committee adjourned until Monday, when several manufacturers are expected to testify.

TO CONTROL AIR NAVIGATION.

Baker Asks for a Commission to Regulate Operation of All Craft.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Creation of a commission of representatives of various Government departments to regulate air navigation in this country is proposed in a bill introduced today by Chairman Kahn of the House Military Committee, at the request of Secretary Baker, who said his request was made at the direction of President Wilson. The bill was designed, Mr. Baker said, to obtain uniform regulation of aircraft throughout the United States.

The commission would have the authority to draft regulations for the operation of all aircraft, commercial or military, and issue licenses to operators and owners, which might be held only by American citizens or American-owned corporations. Failure to comply with the regulations would be subject to fine and imprisonment. Regulations of the commission, however, would not become operative until approved by the Secretary of Commerce.

The personnel of the commission would be limited to one representative from the Departments of State, Treasury, Commerce, War, Post Office, Navy and Agriculture, and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. Selection would be made by the President.

AFFECTS CANADIAN PRICES.

Freight Prepayment Here Will Increase Cost of Imports There.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The order requiring prepayment of freight to destination on all shipments to Canadian points, promulgated by most American railways on May 1, will have a far-reaching effect on prices of commodities imported from this country, according to the American Consulate at Kingston.

Before the order went into effect Canadian importers paid for the Canadian haul in their own currency. The Consulate estimates that the order will mean an increase on some lines of $12 for each $100 of freight charges because of the present rate of exchange against Canada.

The railways also were said to have notified importers that they would refuse trans-shipment at border points, by which the Canadian haul might be paid for in Dominion currency.

Liners to Carry Mail for Coblenz.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—To expedite delivery of mail to American military forces in Germany military mail hereafter would be dispatched on commercial liners in addition to army transports, Representative Minahan, Republican, of New Jersey, was informed today by the War Department in answer to a complaint about delays in the movement of the mail.

THRONGS IN ROME FOR CANONIZATIONS

POPE HAILED IN ST. PETER'S

Cardinal O'Connell Attends Canonization of Gabriel Possenti and Marie Alacoque.

ROME, May 14.—In the last two weeks Rome has been assuming a pre-war aspect, owing to the presence of thousands of pilgrims who have come to be present at the canonization of Joan of Arc and the beatification of Oliver Plunkett.

Hotels, boarding houses and other places are all crowded, and many of the foreign visitors have been accommodated in villages situated on the nearby Alban hills, with special trains running back and forth. Long lines of carriages filled to the utmost file through the city, stopping at the chief places of interest, much to the joy of the guides, who can hardly believe that their good luck is a reality after so many years of unemployment.

Shops in the centre of the city exhibit articles for souvenirs with which they hope to attract the attention of the guests. The restaurants are filled with French and English speaking people.

If it were not for war restrictions still existing, one might believe that the war had been a nightmare, and that the tourists, who formed one of Italy's most profitable "industries," had never ceased to come here.

In St. Peter's huge wooden tribunes have been set up in the centre of the church for the diplomatic corps and specially invited guests. Gorgeous damask hangings with golden fringe decorate the walls.

Canonizations in St. Peter's.

ROME, May 13, (Associated Press).—Solemn ceremonies for the canonization of Gabriel Possenti and Marie Alacoque were held in St. Peter's today.

Pope Benedict was carried in the chair of state to the Cathedral, being surrounded by a gorgeous retinue of ecclesiastics, officials of the civil and military courts of the Vatican, members of the Sacred College, Archbishops, Bishops, Roman nobility and general officers of religious orders. Swiss Guards preceded the procession as it went from the Vatican to the scene of the ceremonies.

When the procession entered the Cathedral the choir sang "Ave Maria Stella." The basilica was crowded with about 50,000 invited guests.

Pope Benedict's throne was in the apse behind the high altar. He preceded the canonization ceremonies by intoning a hymn. After he had pronounced the formula for canonization and inscribed the names of the new saints in the sacred roll, the Pontiff intoned a Te Deum while the bells announced the happy event.

Later Pope Benedict celebrated mass, and then, with the same gorgeous procession, returned to his apartments in the Vatican.

Cardinal O'Connell of Boston was present for the first time as a Cardinal at a ceremony for canonization. He received many greetings from his colleagues, who expressed satisfaction that they had with them a representative from America.

Gabriel Possenti, one of the Passionist Fathers, was renowned for his "sanctity and miracles." He was born at Assisi, Italy, on March 1, 1838, and died Feb. 27, 1862. He was buried at Isola di Gran Sasso.

Marguerite Marie Alacoque was a French nun of the late seventeenth century. She was the founder of the worship of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

FERDINAND DEFERS VISIT.

Rumanian King and Queen Plan United States Tour Next Spring.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 12 (Associated Press).—King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania have decided to postpone their visit to the United States until next Spring. Problems facing this country are so numerous and serious, the King said today, that he was unable to go away.

"After Queen Marie and I visit Bessarabia and pay official calls at some European capitals," said the King, "we will be able to plan our trip to America, to which we are both looking forward with great pleasure."

Queen Marie, who was present during the interview, remarked that the American people "would have no time to receive a Queen while busy selecting a President. I think next Spring would be a better time to go to the United States," she added. "King Ferdinand and myself desire to study economic conditions there, and we want to see how your Government is carried on, and how you run your great railroads, business organizations, charitable institutions and public enterprises. I am personally much interested in the women of America, who have been so good to my country. I want to thank them in person for all the help they gave us, through the Red Cross and other relief societies. The Federation of Women's Clubs has invited me to be its guest."

Senate Committee Reports Measure Adding $13,000000 for Air Service.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—After providing for an appropriation of $40,000,000 for the army air service, an increase of about $13,000,000 over the House bill, the Senate Military Committee today ordered the annual army appropriation bill favorably reported.

As finally agreed on the bill carries $418,919,141, an increase of $42,153,317 over the House measure.

No changes were made in the House provisions relating to the National Guard. An appropriation of $10,210,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over the House bill, was provided for the Ordnance Department. The appropriation for the Military Intelligence Bureau was increased from $100,000 to $400,000.

One amendment authorizes American school teachers in Porto Rico and Hawaii to be brought back to the United States on army transports during vacation months. Another allows army transports, when space is available, to carry civilian passengers and cargo.

FRENCH REDS TELL OF AMERICAN OFFER

TARDIEU DENIES NOTICE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 14.—Andre Tardieu, who as the right-hand man of former Premier Clemenceau had official knowledge of the important affairs of the Clemenceau Government, said this afternoon that it was not true that Jouhaux, President of the General Confederation of Labor, had presented to the French Government an offer from an American of "tens of billions" for reconstructing devastated France.

Fighting against the dissolution of the confederation, decided on by the Government because its leaders in calling political strikes were hindering the recovery of France, Jouhaux has declared that at an international labor conference held in America last Fall under the auspices of the League of Nations a delegation of the confederation received offers of enormous aid to France provided the confederation stood morally responsible for the loans and was given a voice in the use of them. Jouhaux contended that he placed this proposition before the French Government and that it was spurned. The purpose of his argument was to show that the confederation is not working against the economic recovery of France.

Jouhaux's statement aroused more than passing interest, because it was felt here that no such offer could have been made without the knowledge or consent of the American Government.

"Jouhaux is fantastic," said M. Tardieu. "It is simply a piece of propaganda. It is not believable that the American Government or business men would use the confederation as a medium for making an investment in France or of extending loans to France. Certainly no such offer was presented to the French Government, as Jouhaux says."

Johaux's story appears in Humanite, the organ of the radical labor leaders. It says:

"It is pretended that the Confederation creates social disorder and thereby hinders the recovery of our provinces of the north and causes France to lose her foreign credit. However, one lone fact shows that the Confederation, far from ruining the country, is able to give it that credit which its leaders cannot get.

"The Confederation which it is wished to dissolve received after its delegation went to America an offer which it presented to the Government and which consisted of financial and technical aid for the reconstruction of the devastated regions. Tens of billions, technical aid, raw materials and machinery were put at the disposition of France for reconstruction work with all guarantees for the French interests on the sole condition that the Confederation, representing labor, bear the moral responsibility to the lenders, in return for which it would have a part in the control and expenditure, as well as its share of the responsibility.

"The Government informed of this offer opened an official inquiry, which showed that the importance and competence of those making these offers were sound and serious.

"What did the Government do with regard to this opportunity to establish financial soundness between the two great nations? It did nothing, preferring bankruptcy in the best form of bourgeois orthodoxy, than prosperity brought by labor."

At the headquarters of the Confederation the statement as published by Humanite was repeated to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent today, but all the details were refused. The only information given as to who proposed to lend the money was that it was "a financial group."

To the question as to whether American labor leaders were concerned in the matter the reply was, "it would appear that they knew of it."

Since the offer is supposed to have been made the French Government has changed and none of the present Ministers were then in power. The new Ministers therefore are not in a position to state whether the offer was ever received, but at the Quai d'Orsay the answer was given that if it had been made it was inevitable that it should be refused, as, from whomever it came and whether or not sanctioned by the United States Government, it invilved interference with the internal affairs and the management of the country.

TO CONTINUE RELIEF DRIVE.

Sum Needed for Jewish War Sufferers Not Yet Subscribed.

The campaign for $7,500,000 for the relief of Jewish war sufferers in Central and Eastern Europe officially came to a close last night with the sum needed far from subscribed. In the belief that tardy contributions would swell the total and the conviction that no less amount would serve to avert the appalling conditions which threaten to engulf 6,000,000 people, it was decided to continue informally until the full amount is realized.

There will be no more meetings at the Hotel Biltmore, but the committees will meet at the headquarters at 389 Fifth Avenue, where Paul Barewald, the Treasurer, still will receive subscriptions.

These contributions were announced yesterday:

'MASQUE OF CLOISTERS' IN OLD WORLD SETTING

"A Masque of the Cloisters" and the Paulist Choristers in early church music, were the features of a benefit entertainment given yesterday afternoon in the studio of the sculptor, George Grey Barnard, 190th Street and Fort Washington Avenue The program will be repeated today and tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the proceeds to go to the French War Orphans through the American Ouvroir Funds, of which Mrs. Henry P. Loomis is Chairman.

The setting for the masque was unusual, as the sculptor has set up the remains of two eleventh century monasteries of southern France in his studio, which formed an effective Old World background. In the masque one of the old statues imported by Mr. Barnard appeared to come to life. The early church music was arranged by Father Finn, who directed the choristers.

This is the first entertainment which the committee has put on, the funds heretofore being raised through individual effort. It sends over an average of $30,000 a month for the education of fatherless French children. The studio is opened at 2:30 o'clock, an hour before the program begins.

Among the patronesses for the benefit, besides Mrs. Loomis, are Mrs. Lyttleton Fox, Mrs. Henry H. Rogers, Mrs. Frederick R. Childs, Mrs. Grosvenor Nicholas, Mrs. Edward Weld, Mrs. Caril Tucker, Mrs. Joseph Stevens, Mrs. Anson Beard, Mrs. Adrian Iselin, Mrs. William D. Guthrie and Mrs. William Mitchell.

TREATED GREATEST SINGERS

His Discovery of Method of Vibration of Vocal Cords Enabled Him to Cure Knot-Like Formations.

Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis, who for more than a generation has borne a national reputation as an expert in diseases of the throat and nose, died yesterday at his residence in the Wyoming apartment house, Seventh Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, after a long illness of diabetes with complications. He had been confined to his bed since January, but the fact that he was seriously ill was not generally known until last month.

He was born in this city Dec. 15, 1856, the son of Judge William Edmond Curtis. After graduating from Yale in 1877 he attended the Medical School of that university, receiving his professional degree three years later. There followed a period of post-graduate work in Europe, including hospitals in Vienna and Paris.

At a time in the history of medical practice when specialists were not so common as they are today, Dr. Curtis decided to make his particular field of research and labor that of laryngology and rhinology. It was due to the former of these two specialties that he became so well known to the general public. His discovery of the method of vibration of the vocal chords and his application of this knowledge to the cure of nodules, or knotlike formations, in the throats of singers, brought to him as patients the greatest opera singers in the world. His study walls were covered with the photographs of most of the operatic celebrities of today, and some of yesterday, who testified to their gratitude for his skill.

Dr. Curtis was a visiting surgeon at the New York Throat, Nose and Lung Hospital, consulting otologist to the Nassau County Hospital, consulting laryngologist to the Minturn Diphtheria and Scarlet Fever Hospital. He was a Fellow of the Royal Medical Society of England, a former President of the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otological Society, a member of the American College of Surgeons. He was the author of "Voice Building and Tone Placing." He had a great interest in sociology, and was Vice President of the American Social Science Association and Secretary of the National Institute of Social Sciences. His office was at 130 West 59th St.

Dr. Curtis was an Episcopalian. Among his clubs were the Union, University, Church, Calumet and Garden City Golf. His wife, to whom he was married in 1884, was Miss Josephine Allen of Brooklyn. She survives as does their only child, Miss Marjorie A. Curtis of 85 East Fifty-sixth Street. William Edmond Curtis of 399 Park Avenue, a lawyer, is a brother. Funeral services will be held at St. Thomas's Church, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street, Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be at Watertown, Conn.

L. G. Erskine to Wed in Montreal.

The marriage of Louis Gillespie Erskine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Erskine of 155 Riverside Drive, and Miss Miriam Wilkes Birks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Birks of Montreal, will take place next Tuesday in the American Presbyterian Church of that city. Several of the attendants will go from this city. Mr. Erskine was in his junior year at Princeton when he enlisted in the Naval Reserve. Later he was instructor in the machine gun division of aviation at Princeton.

Miss Sarah W. Mitchell Engaged.

Mrs. John Kearsley Mitchell announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Sarah Worthington Mitchell, to Dent William Macdonough of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Macdonough. ## HENRY C. KELSEY DIES AT 82.

He Served as Secretary of State of New Jersey for 27 Years.

TRENTON, N. J., May 14.—Henry C. Kelsey, Vice President of the Mechanics National Bank of this city, and who for twenty-seven years was Secretary of State of New Jersey, died in his apartment in the Trenton House early tonight of pneumonia. He was in his eighty-third year and had no near relatives.

In 1870 Mr. Kelsey was first appointed Secretary of State for New Jersey, to serve an unexpired term, by Governor Randolph. Upon completion of this term Mr. Kelsey who was a Democrat, was reappointed, and his appointment was confirmed by a Republican Senate.

In 1861 Mr. Kelsey bought The New Jersey Herald and The Sussex Democrat. He merged the publications and later sold out to an association.

DAVID KESSLER DIES; NOTED YIDDISH ACTOR

David Kessler, one of the leading Yiddish actors in the United States, star and manager of Kessler's Second Avenue Theatre, died yesterday afternoon in the Beth Israel Hospital, at 70 Jefferson Street, in his sixty-first year. He had been removed to the hospital Wednesday night after being stricken with a severe intestinal ailment during a performance at the Lyric Theatre in Brooklyn, of Jacob Gordin's dramatization of Tolstoy's "Kreutzer Sonata." An operation was performed and Thursday he rallied, only to suffer a permanent relapse yesterday. He had recently moved into an apartment at 65 Fort Washington Avenue.

Mr. Kessler was born in Russia and began his dramatice career in 1882 in that country, only three years after the Yiddish stage came into being. The following year performances were banned throughout Russia and Kessler and his company of actors emigrated to Rumania, where there we no such restrictions. There they playved in many towns, such as Jassy, Braila and Galatz, names that were made familiar to us during the war.

In 1886 he came to this country and ever since he had been identified with the Yiddish stage in New York. He appeared in the principal theatres of the sort on the lower east side, such as the Thalia, the People's and the Windsor. His rôles were many and varied, embracing such contrasted characters as Othello and Robert Hilliard's part in a Yiddish version of "A Fool There Was."

It was David Kessler who brought Mme. Kalich to this country and presented her at his theatre. His choice met the hearty approval of the east side. During one engagement of four weeks the receipts were $60,000.

But the Yiddish actor-manager was obliged to overcome obstacles that only recently have faced the Broadway producers. Except the janitors and scrubwomen every one connected with the Yiddish theatres belongs to a union. The actors' organization, for example, exacts a contract for a 38 weeks' season and stipulates that a certain number of dressers be employed. Kessler stated that another difficulty was the necessity of satisfying an extremely cosmopolitan audience, gathered from all corners of the earth. He stated that a play to be successful on his stage must have a universal appeal. Allegories, such as "Everywoman," were likely to be well received.

A characteristic demonstration by the inhabitants of the east side is expected at the funeral, which will be held Sunday morning under the auspices of the Jewish Actors' Club.

WOOD FOR BEVERIDGE AS CONVENTION HEAD

Supporters Will Fight Move to Make Borah Permanent Chairman.

LEADERS SEEKING PEACE

Contest Might Cost Johnson Progressive Support—Managers Go to Washington.

Supporters of General Leonard Wood will put up a vigorous fight in the Republican convention if an attempt is made to have Senator Hiram W. Johnson's friend and "bitter end" confrère, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, elected Permanent Chairman. They want ex-United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge.

There will be no opposition by the Wood men to Senator Lodge for Temporary Chairman. Both Colonel William Cooper Procter and Frank H. Hitchcock are on record as favoring Senator Lodge for the keynote speech.

The permanent chairmanship of the convention was discussed by General Wood and his managers in this city earlier in the week. It will come up again in Washington—now the Mecca of pre-convention strategists.

The Republican leaders are bending every effort to prevent a fight on any important question, short of nominations, on the floor of the convention, and managers of the various candidates have been summoned to Washington to talk things over. Congressman Norman J. Gould and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, General Wood's Eastern managers left for Washington yesterday.

It was said yesterday at the Wood headquarters in the Hotel Imperial, that ex-Senator Beveridge "ought to be acceptable" to the supporters of Senator Johnson. While that may have been true a week ago, it is less likely now, since Mr. Beveridge as one of the Big Four in the Indiana delegation will come to the convention instructed to vote for General Wood as long as he seems to have a chance. Even though ex-Senator Beveridge undoubtedly is trusted by the friends of Senator Johnson to wield the gaven with impartiality, his selection as Permanent Chanrman would have too much the appearance of a victory for General Wood to be relished by the Californian.

Contest Difficult for Johnson.

On the other hand, it was pointed out yesterday, the friends of Senator Johnson would find themselves in a very difficult position if forced to make a fight against the selection of the former Senator from Indiana. Like General Wood, Senator Johnson claims to be the political legatee of the late Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Where General Wood's claim is justified on the ground of close personal relationship, Senator Johnson lays claim to the title on the ground that he was Colonel Roosevelt's running mate in the Bull Moose campaign of 1912.

But on the strength of his former Progressive affiliation Senator Johnson has contended with General Wood in bidding for the support of Progressives who have returned to the Republican fold. Ex-Senator Beveridge is one of their number. In the Progressive Party councils he occupied a position rivaling in importance that of Senator Johnson. It is conceded that if the supporters of Senator Johnson can be manoeuvred into a position by the friends of General Wood, where they must make a fight on ex-Senator Beveridge, it may result in swinging much of the Progressive support to General Wood.

Wood Women Bring Good News.

Good reports regarding the progress of the work for General Wood was received at a meeting held yesterday by the Women's Division of the Leonard Wood Eastern Campaign Committee in the Hotel Imperial. Miss Julianna Cutting presided and Mrs. Edward Van Zile, Mrs. Joel Swift, Miss Mary Hatch Willard, Mrs. Alice M. Kelley and others spoke.

Miss Alice Matthews representing Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel, Chairman of the Woman's Leonard Wood Committee in Pennsylvania; Mrs. Gehin, Chairman of the Woman's Wood Committee in New Jersey and Miss Hoyt, of Stamford, representing the Connecticut women organized to work for the nomination of General Wood, were in attendance and made encouraging reports regarding the prospects of support from those States in the convention for General Wood.

Among women from this State who attended were Mrs. Charles S. Francis of Troy, Mrs. H. Kassebaum, Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, Mrs. Joseph H. Sears, Mrs. J. H. Willets, Mrs. E. B. Maynard, Mrs. Frank Farnam, Mrs. Carl Hanna, Mrs. Frank G. Van Loan, Mrs. G. Vernon Rogers and Mrs. John McWilliams Berry.

Word came to the Hoover headquarters in this city yesterday that in response to his telegram to the leaders of his movement in Oregon, they had given up their fight on his behalf in the primaries and instead had concentrated their efforts on the defeat of Senator Johnson. The following message from Chester G. Murphy and O. C. Leiter, heads of the Hoover organization on the Pacific Coast, was made public:

"Your telegram of today received and, subordinating our desires, we shall follow your wishes and stop our campaign on your behalf in the Oregon Republican primary and will, as requested by you, devote our energy toward influencing the people of the State of Oregon to choose only delegates to the Republican National Convention who are committed to the League of Nations with Senate reservations."

A Hoover Committee was formed yesterday in Brooklyn, with Dr. Louis C. Ager as President, Mrs. William P. Earle, Jr., as Vice President, and Frederic B. Pratt as Chairman of the Executive Committee. The committee has opened headquarters at 185 Montague Street.

HARDING FOR PEACE NOW.

Senator Tells Boston Club Theory Could Be Discussed Afterward.

BOSTON, May 14.—America demands peace, formal as well as actual, and means to have it, regardless of political exigencies and campaign issues, Senator Harding of Ohio, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, declared in an address here tonight before the Home Market Club.

"If it must be a campaign issue," he said, "we should have peace and discuss it afterward, because the actuality is imperative and the theory is only illusive. Then we may set our own house in order. We challenged the proposal that an armed autocrat should dominate the world; it ill becomes us to assume that a rhetorical autocrat shall direct all humanity.

"This Republic has its ample tasks. If we put an end to false economics which lure economic control to utter chaos, ours will be the commanding example of world leadership today. The world needs to be reminded that all human ills are not curable by legislation.

Less agitation and more thrift is needed in the United States, the Senator said.

Davenport to Stick to State Senate.

UTICA, N. Y., May 14.—State Senator Frederick M. Davenport, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Governor or United States Senator, eliminated himself from consideration for these offices today by announcing that he will run for re-election as State Senator.

SAYS SIMS ROBBED OUR NAVY OF CREDIT

Daniels Asserts Reviewing of Our U-Boat Battles by British Was Unfair to Our Men.

DENIES PROLONGING WAR

FLEET READY, HE ASSERTS

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Rear Admiral Sims robbed American destroyer crews of credit due them by leaving the investigation of combats with submarines to the British Admiralty, Secretary Daniels told the Senate Naval Investigating Committee today. Had he known, he declared, that American officers were not reviewing the circumstances of battles between American vessels and U-boats, he would have peremptorily ordered the Admiral to adopt that course.

Admiralty reports and awards of credit to the Americans were accepted by Admiral Sims, Mr. Daniels said, although the British demanded absolutely conclusive proof before giving credit for the sinking of a submarine in the case of an American vessel, while using a less rigorous standard in the case of British ships.

Out of 256 attacks on submarines by American vessels, the British gave the United States forces credit for but twenty-four successful attacks, most of which were listed as "possibly slightly damaged," said Secretary Daniels. In only one case was full credit for the sinking of a U-boat given an American ship, he declared, this being the destroyer Fanning, which sunk the U-58 and captured the crew.

"In explaining why so few credits were given for known sinkings," said Mr. Daniels, "the summary compiled by Admiral Sims states that unless prisoners or unmistakable wreckage were obtained following an attack it was practically impossible to definitely determine the results. That prisoners or wreckage were not absolutely required before a vessel was credited with sinking a submarine is shown by the reports from the British Admiralty records of cases classed as known sunk."

Gives British Methods.

The Secretary then read records of encounters between British ships and submarines, in which credit was given for sinking the U-boat, although neither prisoners nor wreckage were obtained.

"I do not blame the British," said Mr. Daniels. "They were looking out for themselves properly, but I do blame Admiral Sims for not protecting American interests. The United States Navy is not accustomed to having others decide what credits shall be awarded to its men and vessels, and I know of no instance in which any other navy has allowed this."

"Admiral Sims's own reports refuted the charge made in his letter of Jan. 7 that destroyers were rushed through brief and inadequate preparation before being sent abroad," the Secretary said. He read extracts from Admiral Sims's reports as follows:

"Our ships made no demands of consequence upon the navy yard facilities after arriving, in spite of the length of their passage under adverse conditions.

"Contrary to expectations they were found to be well equipped for their prospective duty with the exception of depth charges.

"The equipment and construction of our ships has proved adequate and efficient."

Turning to Admiral Sims's criticism that the navy was unprepared for war in April, 1917, Mr. Daniels said that Admiral Jellicoe's book on the battle of Jutland showed that not even the British navy, expecting every minute a decisive battle, could be kept 100 per cent. perfect. He quoted at length from the Jellicoe book to show that the British fleet had deficiencies and weaknesses that surprised the British people and that the Germans were actually superior in destroyer strength. The American navy was not perfect, he said, but avoided many costly mistakes by taking to heart the experiences of other allies.

Says Navy Was Prepared.

Proof of the Navy Department's efforts to prepare for war, Mr. Daniels declared, was contained in the recommendations for appropriations from 1913 to 1917, and the organization in 1915 of the Naval Consulting Board with Thomas A. Edison at its head.

"The charge of the prolongation of the war," said the Secretary, "was made with reckless disregard of the facts and the reasoning and statistics adduced in its support are those which one might expect to find in the fantastic tales of a Baron Munchausen."

Admiral Sims based his estimate of an unnecessary loss of 500,000 lives on an average loss for the Allies of 3,000 men a day, Mr. Daniels said.

"The loss of 3,000 men a day for four months falls short of half a million, but, of course, half a million sounds more impressive than the figure which would have been arrived at by correct arithmetic," the Secretary declared.

Points to Transportation of Troops.

The Admiral based the charge on the assumption that had there been a million American soldiers in France by March, 1918, the war would have ended four months sooner, Mr. Daniels said, and completed the reasoning by assuming that the tonnage losses of 1917 prevented carrying that number of troops overseas by that date and that failure of the American navy to co-operate heartily in the first months of the war resulted in the heavy tonnage losses.

"It is not necessary to wander far into the realm of statistics or technical questions to show the absolute fallacy of Admiral Sims's claim," Mr. Daniels said. "He informed the committee that the net tonnage available for the Allies May 1, 1917, was 27,000,000 tons. It is a matter of common knowledge that on May 1, 1915, the tonnage was less than on May 1, 1917. Testimony given by Admiral Sims would indicate that the net loss during the year was about 2,000,000 tons. This is probably a sufficiently close estimate for practical purposes. Now, then, owing to the tonnage losses of 1917 and the early part of 1918, the net tonnage available to the Allies had been reduced from 27,000,000 on May 1, 1917, to 25,000,000 on May 1, 1918. Yet it is admitted by Admiral Sims that in the Spring of 1918 American troops were transported to France at the rate of nearly 300,000 a month, or more than ten times the rate to which he said transportation had been restricted in 1917 because of the destruction of tonnage. This simple fact refutes absolutely Admiral Sims's statement that the tonnage losses of 1917 made it "impossible to transport any considerable American army," and made it "necessary to limit the number of American troops that could be sent abroad during the first year to an average of approximately 25,000 men per month."

There never was a time, the witness said, when tonnage was not available to carry troops and supplies to France as fast as they could be landed and transported to the front, although it was "only by extreme exertions that this was done during the rush of troops in April."

Contends Navy Shortened War.

"As a matter of fact, the American Army materially shortened the war," said Secretary Daniels. "It got to the front as soon as it was humanly possible, not by a chance, but as a result of careful plans involving complete co-operation between the army and navy, carefully carried out."

Mr. Daniels quoted Field Marshal Haig as saying that the British armies were unable to intervene in sufficient strength adequately to assist the Allies until nearly two years had elapsed. The war was over nineteen months after the United States entered the war, he said, adding, "no one can deny that within fifteen months after our entry the American Army was in sufficient strength 'adequately to assist the Allies.'"

In this connection he asked the committee to consider that American troops and supplies had to be transported across 3,000 miles of seas, while Great Britain was "within sound of the guns."

Referring to Admiral Sims's charge that the war was prolonged by the failure to rush destroyers to the Queenstown base, Mr. Daniels said:

"We sent six there before Admiral Sims suggested sending any, and by July we had 34 out of our possible 50 in that 'critical area.' If it was necessary to concentrate all our destroyers immediately at that point to prevent the loss of 500,000 lives and $15,000,000,000 all fairminded men will ask: 'Why did not the British Navy concentrate its destroyers at that "critical area" and thus help save all these lives and these billions of dollars? What did the British Admiralty do with reference to that "critical area" in those days when shipping was being sunk so fast?' Admiral Sims has told you that they actually withdrew their destroyers from that 'critical area' when our destroyers arrived at a time when tonnage was being sunk at the peak of destruction in the region around Queenstown base."

Kemal Condemned to Death; Two Other Turks Sentenced

LONDON, May 14.—Mustapha Kemal, leader of Turkish Nationalist forces in Asia Minor, was condemned to death at an extraordinary court-martial held in Constantinople on Wednesday, according to a dispatch from the Turkish capital to the Exchange Telegraph Company. As he did not appear for trial he was found guilty by default.

Others sentenced were Ali Fuad Pasha, former commander of the Twentieth Turkish Army Corps, and Alfred Rustem Bey, former Turkish Ambassador to the United States.

SAYS PRUDENCE WON THE WAR

Admiral Fiske Asserts British Navy Saved Us from Invasion.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 14.—The Providence Journal will say tomorrow:

"Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, former Aid for Naval Operations, President of the Naval Institute, and recognized authority on naval strategy, was asked today whether he would have counseled daring and audacity in naval action in the late war.

"'Yes,' he replied, 'if that is necessary with American naval officers, a suggestion that history denies. But I would have urged courage, only with prudence and with preparedness, with a careful reckoning of the difficulties to be overcome. To have given other advice, to have suggested that prudence be thrown overboard, would in my opinion have been to urge the rashness that alone could have given victory to the foresighted and prudent German General Staff, and the Germans were prudent until desperation forced their unrestricted warfare. We see now what their imprudence did for them.

"'Prudence combined with and restraining courage and sheer audacity, won the war. The boldest, the most valorous naval action, without prudence, could easily have lost it and the allied naval problem was such that prudence was especially necessary.

"'The allied naval problem was to maintain mastery of the seas first, mastery of the surface of the seas, to deny the German overseas communications, to make the blockade against them tight and to starve them into submission; and secondly, to obtain mastery beneath the surface, defeat the submarine and to maintain free communications over the seas for allied transport.

"'With extraordinary skill and prudence the Germans prepared a nest for their submarines in shallow waters, building a first line of defense of mines, behind this hiding their submarines and supporting both these with their high seas fleet. The difficulties of navigating those waters by an enemy ignorant of the mines and of conducting naval operations upon any considerable scale within them were incalculable. A knowledge of what could be done and of what could not be done within that area was possessed by the experts of the British Admiralty, but it is hardly conceivable that any such knowledge could have been had by any man not personally and intimately acquainted with both the hydrographic and the military details of that area.

"'It is probable that the Germans nursed the hope that their enemy would pursue that course of desperation, with prudence thrown to the winds. Had they done so, it would have profited the Germans more than the most successful conduct of the submarine campaign could have done. It would have made possible for the Germans the invasion of England and have left America with no dependable protection against the menace of the German fleet.

"'It is to the prudence of the British Admiralty, standing firm against the advice to "dig the rats out of their holes," that the American people owe their protection against invasion.'"

HYTHE, England, May 15.—In perfect Summer weather, M. Millerand, the French Premier, accompanied by the British Ambassador in Paris and the French Finance Minister and Coal Controller, crossed the Channel this evening by destroyer, landing at Folkstone at 7:30 o'clock. The party then divided, the Ministers making a seven-mile drive by motorcar to Lympne, while Millerand's staff to the number of a score went to the Hotel Imperial at Hythe.

Beauclaire, Sir Philip Sassoon's mansion, is finely situated on a green and flowery hillside at Lympne, overlooking the Channel and Romney Marsh. The large room in which the Prime Ministers and their chief financial advisers will confer tomorrow has a splendid view over the narrow sea. Police pickets are posted around the house, and this is not the only reminder of San Remo. Both Prime Ministers will feel the absence of Signor Nitti.

One might suppose that the spectators who faintly cheered M. Millerand's car, and who idly watched the comings and goings at Folkstone, Hythe and Lympne, little appreciated the magnitude of the issues which the Prime Ministers and their colleagues have to discuss. The total indebtedness of Germany for reparations must be fixed, the division of the amounts between the Allies must be agreed upon and measures taken to facilitate its payment.

The Spa Conference is designed mainly to give Germany the opportunity of proposing the total sum and of justifying her proposal by evidence. On the side of the Allies, two amounts can be definitely calculated upon.

The treaty makes the cost of the armies of occupation a first charge; at present this is running up at the rate of £150,000,000 a year, but as soon as Germany has effectively disarmed, it is to be reduced to £12,000,000 a year.

Secondly, it is agreed to give Belgium's war debt the preference. After that everything is vague. The most important thing is that the French and British views of what the total German payment can and should be and of its division among the allied claimants must be harmonized.

It is probable that, in consideration of the German elections and the Ministerial crisis in Italy, the Spa meeting will be postponed to the middle of June. By that time France and England must know exactly where they stand. This is the most urgent subject which Lloyd George, Millerand and their colleagues have to tackle tomorrow.

A few figures will serve to show what wide room there is for legitimate differences of opinion under all these heads. Articles 231 and 232 of the treaty state that the allied and associated Governments hold Germany and her allies responsible for all war loss and damage. Recognizing that Germany cannot pay the whole, they insist at least on payment for all damage done to civilian population and property.

The total costs of the war has been variously estimated at from £24,000,000,000 upward. As limited by the clause just quoted, the total of the allied claims has been variously estimated at from £15,000,000,000 downward. This maximum figure was given in the French chamber last September by Klotz. Responsible French opinion is now believed to incline to a figure rather below £10,000,000,000.

Mr. Keynes calculated that the treaty stipulations pointed to what he regarded as the "altogether impossible" sum of £8,000,000,000, of which the treaty provided £2,000,000,000 should be paid in cash, in kind or in bearer bonds by May of next year.

At Paris, the German Government, as counter proposal, offered a total payment of £5,000,000,000, but this was subject to impossible conditions, such as that Germany should keep her colonies and merchant fleet and that other stipulations of the treaty should be abandoned.

Without these deductions, the offer was probably not worth £2,000,000,000. Finally, the tentative figure falls to the estimate of Keynes, that Germany cannot and should not be asked to pay more than £2,000,000,000, or, deducting value on ships, cables, State property and debt claims, £1,500,000,000. Thus the difference runs all the way from Kynes at 1 to Klotz at 10.

French Want Some Indemnity Soon.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 14.—Premier Millerand and Minister of Finances François Marsal left Paris early this afternoon for Folkstone, where they were due to arrive this evening. Tomorrow at Hythe, in the country house of Sir Philip Sassoon, they will meet Premier Lloyd George and his advisers to talk over the Spa Conference.

M. Millerand expects to return to Paris on Sunday evening. Thus, from the very shortness of the Hythe conference, as well as from the basic nature of the situation, the impression here is that the purpose of the two Premiers is to fix upon principles rather than upon details.

This conference was arranged by Millerand and Lloyd George at the conclusion of the San Remo Conference. When the French Premier suggested that they had not definitely decided what would be discussed with the Germans and that he did not intend to permit any proposal of treaty revision, the British Premier replied that they could get together on the question of a program before going to Spa.

It is confidently expected in French political circles that Lloyd George will give his adherence readily to the French theme that, first, in the conference at Spa there is to be no discussion by the Germans of any points not raised by the Allies, and that the Allies will raise no proposal of basic treaty revision, and, second, that the Germans will not discuss pending matters on a basis of equality with the allied statesmen, but will be heard merely as consultants—in other words, that Müller shall answer questions, and not propose them.

Millerand further desires that at the opening of the Spa conference, it shall be made plain that the idea of the Allies is to enforce the treaty, and that they are ready to use all measures to do so, as declared in the San Remo proclamation. Millerand wishes this point forcibly brought home to the Germans.

As for the question as to payment of the indemnity in a lump sum, it appears that an answer will be made presently. Lloyd George favors fixing one sum, once and for all. The French, on the other hand, have advanced the idea of fixing a certain number of annuities at a stated figure, which might later be increased.

It is entirely possible that this question will not be finally settled at Hythe, and that the Allied Premiers will reserve their decision until after they have heard the Germans at Spa. For after all, it is said here, the French regard a fixing of the amount as much less important than an agreement as to how, whatever amount is agreed upon, it is to be collected. While England's public spirit is in the mood, they wish to fix a policy that will be workable ten years from now if Germany continues to default.

The average Frenchman is taking more interest in the coming Spa meeting than in any recent diplomatic meetings. France's Parliament has just voted some nine billion francs of new taxes, and, with all that, the French finances face a deficit unless Germany pays something this year.

Admits Authorship of Note to Mexico; Kemnitz Explains Aim of German Plot

BERLIN, May 14 (Associated Press).—Herr von Kemnitz, who is a candidate of the German People's Party for election to the Reichstag, admits in the Oder Zeitung of Frankfort that he drafted the final dispatch to Mexico in which Germany endeavored to enlist that country's armed aid in the event of war with the United States. At the time he was Adviser at the Foreign office on Far Eastern and Central-American Affairs.

Herr von Kemnitz declared that he should not be blamed for the United States Government's obtaining possession of the document, which, if it had been kept secret, he says, could only have done good.

"I foresaw two possibilities," explains the former adviser, "firstly, that Mexico would decline because she was afraid of the United States, which would nevertheless have strengthened the Germanophile sentiment in Mexico, or, secondly, that Mexico would accept, in which case considerable American forces would have been tied up on the Mexican border and Germany would not have incurred any special obligations. We would only have been ready to undertake obligations if Mexico had been able to induce Japan to join us."

In February, 1917, it was revealed at Washington that Germany, in planning her unrestricted submarine campaign and counting its consequences, proposed an alliance with Mexico and Japan to make war on the United States, if the latter should not remain neutral. Japan, through Mexican mediation, was to be urged to abandon her allies and join in the attack on the United States.

Mexico, for her reward, was to receive general financial support from Germany, reconquer Texas, New Mexico and Arizona and share in the victorious peace terms Germany contemplated. Details were left to German Minister von Eckhardt in Mexico City, who by instructions signed by German Foreign Minister Zimmermann at Berlin on Jan. 10, 1917, was directed to propose the alliance with Mexico to General Carranza and suggest that Mexico seek to bring Japan into the plot.

URGE NATION TO ORGANIZE

Americans Oversea Point to Work of Other Governments Backing New Business Expansion.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 14.—Americans who have had large experience in dealing with the question of credits to Europe during 1919 and 1920, are unanimous in recommending additional organization by business men to work with the State and War Departments and the Shipping Board in order to foster and facilitate commercial relations between the United States and European countries to which aid is being extended by this country.

Although American credits comprise 70 to 80 per cent. of such outside aid hitherto, they say America is making no organized effort whatever to take care of the trade created by its efforts to establish production in the new States of Central Europe. On the other hand, the Europeans, especially the British, send agents along with the American and other supplies and make arrangements to handle the resultant trade.

The British have a farsighted and thorough-going method. Their Board of Trade, which is a Cabinet department, sends out representatives, who maintain the closest relations with their Foreign Office and with British diplomatic and consular representatives in all countries.

If any American business man seeking trade in a foreign country would ask aid in an American Embassy or mission, they say it would be impossible for him to obtain it, for such things are neither expected nor provided for.

Under British traditions and practices, diplomacy and trade work "in double harness," and there is always the British Board of Trade as well as the Foreign Office closely co-operating with every private effort to bring business to England.

The keeness with which the hunt for trade is followed up is illustrated by the use that Great Britain makes of her control of cable and telegraph lines, nearly all of which pass through her territory. Copies are made and records kept of all business cables. British business men thus have inside advance information on the activities of competitors in other countries.

For example, if a New York firm cables an offer to a firm in Copenhagen or Dantzig, it is declared, the figures are known to the Board of Trade and can be immediately cut by a British firm in the same line. Thus American-owned cable lines are controlled by the British for promotion of their trade on terms that put American competition at a disadvantage.

Americans who have been in relief work here do not complain of these competitive methods which have come under their notice, but they suggest active organization under Government auspices to meet them and to protect and promote the new trade opportunities opened up in connection with the sending of supplies.

Among other suggestions made, one is that American Chambers of Commerce should co-operate with the State Department, War Department and Shipping Board. The belief is expressed that Secretary Colby and Admiral Benson would both be quick to give their support to any plan to facilitate the success of American commercial enterprise in Europe.

Admiral Benson is said to be especially alive to questions of this character, and as the Shipping Board is brought into direct contact with American supplies to Europe it is believed that the Admiral's knowledge and skill would be most useful in framing a plan of organization promptly to take advantage of the peculiar opportunities which are now declared to be slipping away.

Netherlanders Long Held as Prisoners by Red Government Are Freed at Last.

THE HAGUE, May 14.—The arrival yesterday of a hundred Netherlanders who had long been held as prisoners in Russia, about whom official negotiations have been carried on since September last, awakened some excitement in Holland.

The prisoners, men, women and children, were mostly in a terrible condition of health, having suffered great privations and persecution. One died aboard ship.

All agreed that conditions in Russia at present are unbearable; that rôles have been exchanged and Communists have become bourgeoisie who give gorgeous evening parties, and that work is only carried on in State factories under the direction of Communists for the Red army.

There is no raw material, no general industry, and everything is nationalized. Former bourgeoisie sell their furniture in order to live. There was, however, a change recently, said one of the prisoners. Trotzky and Lenin are now approaching the bourgeoisie and endeavoring to make use of the former heads of factories and institutions with technical knowledge and have been fairly successful.

Until May, 1919, it appears that foreigners were not persecuted. Then all the foreign representatives left Russia except the Swiss representative, who seemed to be on good terms with the Soviet Government. Many Netherlanders sold all their goods hoping to be allowed to return, but although at that time the Soviets treated neutrals fairly well, considering them the last link with the rest of the world, they were not allowed to leave.

In the middle of May the courier service was stopped and regular persecution of foreigners began. On June 2 all foreign legations and embassies were seized and occupied by soldiers. Everything was confiscated or stolen, including the contents of the safes. The Dutch Legation building contained documents, papers, securities and large sums of money belonging to foreign powers and foreign subjects under Dutch protection during the war which had been placed for security in the Dutch Legation at the beginning of the war.

Only four letters were found afterward at the legation. The consulate was also completely plundered. The reason given for this was that neutral legations had become centres of espionage and counter-revolution.

Every one appearing at a legation or consulate was arrested. People were often trapped into coming by telephone and then arrested.

The Netherlanders, with many Russian notables, ex-Ministers, Generals and hostages, were locked up in prison for two weeks without beds, chairs or food. Finally they were marched off to a station carrying packs and mattresses on their backs and were entrained in goods cars for Moscow, where they were interned in camps with nothing but the bare walls.

No sanitary arrangements were provided and dysentery raged, there being no medical help. At one time they were set free, then again imprisoned.

There is no postal rate in Russia, but railway officials carry letters for large bribes. Few letters arrive. One letter costs 20 to 80 rubles.

NO SPLIT IN GOVERNMENT

French's Responsibility Cut Down—Talk of a General Election on Irish Policy Is Not Credited.

DUBLIN, May 14.—The plan of General Sir Nevil Macready, Commander of the Government forces in Ireland, looking to closer co-operation between the police and the military in an effort to suppress the disorders in Ireland, involves the establishment of military posts in isolated districts where the police barracks had to be abandoned because of attacks upon them, it is stated here on apparently good authority.

The opinion of the British authorities seems to be that the disorders in Ireland, which they regard as acts of rebellion, call for the use of soldiers instead of the police. Previously the police have been largely occupied with work which is essentially of a military nature, and the criticism from the popular side is that the police are not now really a civil force, as they ought to be.

In line with this view the military are already doing the patrol work, which is a dangerous job and hitherto had been left for the most part to the police. The military are endeavoring to check the excesses of the land agitation in the west of Ireland. Cavalry has been employed to prevent cattle driving, and some of the western towns which have been the centers of this trouble have cavalry contingents quartered in them.

The proposal to establish military posts is resented by many of the Irish people, who regard it as the setting up of the blockhouse system, which was first tried in South Africa in the Boer war.

The rumors of differences of opinion between the leading men in the Government of Ireland find no confirmation in official circles. Viscount French, the Lord Lieutenant; Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, and General Macready, are to all appearances on the best terms and in agreement as regards the delimitation of their various spheres of activity. In future Lord French will have the least to do. Hitherto he has been performing duties usually attended to by subordinates. Sir Hamar Greenwood's task has been mainly concerned with political decisions and in extending guidance on matters of civil administration.

General Macready, it appears, has a poor opinion of the efficiency, so far, of the Government machine, and he expects to be able to improve it, especially along the line of co-operation between the police and the military, which will bring about the Governmental purpose of effective suppression of disorders.

Decision by the Government to make an early appeal to the country by a general election in an effort to fix upon a definite Irish policy has been reached, according to rumors current in London last night. In well-informed circles these rumors are ridiculed, however, and as yet there has been nothing to confirm them.

It is said the Government feels itself confronted with two alternatives—acceptance of the implied challenge of civil war in Ireland or acquiescence in the establishment of an Irish republic—as a result of widespread disorders in the island, culminating yesterday in attacks on barracks at fifty places in Ireland.

Although all this morning's newspapers give prominence to dispatches telling of yesterday's disorders in Ireland, only one, The Chronicle, comments on the situation. That journal ascribes the new outbreak to the release of hunger strikers from jails in Ireland and England.

"It is obvious," says The Chronicle, "that, as long as the worst criminals can get out of prison by the simple expedient of threatening to commit suicide, any attempt to suppress crime will be like trying to draw water from a well with a bucket lacking a bottom."

94 RECENT ATTACKS MADE IN IRELAND

DUBLIN, May 14.—Statistics now available show that within the last few days sixty-four police barracks and thirty income tax offices have been attacked.

One of the most daring attacks was at Bessborough, inside Phoenix Park, close to the Vice Royal Lodge. The raiders climbed the Ashtown gate of the park. The attack was not successful, although bombs were used.

At the inquest on the gardener who was shot dead during the attack on the Ballybrack police barracks it was stated two men were seen running away from the spot, and a girl and a man told how, while sitting on a seat on the outskirts of Killiney, they were warned by a man, who had something in his hand which looked like a revolver, to go back along the road.

The wife of the sergeant, who was ordered out of the barracks with her children, said some of the men wore masks and all were armed. The jury returned a verdict of murder against some person or persons unknown.

In Dingle, County Kerry, local volunteers have brought off a remarkable coup. They arrested three men, confined them in the Carnegie library and at midnight tried them for theft from the shop of a tobacconist and confectioner. The prisoners were found guilty and the bulk of the property has been recovered. During the proceedings a large crowd gathered in the neighborhood of the building, and the police also were present outside.

Four other arrests were made, the men being taken to a disused part of the Workhouse and charged with stealing money for old age pensions from the post office. They were found guilty, were detained under guard for the day and released when they had produced the money, most of it in the shape of the identical ten shilling notes stolen.

Several additional attacks on Government property and other incidents occurred in various parts of Ireland last night, but up to noon today the reports indicated that the continued activity of armed bands was on nothing like the scale of Wednesday night's demonstration. The police barracks, Court House and Post Office at Bruree, County Limerick, were burned, while a motor van containing provisions for the police was burned near Sheverie.

Armed and masked men raided a motor garage in Dublin overpowered the caretaker and took away an automobile.

Money Taken, Tax Books Removed.

DUBLIN, May 14.—An official report issued this evening says that on Thursday night seventeen vacant police barracks and huts were raided and wholly or partially destroyed. Five post offices also were raided, the officials being held up by armed masked men. The money in the offices was taken and the instruments destroyed.

In addition, five revenue offices were raided and the income tax books removed. Notices were posted in various districts conveying threats against persons who fail to abstain from speaking to policemen.

In the raids on the revenue offices no documents relating to old age pensions were disturbed.

The Maynooth Town Hall, which was the property of the Duke of Leinster, was destroyed by fire this morning.

Bodies of constabulary and military reinforcements are arriving in the Counties Leitrim and Roscommon.

At Carrick-on-Shannon the Board of Guardians today unanimously adopted a resolution proposed by its Chairman refusing to acknowledge any government in Ireland except the Sinn Fein Parliament.

Girl and Father Fatally Hurt by Fall Into Niagara Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 14.—Although they fell 150 feet into the Niagara Gorge this afternoon, Thomas Meroczak, 45, and his eight-year-old daughter were still alive tonight in a local hospital.

The two were walking on the brow of the cliff and fell to the jagged rocks below. They will die, physicians said.

At the hospital late tonight the girl told detectives that her father threw her over the bank and then jumped after her. Meroczak, when questioned, changed his story and said two men threw the girl over and then threw him after her. Friends of the Meroczak said the father had been worrying over financial troubles and the recent death of his wife.

Despite Successes in the Ukraine, Polish Mark Reaches Its Lowest Point, 208 to the Dollar.

WARSAW, May 13 (Associated Press).—On the heels of the victory of the Poles and Ukranians in the Ukraine peace talk has been resumed in diplomatic circles and in the newspapers in Poland.

Meanwhile fighting continues in the Kiev region, the latest communique announcing that attempts by the Bolsheviki to oust the Poles from the bridgehead area were repulsed after fierce fighting. Battle for possession of the territory east of Kiev has been going on for three days. At last accounts the Bolsheviki were using more artillery than they had previously employed.

Referring to the possibility of the opening of negotiations with the Soviet Government, Premier Skulski said today before the Diet's Foreign Affairs Commission that in view of their victories the Poles ought to submit the names of several towns for the proposed conference which did not materialize in April owing to disagreements between the Poles and Bolsheviki, chiefly over Borisov as the meeting place. He intimated that if several towns were suggested the Bolsheviki might see fit to reopen communications leading to formal messages regarding peace.

The Ukrainian successes and the peace talk have not helped the money market, as had been hoped, the mark dropping to its lowest point today, 208 to the dollar. In three days the mark dropped from 195, its fall being attributed to various causes, such as speculation, lack of material for export, demand for foreign goods and the difficulties encountered by the factories in resuming work owing to the lack of machinery which was taken by the Germans during the war.

PARIS, May 14.—"Lenin reigns over all Russia except 100,000,000 peasants," says the Excelsior correspondent, Albert Londres, in a message dated Moscow. Londres declares that when Lenin gave land to the peasants he made the condition that the State should receive its products

"Very well," replied the peasants, "there won't be any produce," and they have persisted in just producing enough for their own wants. Add the fact that throughout Russia one can't buy a plow or implements or get repairs executed and, it is not surprising that the food scarcity is so terrible.

Londres says that the Bolsheviki do their utmost to stir up enthusiasm for work. In Moscow they have issued placards saying that the Petrograd workers were on the job night and day and that Moscow must not be beaten. Then they issued a similar notice about the Moscow workers in Petrograd. But nobody worked.

Then the Bolsheviki scattered work "drummers," as Londres calls them, throughout the country, who gave practical demonstrations of feverish activity in factories, railroad, shops, &c. The regular "workers" watched them with mild interest and when they were gone resumed their repose.

Then voluntary Sunday morning work bees were organized in Moscow by the Communists intellectual. To set the example the Soviet chiefs and Ministers unloaded wagons. The Minister of Public Works overdid it, injured himself and died. But the Russian masses merely murmured "nitchevo"—the nearest translation to "What's the use?"—and worked no harder than before.

Londres claims that the regular Communists are in a great minority inn Russia. The Echo de Paris correspondent in Stockholm recently quoted the figure 600,000 as the total, while an approximate estimate was given me by the Lithuanian Minister of 1,000,000 to 750,000 at the outside.

LONDON, May 14.—The War Office in a communiqué issued tonight announces it has no confirmation of reports that the Ukrainians have occupied Odessa or any other important town.

Armenia, the War Office reports, has rejected the ultimatum of Azerbaijan and is concentrating troops to repel expected attack. Rumors that the Armenian Republic has surrendered to the Russian Government, so far as the British War Office knows, are unfounded. The communiqué says Armenia is negotiating for an alliance with Georgia and has applied to the Entente for assistance.

BASE PEACE PLANK ON INDIANA MODEL

BASED ON KNOX PROPOSAL

Declaration Praises Senators' Stand and Asserts Concern for European Peace.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The Peace Treaty plank adopted yesterday by the Indiana Republican Convention and incorporated in the platform of principles is to serve as the model for the plank that will be presented to the national convention of the Republican Party at Chicago for adoption.

There is a rift in the Republican lute, however. The Indiana plank does not spell harmony for the party on the treaty issue. While this plank appeared to be satisfactory to several Republican elements in the Senate with respect to practically all its declarations and to that extent is acceptable as the model for the national platform plank, it contains one provision that has sent the treaty irreconcilables "up in the air."

This basis for controversy among those who have assumed to draft the party's platform in advance of the national convention is found in the last paragraph of the Indiana treaty plank.

Such a pronouncement was contained in the original resolution offered in the Senate by Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, declaring that the state of war between the United States and the Central Powers is at an end. It brought harsh criticism from the treaty irreconcilables, and was stricken out of the Knox resolution at the instance of Senator Borah, of Idaho.

Like the other irreconcilables, Mr. Borah is opposed to any commitment of this Government to take cognizance of disturbing conditions in Europe. He reiterated his position in this connection today after he had seen the text of the Indiana plank.

Senator New of Indiana, who participated in the State Convention and was elected one of the four delegates at large to the Chicago Convention, returned to Washington from Indianapolis today. When he was asked as to the genesis of the treaty plank he said that it had been drawn after consultation with Republican Senators of all shades of opinion concerning the Peace Treaty. When this was told to Senator Borah he said that he had not been consulted, and he believed that Senator Johnson of California had not been asked for his views. Mr. Borah expressed his objection to the concluding declaration and recalled that the similar declaration in the original Knox peace resolution had been deleted at his instance.

The Indiana plank concerning the Peace Treaty is accepted as forecasting the terms of the plank that will be embodied in the national platform of the Republican Party. Senator Watson of Indiana, who is slated to be the Chairman of the Platform Committee of the Republican National Convention, participated in the drafting of the Indiana platform. Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, who has been in Washington consulting Senators on the terms of the national platform, and particularly on the Peace Treaty plank, was acting in the Indiana convention.

Text of the Indiana Plank.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 14.—The text of the peace plank incorporated in the platform of the Republican State convention, which adjourned last night, is:

"The treaty of peace with Germany ought to have been made immediately after the armistice. If that had been done, the treaty would have been ratified many months ago, peace would have been established and a technical state of war would not have remained between Germany and the United States.

"The President insisted upon making, and forced the representatives of the associated powers to adopt, the covenant of the League of Nations as an integral part of the Peace Treaty. He thus sacrificed peace to his own plan for the League of Nations, seeking in this way through coercion to nullify the constitutional powers of the Senate in regard to treaties.

"In defense of our own Constitution and for the protection and safety and the independence of the United States, the Republicans in the Senate resisted this effort to force upon us the League of Nations as the President submitted it. Reservations were adopted by the Republican majority of the Senate for the purpose of safeguarding the sovereignty and the vital interests of the United States.

"As representatives of the Republican party, in convention assembled, we declare our absolute opposition to the covenant of the League of Nations as submitted by the President, and we fully approve the action of the Republicans of the Senate in resisting its adoption.

"Twice the treaty with these reservations was submitted to the Senate and twice the President brought its defeat. This result is due to the President alone. In this way he carried the question of the treaty as submitted by him to the Senate into the campaign.

"The Republicans are not responsible for the delay in securing peace thus caused, but they welcome the issue. They gladly submit all questions involved in the covenant of the League of Nations to the considerate judgment of the American people. They ask their approval of the action of the Republican Senators. They appeal with confidence to the great tribunal of the people of the United States upon the momentous questions which have thus been raised and which involve nothing less than the independence, the sovereignty and the future of the country.

"We favor an association of nations to promote the peace of the world. The judicial settlement of international disputes has always been a policy of the Republican Party, and the first general arbitration treaties were negotiated by a Republican Administration. We favor the establishment of a world court to administer international justice, and also earnestly support a general agreement among nations for a reduction of armaments; but we are unalterably opposed to any league or covenant which gives to foreign nations, in any way whatever, the slightest control over the military and naval forces of the United States or which gives to a foreign country or tribunal the least jurisdiction over the domestic affairs of the American people or the right to interfere in the full exercise of the constitutional powers of our Government or to abridge in any way the American policy known as the Monroe Doctrine.

"The Republican Party also believes that it should be the declared policy of our Government that the freedom and peace of Europe being again threatened by any power or combination of powers, as was the case in 1914, the United States should regard such a situation with grave concern as a menace to its own peace and freedom. We believe that, under such circumstances, the United States should consult with other powers affected with a view to devise means for the removal of such a menace and be prepared when the necessity arises to render every service, as we did in 1917, for the defense of civilization."

YANKS LOSE HOME AT POLO GROUNDS

BREAK WORD, SAYS RUPPERT

President of Younger Club Claims Verbal Agreement for Long Lease —Has New Sites in Mind.

The New York National Baseball Club, which operates the Giants, notified Colonel Jacob Ruppert yesterday that the Yankees would not be permitted to play on the Polo Grounds after their present lease expires at the end of this season. This is the first definite announcement that the Giants were going to divorce the Yanks, although there have been numerous rumors about it for the last few seasons. President Charles A. Stoneham of the Giants and Manager McGraw made the announcement in Pittsburgh yesterday, and it was later given out here by Judge Francis X. McQuade, Treasurer of the club.

The announcement yesterday came as a surprise, as it was believed after the American League row over the Carl Mays case was settled that the Giants and Yankees had come to some understanding that the Polo Grounds should be the home of both clubs indefinitely.

Judge McQuade's announcement yesterday was brief, and gave no explanation of the action of the Giants. It was: "After a conference between Charles A. Stoneham and John J. McGraw in Pittsburgh today it was definitely decided that the Polo Grounds will be the home of the Giants exclusively after the baseball season of 1920. The American League club of this city has been notified of this decision."

Asserts Violation of Promise.

As soon as this announcement reached New York yesterday Colonel Ruppert, President of the Yankees, immediately stated that the Giants had gone back on their word with the American League club. Colonel Ruppert said:

"If we are ordered off the Polo Grounds it will mean that our National League rivals will go back on their word to the Yankees.

"When the Federal League peace settlement was made early in 1916, one of the stipulations was that the New York Nationals should grant us a long term lease on the Polo Grounds. We had a verbal understanding to that effect with Mr. Hempstead, who was then President of the Giants, and it had the approval of the National League.

"However, if the Giants do not want us any longer on the Polo Grounds there is no use trying to stay around where one is not wanted. I do not know how successful the Yankees will be this season, but we probably will be able to find a home somewhere for 1921."

The refusal of the Giants to permit the New York Americans to remain on the Polo Grounds after this season will cost the local National League club $65,000 a year, the rental which the Yankees now pay for the privilege of playing on the grounds of their National League rivals.

Options on Several Sites.

The owners of the Yankees have anticipated this move for some time and have not been idle in seeking a site for a new park. During the recent American League row the two Colonels, Ruppert and Huston, told President Johnson and his five loyal clubs that, contrary to report, they had a ball park on which they could play if they were barred from the Polo Grounds.

It is understood that the owners of the Yankees have options on more than one site for their new park. One of these is said to be the plot at Amsterdam Avenue and 137th Street, opposite the Lewisohn Stadium at City College. Another prospective site is at Eleventh Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street. It is also understood that the Yankee owners have options on two sites in Long Island City, which are favored by excellent transportation facilities.

While the owners of the Yanks will make no definite announcement at this time about their new park there is no question that they will have one when the season of 1921 opens.

For several seasons the Yankees have been slowly but constantly increasing in popularity in Manhattan. New York was so firmly established as a National League stronghold and the Giants had become such a popular institution at the Polo Grounds that for several seasons the Yankees found it hard sledding.

New York, however, with its large transient population is plenty large enough to support two ball clubs, and all that the Yanks needed to become a strong rival attraction to McGraw's Giants was a strong pennant attraction. Last year the Yankees had the greatest season in the history of the club here and the acquisition of Babe Ruth has given them the strongest attraction in the game. Ruth's remarkable accomplishments thus far this season at the Polo Grounds have done much to make the Yanks a powerful drawing card and the possibility of his making a new home run record at the Brush Stadium this season will prove a continuous magnet for the fans.

Rivalry Proves a Stimulus.

There has been no noticeable falling off in the popularity of the Giants. In fact with the club in last place in the pennant race the attendance during the Giants' home stay this Spring was surprisingly large. The rivalry between the clubs has proved a stimulus to both leagues rather than a detriment.

The Yanks have shared the Polo Grounds with the Giants since 1912. The wooden stands at the Polo Grounds burned on April 11, 1911, two days after the season opened. Frank Farrell, who then owned the Yankees, offered the use of the American League Park on the hilltop at Broadway and 168th Street to the late John T. Brush, and the Giants played there during the construction of the new stands at the Polo Grounds. The Giants returned to the Polo Grounds in August before the stand was finished and played the world's series with the Athletics there in October of that year.

When the Yankees' lease on the hilltop expired, the Yankees were invited to use the Polo Grounds by Mr. Brush, and the Yanks have been playing there since that time. Mr. Farrell contemplated building a new American League park and work on the site at Broadway and 225th Street was started, but after the lot was graded Mr. Farrell gave up the idea of building the park.

STONEHAM DISCUSSES MOVE.

New York Big Enough for Two Parks, Says Giants' President.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 14.—In discussing the notice sent to the New York Americans in regard to their leaving the Polo Grounds, Charles A. Stoneham, President of the Giants, said here today:

"One day last Summer, in August, I believe it was, we received a letter from the New York American League Club telling us that unless we would give them a long time lease on the Polo Grounds they would build their own plant.

"We went over the matter carefully and replied that we believed it would be a good thing for baseball if they would build their own grounds, suggesting that they go right ahead with the enterprise. We told them, however, that we would protect them during this season and we believed the matter closed.

"Recently report came from some of the Yankees' friends that they took a different view of it and this week we received a letter from the club. I came out here to see Mr. McGraw and after again going into the question we decided it would be better for the sport if the Yankees had their own grounds. New York is a big city and there is ample room for another plant of this kind. I remember once talking to Mr. Johnson about it and he agreed with me that the two baseball parks in Chicago had been a good thing for baseball. I think the same holds good for New York."

DONOVANITES EVEN ROCHESTER SERIES

Jersey City Pulls Out Ahead of Hustlers, 7 to 5, in Game of Heavy Hitting.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 14.—Bill Donovan's Skeeters evened the series with Rochester by winning here today, 7 to 5. Alexander Ferguson, who was on the hill for the Jerseymen, was hit hard in the closing innings, but brilliant support enabled him to survive the bombardment.

Burfein started to pitch for Rochester, but he was wild and was yanked in the sixth after filling the corners with bases on balls. Kelly succeeded Burfeind and Paddy Bauman drove in the winning run with a long single to left. Burfeind passed six batters while he was in the game and Kelly walked five more, although the latter allowed only one hit after the sixth inning.

Rochester batted in a run in the second and the visitors tied the score in the fourth on Kane's triple and a single by Denoville. A passed ball gave the locals another run in their half of the fourth. Two bases on balls, Bauman's double and a three-base blow by Denoville accounted for three Jersey City tallies in the fifth. Beyers scored for Rochester in the fifth on his triple and an out at first.

Jersey City sewed up the game by scoring twice in the sixth. Cotter's single, a sacrifice, passes to Wacha and Zitman, followed by Bauman's safe blow, drove in the tallies. Cotter walked in the seventh and scored on Ferguson's triple. Four hits and two stolen bases gave Rochester two runs in the eighth.

Take Cardinals' Measure When Goodwin Finally Weakens in Fourteenth Inning.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—If the Brooklyn Dodgers persist in their habit of playing extra inning baseball games they will have played out their schedule before sizzling July has skidded across the calendar—that is, they will have played seventy-seven games' worth of innings at least. It was generally supposed the Robins had contributed all the overtime work they intended to for one season, but here this afternoon they perpetrated another of those things. They carried the lowly St. Louis Cardinals along for fourteen full innings, finally winning by a score of 5 to 1.

It was a real pitchers' battle, with both hurlers holding their own until the fateful fourteenth, when Goodwin finally weakened after two were out. Then things began to happen, and when the riot was all over and all hands had an opportunity to check up, it was found that four hits, coupled with three errors, had combined to give Brooklyn four runs and the ball game. To put it mildly, it was a decidedly disastrous session for St. Louis, viewed from any angle, if there be more than the losing angle to view it from.

Until that time there had been little to choose between the work of Grimes and that of Goodwin. Both were in excellent form. They had a complete stock of curves at command, excellent control and change of pace. Both were going strong at the end of the thirteenth and it seemed as if the game would jog along interminably when the big blow, unheralded and unexpected, happened. It was a full-grown explosion and caused a detonation that came within hair's breadth of toppling the Cardinals into the dankness of the National League cellar.

Grimes started the fourteenth for Brooklyn by striking out. Olson bounced a hit off Stock's glove. Ward sacrificed, and Johnston got his fourth hit, a single to centre, Olson scoring standing up and Jim taking second when Smith fumbled the ball. Wheat rolled to Stock and romped all the way to second and Johnston scored when Stock tossed wide to Fournier. Myers's single and Heathcote's fumble on the hit put Wheat on third and Myers on second in position to count on Koney's smash for a base to right. Fournier picked up Neis's grounder and tagged first, ending the rally.

It was a great day for Grimes. Burleigh was in fine trim. He slept well the night before and his arm was in fettle to do the arduous duty it performed. Grimes held the Cardinals to seven scattered hits, and, if it hadn't been for a spell of wildness suffered by Jimmy Johnston in the last of the fourth inning, Burleigh would have turned in the victory at the end of the regulation nine innings. He gave th eonly base on balls that was issued by either pitcher, but made up for it by striking out nine batters.

The Dodgers were the first to score. At the start of the fourth inning with two out, Johnston doubled to right. Wheat made good in the pinch with a single to centre, scoring Johnston. It was this same Johnston that paved the way for the Cardinals to tie the score in their half of the same inning. Heathcote rolled to Johnston, who threw the ball over Konetchy's head and the runner reached third before the wayward pellet was retrieved. Heathcote was held on third while Olson threw out Stock, but Hornsby punched a robust two-bagger to right and Heathcote scored the tying run.

REDS DEFEAT PHILLIES.

Cantwell Hits Groh and Forces in the Winning Run—Score, 4 to 3.

CINCINNATI, May 14.—The wildness of Philadelphia's two young pitchers gave the Reds a 4 to 3 victory in the first game of their series here today, although the champions were outhit almost three to one by the visitors.

Ruether was put out of the game in the seventh inning for disputing a decision by Umpire Klem, and Eller, who took his place, was knocked out of the box in the ninth. Ring stopped the rally. Cantwell, who pitched the last four innings, forced over the winning run when a pitched ball hit Groh.

DARTMOUTH VICTOR OVER COLUMBIA, 11-3

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., May 14.—Dartmouth found little difficulty in solving Koenig's delivery and chalked up an easy 11 to 3 victory over Columbia here today in a game before a large crowd of junior prom guests. With the exception of two innings, Harris was invincible on the mound for the Green. Incidentally, it is the first full game Harris has pitched since 1918, when he threw his shoulder out of joint.

Exactly twenty hits were pounded to all corners of the diamond by Tesreau's outfit, and these, combined with costly Columbia misplays, accounted for the large score.

PENN BEATEN BY VERMONT.

Cluster of Runs in Sixth Gives Burlington Nine Victory.

Special to The New York Times.

BURLINGTON, Vt., May 14.—The University of Vermont baseball team won from the University of Pennsylvania this afternoon in the sixth inning when the Green Mountain men rolled up five runs. The final score was 6 to 4.

In the sixth inning, with Pennsylvania leading by a score of 2 to 1, singles by Hamilton, Brock, McGinnis and Tryon, coupled with errors by Yates, resulted in five runs for Vermont.

BABE RUTH SHIFTS STICKS.

Tries His Hand at Golf and Wins, Too, with Kirkby as Partner.

Babe Ruth gave the Los Angeles golfing folk something to talk about during the Winter and in March and early April disclosed his répertoire of mashie shots to the natives around Jacksonville. Yesterday Babe unstrapped his caddy bag so that sophisticated New Yorkers could look inside and see how he did it.

Unheralded and unsung, probably to keep Yankee rooters who had a chance because of the rain to rest their throats, which are fast getting froggy from having to thunder shouts across the Polo Grounds every time he lambasts a home run, Babe tiptoed out to the Englewood Country Club yesterday. Few knew of the movement and fewer saw him pick a deliberate fight with Grantland Rice and Bob Shawkey and egg them on with a challenge. But, after the preliminaries had been arranged and a quartet of far-sighted caddies selected, Babe allowed perhaps he might need a partner. He was no piker, but went right to the top of the local list and picked Oswald Kirkby, metropolitan champion.

Babe will do a heap of talking about yesterday's encounter and it will be quite a while before he forgets it. He won. Perhaps Kirkby had something to do with it—at any rate the comparative scores would show this—but Ruth has some little license to chirp loudly. In beating Rice and Shawkey in a best ball mix-up by 2 and 1, Babe actually won a hole. He actually did better than Kirkby and the others on the second, and that's nothing to pass unnoticed.

JACKSON DEFEATS DUNDEE ON POINTS

Bronx Lightweight Has Better of Seven of Twelve Rounds in Fast Newark Bout.

In the matter of effectiveness, Jackson accomplished more, pummeling Dundee about the head and body in the rounds in which he showed clearly to advantage. Dundee, however, left the ring without a mark after the battle, while Jackson's mouth was cut and blood trickled down his chin, and his face had a florid complexion from the hooks, jabs and cuffs landed by Dundee in the closing rounds.

A typical Jackson-Dundee crowd witnessed the mill, exceeding the 10,000 mark and cramming every bit of space in the big drill hall. Dundee's adherents seemed in the majority and sent up salvo after salvo of applause when the rugged little Italian showed to advantage. The admirers of Jackson also made their presence felt with outbursts which shook the foundations of the building when, in the early rounds, the Bronx Hebrew plastered Dundee about the ring.

Dundee Changes Style.

The bout was a reproduction of the previous encounters in which these two lightweights have engaged. There was a conspicuous absence, however, of the usually spectacular work of Dundee. The Italian fought a strength-conserving battle in this seventh bout with Jackson, instead of the brilliantly aggressive battle which is characteristic of him. The Italian, always a steady worker in close quarters, discarded this style last night for the long-range battle. The drubbing he received in the earlier rounds, however, and in later sessions when Jackson fought in brilliant spurts, proved too great an obstacle to be hurdled by the sensational Italian in his closing effort.

Jackson started the bout as if to annihilate Dundee. The Bronx boxer, with customary aggressiveness, forced Dundee relentlessly about the ring under a shower of blows, which came from all directions and landed on face and body alternately. Jackson plied crushing rights and lefts to the stomach in whirlwind flurries, and, forcing Dundee to the ropes, shifted his attack to the face. The Italian's head bobbed repeatedly from solid smashes to the face and side of the head, but, though he tried with every ounce of his strength, Jackson was unable to land a knockout.

From the third to the sixth round Jackson forced the fighting to his own advantage. He continually kept on top of Dundee and belabored the Italian with heavy punches to the body. At long range Jackson would shoot at his rival's face, but Dundee's tantalizing jabs discounted these attempts. Frequently Jackson rushed Dundee to the ropes and there pummeled the Italian freely with stomach blows until Dundee held. In the fourth round Jackson again was warned for heeling in a clinch.

Jackson Seems to Tire.

After the sixth round Jackson seemed to tire and Dundee assumed the aggressive in the seventh and eighth. The little Italian tormented Jackson with left hooks and jabs and a well-judged right cross which invariably found a resting place on Jackson's face. The Bronxite sought to force the fighting to close quarters, but Dundee evaded his rival's rushes with countering jabs which earned him the rounds. In the ninth Jackson showed renewed vigor and forced the fighting effectively, paying particular attention to Dundee's stomach. The tenth and eleventh rounds found Dundee skipping lightly about the ring evading Jackson's lunges and countering with jabs which flustered the Bronx lightweight and forced him to miss repeatedly.

Johnny Wolgast, Lancaster, Pa., welterweight, outpointed Len Rowlands of Milwaukee in the semi-final ten-round contest. In the second eight-round match Jimmy Sullivan, former amateur lightweight champion, pounded Young Gradwell of Newark about the ring in every session and won by a decisive margin. Joe McCann, a Newark heavyweight, and Eddie (Young) Josephs of Staten Island, were the principals in the opening eight-rounder, which was stopped by Referee Hymie Kugel in the sixth round to save Josephs from further punishment. The Staten Island heavyweight had been sent crashing to the canvas four times in the sixth and once in the fourth.

HARVARD GOLFERS WIN.

Defeat Columbia, 7 to 2, Walker Saving Losers from Shutout.

A. L. Walker, Jr., the intercollegiate champion, alone stood in the way of the high ambitions of Harvard's golf team, which was the latest group to invade the Metropolitan district and inspect the territory where the college title tournament will be played next month. The Crimson sextet was successful to a considerable extent, despite Walker, for it added another defeat to Columbia's long list at the Garden City Golf Club yesterday by 7 matches to 2.

Lesley Cup 'Alumni' Will Have Special Competition on Links

A brand-new tournament feature will be introduced next Fall at the annual tri-State golf matches for the famous Lesley Cup. On a preceding day an eighteen-hole competition will be held solely for Lesley Cup "alumni," the young and old men who have played on Massachusetts, New York or Pennsylvania teams in the past. The cup matches will be held at Philadelphia this year over the links of the Merion Cricket Club, on Oct. 1 and 2. They will be preceded by a 72-hole medal play invitation tourney at Merion, open to golfers of the neighborhood and Lesley Cup players, who are expected to take advantage of that opportunity for practice rounds over the course. In connection with this medal play event the veterans' competition will be held.

DONAHUE ADVANCES TO THE SEMI-FINALS

Shackamaxon Golfer Eliminates Dr. Haight in Atlantic City Tourney.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 14.—Dr. A. T. Haight of Belleclaire, who won the medal of the Atlantic City Country Club tournament here yesterday, was put out in the opening match round today by W. E. Donahue of Shackamaxon. The score was 5 and 4. Donahue, by defeating E. R. Satterthwaite of Philadelphia in the afternoon, worked his way into the semi-finals.

Donahue, who was proved the dark horse of the tournament, will meet Woodie Platt in the morning round tomorrow in a match which should prove to be one of the best played here.

The feature match of today was that between Mannie Risley and Edgar Styles. They had a nip-and-tuck tussle for twenty holes, first one getting the lead, then the other. On the twentieth hole both had good drives, but Styles's approach to the green was poorly played and he lost when Risley got on in two and down in two more.

The other semi-finalists are J. Wood Platt of North Hills, Philadelphia, who defeated T. Wooten of Atlantic City by 4 and 3, and F. W. Knight of White Marsh, Philadelphia, who won from L. M. Addis, Huntington Valley, 2 and 1.

The scores of the first and second six teams follow:

FIRST SIXTEEN.

First Round—W. E. Donahue, Shakamaxon, defeated Dr. A. T. Haight, Belleclaire, 5 and 4; E. Satterthwaite, Bala, defeated C. M. Phillips, Atlantic City, 2 and 1; J. W. Platt, North Hills, defeated J. C. Parish, Jr., National, 6 and 5; T. Wooten, Atlantic City, defeated C. W. Rainear, Aronomink, 2 up; F. W. Knight, White Marsh, defeated T. Endicott, Atlantic City, 7 and 5; E. Styles, North Hills, defeated H. W. Wood, Atlantic City, 2 and 1; M. Risley, Atlantic City, defeated H. E. Blair, Erie, 7 and 6.

Second Round—Donahue defeated Satterthwaite, 7 and 6; Platt defeated Wooten, 4 and 3; Knight defeated Addis, 2 and 1; Risley defeated Styles, 1 up (20 holes).

SECOND SIXTEEN.

First Round—J. W¼ Clegg, Cricket Club, defeated H. B. Newton, White Marsh, 3 and 2; P. Jennings, Cedar Brook, won from T. Senseman, Atlantic City, by default; J. F. Buchanan, Jr., Stanton, defeated W. A. Westney, Atlantic City, 4 and 3; D. Wright, Aronomink, defeated H. J. Topping, Greenwich, 4 and 3; J. I. Hay, Cricket Club, defeated T. J. Higgins, Cedar Brook, 4 and 3; P. G. Hub, Frankford, defeated S. J. Helmeny, Lancaster, 2 up; H. G. Westney, Atlantic City, defeated W. R. Walton, Lu Lu, 5 and 4; L. E. Adams, Lu Lu, defeated H. J. Gormley, Atlantic City, 3 and 2.

Second Round—Jennings defeated Clegg, 2 and 1; Buchanan defeated Wright, 1 up; Hub defeated Hay, 2 up; Westney defeated Adams, 5 and 3.

MISS LEITCH AGAIN WINS BRITISH TITLE

Defends Her Crown at Newcastle by Defeating Miss Griffiths in Final, 7 and 6.

NEWCASTLE, County Down, Ireland, May 14.—Miss Cecil Leitch retained her title as the British woman's golf champion here today by defeating Miss Molly Griffiths of the Sunningdale Club in the final round of the tournament by 7 up and 6 to play.

Favorable weather conditions marked the playing of the deciding round, which was followed by a large gallery of spectators.

Miss Leitch opened with a steady game, while her opponent was weak on the greens, her poor putting being partly responsible for the loss of the first three holes. Miss Griffiths's game improved somewhat as the match progressed, but at the turn the champion was going steadily. At the close of the first round Miss Leitch's medal score was 80 to Miss Griffiths's 86.

Miss Griffiths was playing in her first championship tournament, and had not played 36 holes in a competitive match before.

The long experience of Miss Leitch in such contests counteracted the pluck, skill and resourcefulness which Miss Griffiths had shown in the tournament.

In retaining her title Miss Leitch accomplished what most followers of golf the world over expected of her. She stands today in all probability the greatest woman player of all time, not even excepting Miss Alexa Stirling, the American champion, of whom so many superlative phrases have been used justifiably. To those who have watched both play, however, Miss Leitch is accorded the verdict as the world's greatest linkswoman.

Her victory yesterday demonstrates that her wonderful game has improved rather than fallen off in the five years since 1914 when there have been no British championships. When she won the title six years ago at Hunstanton from the record field of 166 entries Miss Leitch accomplished the feat only after surprising English golfers by lowering the great Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, now Mrs. Temple Dobell. Mrs. Dobell had won the title in 1912, lost it in 1913, but by 1914 had again come to be regarded as the leading woman of the links, especially since she had won the American title in the Fall of 1913 by defeating Miss Marion Hollins at Wilmington, Del. In 1914, however, it was Miss Leitch who struggled to the top for the first time and defeated Mrs. Dobell in the final round.

Since then she has gained a position even greater than that indicated by holding the title. During last Fall, particularly, her performance on many English courses which were comparatively strange to her startled the golfing world. In a series of matches with J. H. Taylor, James Braid, Harry Vardon and Abe Mitchell, probably the four greatest professionals in the United Kingdom, Miss Leitch performed almost the impossible. Each pro allowed her nine strokes a round, certainly not too large a handicap for a professional to concede to a woman player. Yet she defeated the first three and lost only to Mitchell.

Miss Griffiths, the runner-up this year, will doubtless be a regular entrant henceforth, although this was her first tournament and she was somewhat of an unknown.

LESCHIN WINS CUE TILT.

Defeats Owles, 25 to 24, in Well-Played Carrom Billiard Match.

Three matches were played in the annual Spring three-cushion billiard tournament at John Doyle's Academy last night. Because of the number of entries for the event it was found necessary to divide the players into two sections according to their ability. Playing in Section B, Ben Howe defeated George Suydam by a score of 20 to 16, and Milton Cohn defeated William Mack, 20 to 17.

In Section A, Frank Leschin defeated Fred Owles, 25 to 24, in one of the best played carrom matches staged by amateurs this season. The game consumed thirty-five innings.

RACING INAUGURAL AT JAMAICA TODAY

New York's 1920 Turf Campaign Will Open with Well-Filled Card of Six Events.

PAUMONOK IS THE FEATURE

Lucullite and Billy Kelly Are Among the Horses Named for This Six-Furlong Handicap.

The New York followers of racing who have been waiting patiently for months to welcome the return of the sport to the local tracks will have their opportunity today. The metropolitan turf season will be ushered in this afternoon with the opening of the Spring meeting at Jamaica, which will provide seven days of racing in the first of the two sessions for this track.

There is every evidence that this opening will mark the beginning of the greatest racing season experienced in New York since the so-called good old days. At any rate, it promises to be the most prosperous season since the sport was resumed in this State a few years ago. New York racing folk have been looking forward eagerly to the inaugural, and it is quite possible that Jamaica will today have the largest crowd that has ever taxed its more or less limited accommodations. The local Weather Bureau has promised fair and cooler weather, but it is certain that the track at best will be heavy owing to the drenching it received yesterday.

Racing men who are predicting a banner season on the New York tracks point to the success of racing in Maryland and Kentucky, to say nothing of the Southern tracks which held meetings during the Winter. There has probably been no time in recent years when there was such a demand for the sport of Kings, which in truth has become the sport of the people. The meetings in Maryland and Kentucky have but whetted the appetites of those who have not been able to make a journey of that distance and have had to wait for the opening of the local season.

Top Notchers In Paumonok.

It is appropriate that with a gala season here the patrons of the track have the promise of seeing some of the best performers the country has produced. Not only are all of the top notchers of the handicap division engaged in the important stake events to be decided during the course of the season, but the new crop of juveniles, only a few of which have yet been brought out for public inspection, is said to contain an unusual number of high-class performers.

The feature at Jamaica today will be the $5,000 Paumonok Handicap, a six-furlong sprint which in the past has been won by some noted horses. Twelve horses have been named overnight for this event with top weight of 130 pounds assigned to Sam C. Hildreth's Lucullite. Billy Kelly, the crack sprinter owned by Commander J. K. L. Ross, will carry 126 pounds.

The Paumonok promises to be a well contested race. It is certain to be that if Lucullite goes to the post against the Ross candidate. Lucullite is said to have come back to fine form after his series of disappointments at Maryland last Autumn and is said to be once more the fine racer he was early last season. However, Hildreth has named three for the feature today and as the two others have been dealt with more generously by the official handicapper it is possible that Lucullite will be withdrawn and the chances of the Hildreth stable left with Lord Brighton and Valor. The latter is in particularly well with 112 pounds.

Owing to the condition of the track Billy Kelly will probably be the favorite at race time, as he is at home in heavy going, and is well suited by the distance. However, P. A. Clark has a very strong contender in Dunboyne, which has come back to good form. Dunboyne will make his first appearance of the season in the Paumonok.

Events for Two-Year-Olds.

The card for today has been unusually well filled. The stables at Jamaica have been receiving new comers all week from Maryland and Kentucky, and there are probably more horses there now than ever before. The heavy track is expected to result in numerous scratches this afternoon, so that the fields will not be nearly as large as the list of entries would indicate.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 14.—Any Harvard man who finishes first or is tied for that place in the track meet with Yale here tomorrow will receive a present of a fine straw hat, according to announcement made by the Harvard Co-operative Society today. While Harvard is meeting the Yale 'Varsity the freshmen of the two institutions will clash at New Haven.

DISTINCTION WINS BY EIGHT LENGTHS

LOUISVILLE, May 14.—The Jeffersonville purse, a six-furlong sprint for three-year-old fillies, which was the feature at Churchill Downs today, went to T. C. McDowell's Distinction, which scored a very easy victory. She galloped home eight lengths in front of Frivolity with Alula third.

The race was scarcely a contest, except for second and third positions. Distinction, an odds-on choice, broke in front in the field of eight starters and fairly ran away from her company. She was leading by six lengths at the head of the stretch and continued to increase her advantage to the end.

Frivolity was second all the way, raced Orlova into submission but had to be hustled along to save second from Alula, which made a strong effort in the stretch.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; six furlongs. Converse, 116 pounds (Stack), $18.70, $8.50, $6.20, first; Rafferty, 113 (Wilson), $18.10, $12.90, second; Military Girl, 96 (Jarrell), $7.70, third. Time—1:15 3-5. Orenzo, Blaise, Currency, Pullux, Caraway, Pop Eyes, Truant, Jazz and Ruby also ran.

SECOND RACE—For maiden fillies, two years old; four furlongs. Skiptomelon, 115 pounds (Burke), $22.90, $7.50, $4.60, first; Bertha S., 110 (Stack), $3.70, $3.10, second; Kate Fraley, 115 (Pitz), $5.80, third. Time—0:48 4-5. Undine, Mary Riegel, Yellow Blossom, Glendoveer, Neddie, Mary Fanso, Rasola, Whittel and Dromore also ran.

THIRD RACE—For fillies and mares, four-year-olds and upward; one mile and a sixteenth. Lady Rachel, 106 pounds (Roberts), $8.60, $4.20, $3.50, first; Thinker, 107 (Chiavetta), $4.60, $3.60, second; Jovial, 107 (Jarrell), $3.90, third. Time—1:47 4-5. Baudynco, La Fondra and Dixie Girl also ran.

FOURTH RACE—The Jeffersonville; for three-year-old fillies; six furlongs. Distinction, 115 pounds (Howard), $3, $2.80, $2.40, first; Frivolity, 108 (Ensor), $22.40, $7.20, second; Alula, 110 (Garner), $2.90, third. Time—1:13 3-5. Orlova, Better Believe, Thelma E., Guaranteed and Lightning Sweep also ran.

FIFTH RACE—For two-year-old colts and geldings; four and a half furlongs. Brother Batch, 111 (Connelly), $40, $14, $5.90, first; St. Michael, 111 (Lyke), $4.70, $3.10, second; Ben Bolt, 115 (Stack), $3, third. Time—0:54 4-5. Judge Budrow, Snare, Brunswick, Plato, Hunters Point, Beg Pardon and Versailles also ran.

SIXTH RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; one mile and a quarter. Paul Weidel, 99 pounds (Stack), $9.80, $4.50, $3.80, first; Jouett, 96 (Kennedy), $3.50, $2.90, second; Duke of Lancaster, 112 (Warrington), $4.10, third. Time—2:06 1-5. Alex Jr. and Kerensky also ran.

SEVENTH RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; one mile and a furlong. Honolulu Boy, 110 pounds (Kennedy), $29.50, $12, $6.30, first; Game Cock, 107 (Merimee), $10, $6.40, second; Mint Cat, 112 (O'Brien), $4, third. Time—1:53 1-5. St. Germain, Warsaw, Hadrian and Delico also ran.

VICTORY FOR EVERETT.

Defeats Sharpe, 22 to 15, in Brooklyn Carrom Billiard Tourney.

R. Everett defeated L. Sharpe in the first annual handicap three-cushion billiard tournament at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night by a score of 22 to 15. Both play for twenty-two points, so that they competed on even terms. The game took seventy innings, in spite of the fact that Everett had scored 18 points in his thirty-fifth turn at the table. Everett slowed up thereafter and for a time it seemed as if Sharpe might catch him.

There are twenty entries in this tourney and it has been divided into three sections, the winners and runners-up in each section to meet in the final round.

GRADED HANDICAPS TESTED AT PIMLICO

St. Quentin, Ralco and Glen Light Win Races for Horses Grouped by Class.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—The Pimlico Graded Handicaps, a series of three tests, each at six furlongs, in which the horses were grouped according to their class, provided an interesting feature at the old Hilltop course this afternoon and came fully up to the expectations of those who were responsible for the idea. The races were the closing events on the program and were won by St. Quentin, Ralco and Glen Light.

The graded handicaps were designed to provide a fair chance for horses which have been unable to show their merit even with light imposts when sent against the first class performers. It was the idea of the Maryland Jockey Club handicapper who introduced the novelty that many of the horses which go to the post with very light imposts as the result of the high class of horses opposed to them, are in a measure handicapped by the fact that the light weight calls for an inexperienced rider. It was the idea, then, to group the horses in three classes, A. B and C, and then assign weights to the horses in each class independent of the other classes. In that way the poorer performers would meet their kind and could carry high enough weights so that the better class of riders could have the mounts.

The test for the Class A horses was captured handily by J. B. Dunn's St. Quentin, which has been in fine form this season and which led home Slippery Elm by a length and a half, with Kallipolis third in a field of five starters. The heavy track suited Slippery Elm and he was made the favorite, but St. Quentin never left the issue much in doubt. He was rushed to the front right after the start and after racing Crank and Kallipolis into submission he had plenty of speed left with which to stall off the rush of Slippery Elm in the stretch. The latter moved up stoutly in the final furlong, caught Kallipolis a few yards from the finish and took the place by a head.

Ral Parr's Ralco ran a good race to capture the Class B event from Charlie Leydecker and Ettahe, among others which included the excellent mud runner, Back Bay. Back Bay set the pace but Ralco followed him closely and finally forced him to drop back. The Parr colt then rushed to the front and won by a length. Both Charlie Leydecker and Ettahe moved up from far back and were neck and neck for the place at the finish.

Glen Light scored handily in the last of this series. He was home four lengths in front of Who Cares with Napoli third among eight starters. There was never much question about the outcome of the race. Glen Light was at home in the going, moved into a good lead in the first furlong and was being eased up at the finish. Napoli came from nearly last to take third.

Max Bohland, Star Distance Runner, Now Citizen of U. S.

Max Bohland of the Paulist A. C., former national cross-country champion, and regarded as one of the likely candidates for a berth on the American Olympic Games team, yesterday became a naturalized citizen of the United States, when he obtained his final naturalization papers. Bohland was born in Germany. The award of citizenship to Bohland will make the crack Paulist distancer eligible for a position on Uncle Sam's team. The former hill and dale title-holder is now in strict training for a prospective busy outdoor campaign. Bohland is regarded as a potential American possibility for the 10,000-meter run, equivalent to a little more than six miles.

TOWNSEND HARRIS SWIMMERS IN VAN

Take Five of Seven Title Events in P. S. A. L. Meet at City College.

The swimmers of Townsend Harris Hall High School made almost a clean sweep of the first term individual championship events conducted last night in the City College tank by the Public Schools' Athletic League. Five of the seven title events were captured by representatives of the Manhattan school, which had already won the first term championship of the city by defeating Manual Training in the recent P. S. A. L. dual meet.

The High School of Commerce was a bad second in last night's championship taking the two first places not garnered by Townsend Harris and adding to these a number of minor positions, for a total score of 20½. The winners' score was 35, and the third team, Manual Training, followed closely on the heels of Commerce with 14. The five other schools trailed far in the rear.

After winning four of the first six events, Townsend Harris capped its evening's work by swimming away with the 800 foot relay in easy fashion. Commerce was second and Erasmus Hall H. S. third. The victorious team was composed of Raisler, Rosenblum, Clifford and Margolis.

100-Yard Swim—Won by Friedman, Commerce; Margolis, Townsend Harris, second; Raisler, Townsend Harris, third; Hastings, Manual Training, fourth. Time—1:18 2-5.

Fancy Dive—Won by Daly, Townsend Harris, with 3 points; Hettrick, Manual Training, second, with 10; Bagnall, Erasmus Hall, third, with 12; Roses, Commerce, and Smith, Boys' High, tied for fourth with 15 each.

800-Foot Relay Race—Won by Townsend Harris (Raisler, Rosenblum, Clifford, Margolis); Commerce (Alkoff, Blum, Schwartz, Kanefesky), second; Erasmus Hall (Lange, Brady, Nehlinger, Thiergardt), third. Time—3:32.

New Club Topsail Almost Ready for Cup Race Candidate.

BRISTOL, R. I. May 14.—The sloop Resolute, which will leave here next Wednesday for New Haven, preparatory to her races against the Vanitie to determine the defender of the America's Cup, was put through a severe test today. In a 25-knot wind and rough water she scudded with her lee rail awash out into Narragansett Bay, around Hog Island and back.

The only trouble developed was a slight sstretching of the leach of the mainsail, which on her return was removed to be refitted. It was learned today that a new club topsail for the Resolute was almost completed. It is narrow, but lofty, the new yard to which it will be attached rising about one third higher than that now on the sloop.

YALE COUNTS ON VICTORY.

Believes Eli Track Team Will Defeat Harvard Easily Today.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 14.—Although New Haven forecasters of the results of the Harvard-Yale dual track games, to be held here Saturday, are claiming the meet for Yale by a score of from 64 to 67 for the Elis to 37 to 40 points for the Crimson, Harvard supporters expect a considerably closer score. Yale concedes first places to Harvard for Captain Dennis F. O'Connell, intercollegiate champion, in the mile; for R. S. Whitney in both hurdles, and for C. A. Clark, Jr., in the shotput. Supporters of the Blue believe Yale will land first in every other event.

Coaches Donovan and Whelan of Harvard have decided to start Captain O'Connell only in the mile. Harvard expects him to win, and also believes that E. O. Gourdin, who has succeeded Krogness, since the latter's disbarment, as the most versatile athlete on the team, will win one of the dashes and land a place in the broad jump. The Crimson is not likely to pick up more than a point in the quarter, and in the half W. W. Goodwin's chances against such men as T. J. O'Brien and E. G. Driscoll are problematical. Hilles, who did well in the two-mile run against Tech, is likely to give Burnham Lewis considerable trouble in that event.

HARDY LOSES TWO MATCHES ON COURT

Kumagae Defeats Veteran in Chevy Chase Tennis, and Botsford Follows Suit.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Under most disheartening weather conditions, the invitation round robin tennis tournament of the historic Chevy Chase Club got under way this afternoon, four matches being played in the singles on courts still damp and slow from the morning showers. In the featured battle of the day, Ichiya Kumagae, America's third ranking player, defeated the veteran Samuel Hardy in straight sets, 6—1, 6—4, the latter afterward losing a second match of the upset variety to Willard Botsford at 6—2, 5—7, 6—4.

Conrad B. Doyle, the leading tennis expert of the South, who last season eliminated S. H. Voshell from the national singles, won two matches today, although short of practice, his victims being Botsford and Hugh Kelleher. Doyle will meet both Kumagae and Hardy tomorrow in what should prove the most interesting struggles of the tournament. The eleventh hour withdrawal of William T. Tilden, 2d, leaves the event very much an open affair among the other stars, with the Japanese expert a slight favorite.

Both Kumagae and Hardy adapted themselves surprisingly well to playing conditions today, and the gallery was treated to some fast tennis, most of the rallies being fought out from deep court. Hardy was the slower of the two to gain control of his strokes and lost his opening service chiefly through a pair of double faults. Although he won his next delivery, similar errors resulted in two more breaks and the set was won by Kumagae at 6—2.

Both Break Through Service.

In the second session, they alternated in winning on service up to 3—2, three of the games going to deuce. Kumagae then broke through in another hard fought deuce game, but Hardy promptly returned the compliment by going to the net and volleying in spectacular fashion. He then captured a lone game off his own delivery, and seemed on the way to squaring the match. Kumagae, however, began to put more speed into his drives and cleanly earned a game in turn, following two placement aces with terrific overhead smashes. Hardy was inclined to be overcautious, with the score 5—4 against him, and put himself in the hole with two more double faults. His temporary loss of control affected his ground strokes also and a net and an out in succession put an end to the match at 6—4.

Doyle's form was astonishingly good under the adverse circumstances. His chops stayed very low on the soft court and young Botsford had the greatest difficulty digging them up, getting only one game in each set. Kelleher did better and kept the Washingtonian on the run through two well placed sets, which went against him at 6—4, 6—2.

Kelleher broke through Doyle's service at the start, with the aid of two double faults, and led up to 2—0. He kept this advantage until the score stood 4—2, when the local star began a pull-up which soon tied the score and eventually gave him the set, 6—4. In the second session Doyle added three more to his run of four straight before Kelleher could break into the score again.

Kelleher Volleys Well.

The loser made a desperate effort to turn the tide, rushing the net continually, and volleying very well. He broke through Doyle's delivery for his second game, but lost his own in turn, and a bad bounce made it 5—2 against him.

Doyle played for the side lines with increasing confidence and upset Kelleher's service once more for the set and match, 6—2.

Botsford's victory over Hardy came late in the day and was a distinct surprise. The youngster had been unable to get his strokes working in his earlier match, but Hardy's shots suited his style and he rushed through the opening set at top speed, to win at 6—2.

The veteran then brought all his court strategy into play and succeeded in squaring the match with a deuce set. The light, however, was none too good, and this handicap, added to increasing weariness, kept Hardy on the short end of the rubber which went to Botsford after some brilliant play at 6—4.

The summary:

Singles—Ichiya Kumagae defeated Samuel Hardy, 6—1, 6—4; Conrad B. Doyle defeated Willard Botsford, 6—1, 6—1; Conrad B. Doyle defeated Hugh Kelleher, 6—1, 6—2; Willard Botsford defeated Samuel Hardy, 6—2, 5—7, 6—4.

Jungle Uniforms to Bedeck Missouri Eleven Next Fall

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 14.—When the University of Missouri football team takes the gridiron next Fall it will be togged in a new and distinctive Tiger uniform. A football outfit, including uniforms, to cost approximately $3,000, has been ordered by W. E. Meanwell, Director of Athletics. The Tiger uniform will consist of striped stockings, striped jersey sleeves and a new type of headgear never before used here.

VON BOECKMAN IS WINNER AT TRAPS

Regardless of the driving rain, a field of thirty gunners, including one woman, took part in the preliminary shoot of the annual championship of the Bergen Beach Gun Club on the shores of Jamaica Bay yesterday. The winner of the high scratch prize was P. Von Boeckman, who had a card of 92 out of a possible 100 targets. The race for the high handicap trophy ended in a tie between A. Delbon and F. L. Salomon, each having 94. On the first shoot off, each returned a full card of 25. In the second time at the traps, A. Delbon again had a full card of 25, winning the prize by a single "bird."

TENNIS PLAY POSTPONED.

Rain Interferes with Matches in Harlem Club's Tournament.

Rain held up play yesterday in the open singles tournament for the new challenge cup of the Harlem Tennis Club. The Tournament Committee, of which Louis Bry is Chairman, had hoped to be able to complete the fourth round as well as one or two matches in the round before the semi-finals yesterday, but that duty now remains for today.

RIVAL CREWS READY FOR REGATTA TODAY

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 14.—Everything is in readiness for the Yale-Cornell-Princeton triangular regatta on Lake Carnegie tomorrow afternoon. Rain fell all day, but the drizzle ceased at 5 o'clock and the sun came out to encourage the oarsmen as they left the boathouse for their final workouts.

Guy Nickalls, the Yale coach, does not hesitate to make his 'Varsity the favorite for the big race. "My men are in a winning mood," he said when interviewed. "Nothing can stop them."

The Yale oarsmen got in last night and were out on the lake twice today. In the forenoon they went for a long paddle and took a few racing starts. In the afternoon all three Eli crews went over the course of the race in leisurely fashion.

The Ithacans arrived in Princeton this morning. They were the second crew on the water in the afternoon, leaving the float about 5:30, at which time the Eli coaching staff turned the launch over to them.

The Cornell coxswains are not familiar with the course, and for that reason Courtney sent his crews over the entire course. Cornell will not be represented by a junior boat.

The Tigers went out at a little after 6 for their final workout. It consisted of starts and a slow paddle. The men are in great shape, and Dr. Spaeth expressed confidence. As was the case yesterday, however, he was very reticent, and when asked his opinion as to the probable outcome contented himself with saying: "Princeton is ready for its opponents. The crew that beats us will have to row."

Yale is favored to win in the betting at 4 to 5 over Princeton. Nobody is showing any disposition to cover the Cornell money because this is the first appearance of the big Red crews this season and they are an unknown quantity.

There will be a big crowd on the banks of the lake tomorrow to watch the three racers. This is house party week at Princeton, and every upper class has its quota of fair visitors. The big annual interscholastic track meet, which will take place in the Palmer Memorial Stadium tomorrow, will swell the visiting populace, and the first of the Harvard-Princeton baseball games will bring in large numbers of alumni.

The weather conditions bid fair to be ideal. There is every indication that Lake Carnegie, which never gets very rough, will be as smooth as glass for the regatta.

Yale—Bow, Allen; No. 2, Moulton; No. 3, Briscoll; No. 4, Schieffelin; No. 5, Hord; No. 6, Lovejoy; No. 7, Ellis; stroke, Peters; coxswain, R. Carson.

HARD FINAL WORK FOR ORANGE CREW

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 14.—The veteran coach, James Ten Eyck, had his Syracuse oarsmen on the Severn both morning and afternoon today, taking a long row this morning and practicing starts and spurting this afternoon. Glendon also polished off his Navy charges with a very brief afternoon's work.

Not only in the local race, but in the event at Princeton, with Cornell, Harvard and Princeton in the brush, there is intense interest here. It is felt that the result of the two races will do much toward pointing out America's representative for the Olympics at Antwerp, and the Midshipmen have been assured that they will be permitted to take the trip if they qualify.

The weights, as announced officially, show that all the Navy and Syracuse crews are around an average of 177 or 178 pounds. The visitors were weighed some time ago, however, and are probably a little lighter now. The crews appear to be well matched physically, the Navy having the great advantage of having rowed in two previous races, while Syracuse starts its schedule tomorrow.

WOMEN GOLFERS ON LINKS.

Two Tie for First Honors in Tournament at Piping Rock.

A little thing like an afternoon of rain didn't stop these Metropolitan women golfers from inaugurating their season of one-day tourneys yesterday. No less than twenty-seven changed their minds several times, but at last decided to go out to Piping Rock, at Locust Valley, L. I., for the first of the single-day events, and splashing around wet fairways and playing the entire round in the rain, returned scores that were satisfactory enough.

Two prizes were offered, one by the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association and the other by the Piping Rock club, and, as it happened, two women tied for first honors, and divided the spoils between them. Mrs. N. K. Toerge of Nassau, had the best gross score, a 96, and with the allowance of four strokes subtracted, had a 92 for net. Mrs. Gouverneur Morris, playing from Bedford, had a 97, which a handicap of five cut to 92.

The scores of the first eight follow:

Mrs. N. K. Toerge, Nassau, 96, 4—92; Mrs. Gouverneur Morris, Bedford, 97, 5—92; Mrs. J. A. Alexandre, Piping Rock, 100, 4—96; Mrs. J. A. Larkin, Piping Rock, 125, 24—101; Mrs. W. W. Aldrich, Piping Rock, 109, 8—101; Mrs. H. J. Nicholas, Piping Rock, 121, 12—109; Miss Julia Bredt, Essex County, 112, 8—104; Mrs. R. J. Duval, Wesbrook, 141, 18—123.

Pre-War Prices on Straws

This sounds like a broad statement in view of the present high cost of everything, but the fact is that we prepared our raw materials many months ago, and making them in our own factory, we are able to produce straws at $3.00 and $4.00 which were selling at $3.00 and $4.00 in every high priced shop five years ago. What these same shops are getting for these same kind of straws now is altogether another story.

Missonary Bishops Warne, Robinson and Johnson Advanced.

OTHERS KNOWN TODAY

Report on Plan for Unification of Methodist Church and the Southern Body Ready Netx Week.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 14.—The first two ballots for the election of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church were taken by the General Conference this morning. The first ballot was confined to the election of the missionary superintendents to the general superintendency, necessitated by the abolition of the office of Missionary Bishop. Eight hundred and two effective ballots were cast, and the result was the unanimous election of Missionary Bishops Frank W. Warne of Lucknow, India; John W. Robinson of Bombay, India, and Eben S. Johnson of Umtali, Rhodesia, Africa, as regular bishops with full powers of general superintendents.

The second ballot was taken to elect twelve white bishops and was cast just before adjournment. Under the rules the result will not be announced until tomorrow morning.

The special committee appointed by the General Conference to report upon the plan of unification of the Methodist Church with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, expects to have its findings and recommendations ready to submit to the conference next week. All phases of the proposed plan, which provides for the division of the territory in which the churches are located into regions, have been explained to the full committee which is now discussing the points involved. It is understood that the sentiment expressed to date is not strongly in favor of the proposed plan.

The Committee on the State of the Church is considering consolidation of the benevolent boards of the church. This work is carried on by four separate boards and numerous plans have been proposed for its unification.

There will be two reports from the committee considering the proposal to merge the Christian Advocates of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The majority report will not favor the merger, but Marvin Campbell, who is responsible largely for the proposal, will submit a minority report recommending the merger and carry the fight into the conference.

Mr. Campbell proposes the consolidation of three of the church papers—The Northwestern Christian Advocate, of Chicago; The Central Christian Advocate, of Kansas City, and The Western Christian Advocate, of Cincinnati.

HOLDUP MEN BEAT GIRL.

Rob Office in West 44th Street of $700 and Escape.

Two men armed with revolvers and wearing caps and masks entered the office of the Motor Truck Renting Corporation at 530 West Forty-fourth Street at 5:30 o'clock last evening, while Miss Mary McCormack, the cashier, and John Peacock, the manager, were making up the payroll, which was to be paid off at 6 o'clock.

At the order of "Hands up," Miss McCormack, who thought that the masked men were employes of the company having a little joke, began to upbraid them for ill-conceived humor. She was silenced with a blow over the right eye with one of the revolvers.

The holdup men then took a total of $700 from a safe and a cash drawer, hurried downstairs to the street and ran east in Forty-fourth Street to Eleventh Avenue, where they disappeared. Miss McCormack was treated by Dr. Hinsdale of Bellevue for a laceration on the forehead.

PASTOR SUES CHURCH.

Says Officers' Negligence Prevented Transfer After Call to Pulpit.

Suit to recover $50,000 damages from the rector, church wardens and vestrymen of Grace Church at Millbrook, Town of Washington, Dutchess County, N. Y., was begun yesterday in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, by the Rev. Edward J. Baird, a Protestant Episcopal minister, living at 414 Fourth Street, that borough. The summons and complaint have been filed.

The Rev. Mr. Baird charges that the defendants failed to take the necessary steps required by the church law to enable him to qualify as the rector of their church, after he had received a call to the pulpit in May, 1918. Because of the neglect of the defendants to notify the Bishop of the diocese of his election, the complainant did not obtain the necessary certificate of transfer from the prelate, and he has had no call since then. He is 50 years old and has no pulpit now.

RULING HELPS DRY AGENTS.

Court Finds Warrants Are Not Necessary to Enter Saloons.

Federal agents seeking for violations of the Prohibition law do not require a search warrant to enter saloons where they suspect liquor is being sold or stored, according to a ruling yesterday by Judge Thomas I. Chatfield, in the United States District Court in Brooklyn, who also held that a continuity of offenses was not necessary to convict the proprietor of a saloon on the charge of maintaining a nuisance.

The rulings were made in the case of Charles Lee of 757 Fulton Street, charged with maintaining a nuisance, who is charged jointly with his bartender, Otto Luchow, with having three bottles of whisky. The men were arrested on Feb. 17 last by Agents Scanlon and Connolly.

Prohibition agents in Brooklyn promise an active campaign against saloon keepers as a result of the rulings. Heretofore they have been compelled to arm themselves with search warrants before entering a saloon suspected of violating the law.

DISAGREES WITH HARDING.

Senator Owen Insists Higher Discount Rates Lower Bond Prices.

WASHINGTON, May 14. — Senator Owen, Democrat, of Oklahoma, today made public a letter to Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board disagreeing with the latter's view that increased discount rates ordered by the Reserve Board did not tend to reduce Liberty bond prices.

"If money was cheap and credits were available at low rates," said Senator Owen, "it is perfectly obvious that these bonds would go to par, and just to the degree that the banks of the country raise the rates to very high artificial figures, to that degree the Liberty bonds and Victory bonds will assuredly fall in market value."

High interest rates on call money, the Senator declared, threaten public confidence and industrial depression.

New Shipyard Wage Field Limited.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Shipyards engaged on Shipping Board work will not be affected by any wage rate adjustment to be made not later than July 1 by a special board agreed on at a conference at the Navy Department yesterday, Chairman Benson announced today. Wage questions in such yards, Admiral Benson said, would be decided by the machinery agreed on last August by the managers and the workers.

WOULD AID CENTRAL EUROPE

Dr. Ferrand Tells Red Cross Conference its Plight Grows Worse.

Speaking at a meeting of chapters of the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross at the Hotel Pennsylvania yesterday, Dr. Livingston Ferrand, Director of the organization, said that the need of relief in Central Europe was even greater than a few months ago. He cited reports of increasing misery, and continued:

"These people are no longer staggering; they are on their knees. Their condition has passed the point where any organization can do more than help with temporary relief measures to keep hope alive until the governments of the world combine to save them. One of our duties is to see that the United States plays its part in this great humanitarian work. It is inconceivable that this great nation should turn its back on these terrible conditions."

Telling of the plans for a campaign to interest women in the nursing profession, Dr. Ferrand said that he believed the first duty of the organization was to the thousands of American soldiers still in the army hospitals. He said a secondary duty was to prepare nurses for the handling of wounded in any future war and to improve the general health in rural communities.

Another speaker was Dr. John H. Finley, who praised the work of the 9,000,000 junior members of the Red Cross. About 1,200 delegates, representing 210 chapters, are attending the conference. It will be concluded today.

WANT UNEMPLOYMENT FUND

Clothing Workers to Ask Employers to Set Money Aside Out of Profits.

BOSTON, May 14.—A resolution requesting their employers to set aside an unemployment fund out of their profits for the benefit of employes who are idle during slack periods in the industry was adopted by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, who closed their Fourth Biennial Convention here today. The organization hopes to create a $10,000,000 fund in thie manner.

The delegates also voted to put into operation within 90 days one Joint Board in New York, under which the Joint Board of the Children's Clothing Workers will be abolished. A resolution advocating a five-day week of 40 hours was defeated.

The candidacy of Eugene Debs for President was endorsed, although the convention refused to go on record as a body as favoring the Socialist Party. Removal of the blockade against Russia and recognition of the Soviet Government were urged.

Dr. James Peter Warbass, President of the Co-operative League of America, urged the convention to join in the movement to educate the workers, so that from operating in a co-operative way they might in time take over the manufacturing.

Fewer Potatoes and Beans Planted.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A 5 per cent. reduction in the acreage planted to potatoes and a 29 per cent. falling off in areas devoted to beans were indicated for this season in reports just received by the United States Bureau of Markets from its field agents. High prices for potato seed and the shortage of farm labor were given as the principal reasons for the reduction in potato planting, while the unsatisfactory market for beans caused the smaller acreage planted to that crop.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Jose Ruben will sail for London on the Carmania today and will return in the late Summer to appear in the leading role of the Hattons' new comedy, "The Checkerboard."

Bertha Kalich will end her second season in "The Riddle: Woman" in Brooklyn this week and will spend the Summer abroad. She will be seen here next season in Jacob Gordin's "Soyfa Korona" and in a new American play.

The Brighton Beach Music Hall has been leased by Gleason & Block and will be used by them for the presentation of musical comedy. The same firm will shortly present "Maid to Love," a musical comedy, in New York.

"Poe," a biographical play by B. Iden Payne, the stage director, and Thomas Wood Stevens, head of the school of drama of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will be produced in the theatre of the Institute, in Pittsburgh, next Tuesday night.

The East-West Players will repeat their recent program of one-act plays at the Jewish Art Theatre on Friday and Saturday nights of next week. Ervine's "The Magnanimous Lover" heads the program.

PLEADS FOR MRS. TREE IN FIELD ESTATE SUIT

John S. Miller Holds That She Cannot Be Deprived of a Dower Interest.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Nancy Perkins Field Tree of London had her day in court today when her division of the heavy legal battery arguing the Marshall Field will case before Judge Foell presented her claims for a share in the $100,000,000 residue trust which is the stake in the court battle.

The alleged dual character of provisions surrounding the trust of the Marshall Field estate was advanced in favor of the claim of Mrs. Tree to a dower interest in the $40,000,000 share of Henry Field in that trust by her attorney, John S. Miller, Jr.

Mrs. Tree was the wife of Henry Field at the time of his death. The latter's grandfather, Marshall Field, in his will, provided that in case of the death of either of the brothers, Marshall Field 3d or Henry Field, the interest of the one dying should go to the other.

Can a testator, in making a will, deprive the spouse of a legatee of his or her dower rights?

As a partial offset is the claim of Henry Anthony Marsh, illegitimate son of Henry Field, to a share of the $100,000,000 trust. This claim was overruled recently by Judge Denis E. Sullivan, but the ruling has been appealed and figured in the hearing before Judge Foell, where Marshall Field 3d is asking that the entire $100,000,000 trust be turned over to him.

The method of the distribution of the Field estate, so far as it affects the grandsons of Marshall Field and his granddaughter, Gwendolyn Field, is:

A trust of $5,000,000 was established, the income to be distributed thus:

Two-fifths to Marshall Field 3d, two-fifths to Henry, one-fifth to Gwendolyn. Following the death of Henry Field, Judge Sullivan ordered the principal of Henry's share to be divided equally between Marshall Field 3d and Gwendolyn.

The residue of the estate was placed in trust for the benefit of Marshall Field 3d and Henry in the proportions of three-fifths for Marshall and two-fifths for Henry.

Out of the income accumulations were to be made the following payments:

To Marshall and Henry, respectively, $450,000 and $300,000 every five years after they reached the age of 25 and until they were 45 years old, respectively. After each arrived at the age of 45 he was to receive the entire income, including the accumulations. After each became 50 years old his share of the principal of the trust was to be turned over to him.

The death of Henry Field has resulted in the present legal tangle, both as to the income and the distribution of the principal.

MUSIC NOTES.

Mischa Levitzki, in a fall at his home here, injured a tendon of one wrist, and his physician has ordered the pianist to give the hand complete rest for a month. He has canceled his recitals announced for May 20, 22 and 24 in Newark, Orange and Montclair.

Colin O'More is announced in a matinee song program on Tuesday, May 25, among the late-season recitals at Aeolian Hall.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The House Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads favorably reported today a compromise bill dealing with second class mail rates, which continues the existing rates until July 1, 1921. This would postpone for a year the automatic increases scheduled to take place under the zone second class law in July, 1920, and thus give newspaper and periodical publishers another year in which to prepare for increase in zone rates provided in the War Revenue act of October, 1917.

The bill is a compromise between the Fess and Madden bills which proposed that the future increased rates should be cancelled and a flat rate substituted. Representative Fess's bill also proposed that a commission should be created to study the second class postage problem and report to the next Congress.

ASK POSTAL WAGE ACTION.

National Consumers' League Wants National Consumers League Wants

The National Consumers League at its quarterly executive session presided over in the Hotel McAlpin yesterday by Mrs. G. W. B. Cushing in the absence from the chair of Secretary of War Baker adopted a resolution calling upon the Postal Wage Commission to report so that Congress may adjust the wages of postal employes before it recesses in June.

The resolution drew attention to the emergent character of the situation caused by the exodus of employes from the service because their compensation has not been adjusted and emphasized the vital importance to all the business and social relations of the nation that its chief means of intercommunication be maintained in a state of efficiency.

BALLOT GROUPING UPHELD.

Court Denies Application for Writ by Justice W. P. Burr.

Justice Edward G. Whitaker of the Supreme Court yesterday denied "pro forma" the application of Supreme Court Justice William P. Burr for a writ of mandamus to compel the Board of Elections to print on the primary and general ballots this year the names of each set of opposing candidates for the Supreme Court in separate sections. The practice now is to group all candidates. Justice Whitaker ruled that the nine receiving the highest vote, there being that number of vacancies, shall receive certificates of election.

Counsel for Justice Burr complained of this system because it compels a candidate to compete not only with the candidate of the opposite party but with all the other candidates as well. The pro forma decision was handed down in accordance with an agreement of counsel for both sides, so the case might be carried to the Court of Appeals and a final decision obtained before that tribunal takes its Summer recess next month.

JOYRIDER GETS 5 YEARS.

Mrs. L. H. Gainsburg's Chauffeur Used Car Without Permission.

Joseph Davidson, a chauffeur, of 507 West Thirty-ninth Street, was sentenced to Sing Sing prison for five years yesterday by Judge McIntyre in General Sessions for using, without permission, the auto of his employer, Mrs. Louise H. Gainsburg, 210 West Ninetieth Street.

"I am going to make an example of this rascal," announced Judge McIntyre. "It is about time chauffeurs should be taught a lesson—that they cannot ruin their employers' cars on joy rides. The evidence shows that he was going at the rate of sixty-five miles an hour through crowded thoroughfares. Mrs. Gainsburg befriended this man and his wife because of their children. She was forced to discharge him several times because of his drinking habits. The time has come when judges must make an example of these reckless chauffeurs."

"TELL ALLEN TO LOVE ME."

TOPEKA, Kan., May 14.—The Rev. Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," told in an address before the Kansas Congregational Conference yesterday how he had failed to induce Alexander Howat, President of the Kansas miners, to love Governor Allen.

"I asked him what he thought would be the first thing Jesus would do if he were here today," said Dr. Sheldon. "Howat replied:

"'Well, I expect He first would clean up Governor Allen and the State House.'

"I asked him if he believed in Christ's teachings—all of them. He assured me that he did. 'Then,' I said, 'if that is the case, you should love Governor Allen.'

"Howat leaned up against the door and thought for a moment, then said like a flash: 'Well, you go back to Topeka and tell Governor Allen to love me.'"

CONFESSION

A customer whose conscience has been troubling him, writes this:

"I bought two theatre tickets from you one day last month. When I got my change I thought you had made a mistake in my favor, so I hurried right out.

"Ten days later I thought I'd give you a chance to make another mistake. You did it.

"I couldn't believe it would happen a third time, but I took a chance. Same result—except that I overheard one of your people explaining that it was McBride's policy to charge no more than fifty cents over the box-office price. Then the alarm clock rang and my peerless intelligence woke up to the fact that the stuff I thought I was getting away with was also being committed by the other four million."

There aren't quite four million, but there are enough people who want good theatre seats promptly and courteously provided to convince us that McBride's policy is as sound now as it was 46 years ago.

HOOVER SEES NEED OF NEW LABOR CODE

Says the Country Must Have Restimulation of Industry—Favors Open Shop.

Palmer's Action Not Enough to Meet Emergency, He Tells House Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Herbert Hoover, appearing today before the Senate Educational and Labor Committee investigating the industrial situation, and later before a sub-committee of the House Judiciary Committee inquiring into the sugar shortage, gave his views as a citizen on these two important questions at present before Congress. The former Food Controller, now a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, was heard by large audiences at the session of both committees, the greatest interest being shown by the crowd that followed his testimony as to the high price of sugar.

In his appearance early in the day before the Senate Education and Labor Committee, Mr. Hoover told the Senators that, in his opinion, the best hope of settling the acute industrial and labor problems confronting the nation lies in the plan evolved by the President's second industrial conference. It may be recalled that Hoover served as Vice Chairman of that conference. In general, he described the plan as "voluntary settlement of industrial controversies through co-operative agreement."

Mr. Hoover appeared as the first of many witnesses the Senate Committee will hear on the general subject of industrial and labor reconstruction problems.

He cautioned against the use of injunctions and other "means of repression" in dealing with strike and other labor disputes, declaring that such means did not settle, but only inflamed. He also warned against attempts to solve the whole problem by one great forward step or through adoption of revolutionary methods.

"The problem must be solved step by step, and it will take time," he said. "I do not believe that the relationship between labor and capital can ever be settled by any form of legal repression, because that leads ultimately to the jail as a means of enforcement.

"Public opinion and good-will are the forces we must depend on for enforcement of the right sort of settlements. Repression leads to the border of martyrdom and tends to make for compulsory employment and a compulsory wage.

Says Freedom Requires Open Shop.

"No one doubts that the modern consolidation of the employers over large units of employes gives every justification and right for the organization of the employes similarly into units for the exertion of equality in bargaining powers. Such organization has a right to present its own representatives in bargaining. On the other hand there should be no compulsion to join such an organization. The principle of individual freedom requires the open shop."

Senator Kenyon, Chairman of the committee, put to Mr. Hoover the direct question:

"If you were in Congress trying to solve this problem what would you do?

"I would endeavor to work out something like the plan evolved by the second Industrial Conference," replied Mr. Hoover. "It is a plan toward which there could be no righteous antagonism. The machinery which that plan proposes to set up avoids the dangers and pitfalls of compulsory arbitration and the denial of the right to strike. My opinion is that that is the best step and the only step to be taken until the problem of the relationship of workers and employers has developed further.

"Extremists on either side who propose radical steps will not settle the problem," he declared.

Mr. Hoover discussed the Kansas Industrial Court. He said it was clearly patterned after the Australian idea, which, he added, had not worked out so well as was expected of it.

"It would, in effect, substitute Government control of industry for competition," said Mr. Hoover. "The Kansas act is an experiment that may be worth trying. My own opinion is that such a law cannot succeed."

Sees New Industrial Code Needed.

"Do you not believe that an industrial code must be evolved as the foundation on which to build the structure of industrial peace and harmony?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"Ultimately there must be a code," replied Mr. Hoover, "but it must develop through experience, and not result from instantaneous legislative action. There are too many questions to which no rigid rule can be applied. Take the question of an eight-hour day. That is not a matter of universal application. In some industries eight hours is too long a day. The question of what constitutes a living wage is another variable one."

"Don't you think that we are in a new day, and that labor realizes it?" continued Senator Kenyon.

"That is my firm belief," was the reply. "By and large, the employes of the country are looking for a position of right instead of a position of consideration; that is, they want their rights, instead of benevolence.

"We need the re-stimulation of creative instinct in industry, which has been deadened with the enlargement of industry. The mutual feeling of responsibility between employer and employe that prevailed in earlier days must be restored by some system of shop organization. Unfortunately, that has been made more difficult because many workers have been wrongly prejudiced against any such idea."

Bonuses and like devices, he said, had come into disfavor with the workers, who had been led in some instances to suspect they were used to the detriment of the workers.

He vigorously opposed application in the United States of the Whitley shop council plan in vogue in England. Nothing could be more dangerous than introduction of that plan here, he held.

Mr. Hoover said no one need fear the strike would become a political weapon in the United States, as it had in Europe. Workers here would not permit that, he said, as they had in fact demonstrated when urged to form a labor party.

Cites Palmer at Sugar Inquiry.

Mr. Hoover, in appearing later at the hearing on sugar prices before a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, urged the strengthening of the Lever act to permit the Government to regulate the sugar situation and limit the use of sugar to the essential industries. He said if sugar were used only by the essential industries, and its use restricted in the making of candy and soft drinks, the consuming public would have sufficient sugar at reasonable prices.

While Mr. Hoover was brought before the committee in the course of its investigation of the action of Attorney General Palmer in fixing a proper price on Louisiana sugar, he declined to criticise Mr. Palmer for that act. He did say, however, that this action might have influenced Cuban sugar men to increase their prices.

"If I had been dealing with that situation," asserted Mr. Hoover, "I should have purchased the Louisiana sugar from the producers through the Sugar Equalization Board at a just price, and either taken the loss or sold the sugar to luxury trades at an equalized price. Instead of handling that situation by legislative methods, I would have handled it by some other operation.

"I can see no reason why the Sugar Board should not have purchased that sugar," continued Mr. Hoover. "It would have been a small operation. Then the rise of the price of sugar would have been less rapid. The price of Cuban sugar is not due to the fixing of the Louisiana price alone, but to a much wider situation of world shortage. Production of sugar in the Western Hemisphere increased steadily during the war. Consumption also increased, but not so greatly.

"There was some excess production in the Western Hemisphere for exportation to Europe. But Europe has suffered a great decrease in beet sugar production, and there has been a great decrease in cane sugar production of the Eastern Hemisphere. Taking the world by and large, there is a very considerable shortage. No one can estimate the buying power of Europe, due to the fluctuating money values, and also because sugar is still rationed in some European countries. If Europe should restore normal consumption, there would be a profound shortage."

Hoover's Plan in Price Crisis.

Asked to explain in greater detail how he would have dealt with the sugar situation, Mr. Hoover said:

"Last July I should have recommended to Congress that the Sugar Equalization Board acquire the Cuban crop and that its powers over sugar be continued. If that had been accepted by Congress, it would have resulted in practically the same price as last year, and it would now be 12½ cents, instead of 25 or 27 cents.

"In November, after opportunity to purchase the Cuban crop had been given by Congress, I should have taken the same measures as could be taken today. There are two directions in which something could be done. The whole of Europe and our own merchants are competing for sugar. The effect is to produce extraordinary prices. Some collaboration of action between the principal European Governments and our own, and with the Cuban Government, could be arranged to secure a proper price to Cuba and to suppress inordinate prices. I think the Cuban producers do not approve these price levels. They must stimulate the production of sugar and competition and create a situation that may be disastrous."

Mr. Hoover admitted that it would be a hard problem to keep down the price of sugar. He suggested, however, there should be international co-operation in the distribution of sugar to neutral markets. He thought that the present prices could be greatly reduced and speculation almost eliminated if the luxury trade were put on a rationing system. He included candy and soft drinks as among non-essentials.

Added Legislation Called for Now.

While he believed the Lever act could be used to place the luxury trade upon rations, he concluded that additional legislation would be needed to continue such regulations sufficiently long to make the system really effective.

The witness said that the consumption of sugar in the last year had increased greatly, due to the lack of regulations, and, in part, to prohibition.

"One cause of this increased use of sugar is the large prosperity of the country," he said, "but prohibition no doubt increased the use largely because of the greater manufacture of soft drinks. And I have no doubt that prohibition is a very material factor. There has been an ascending consumption of sugar for a great number of years, which in itself is a measure of a higher standard of living."

Mr. Hoover predicted that there would be a sugar shortage for at least two years, with high prices.

"But sugar at 15 or 16 cents a pound would stimulate all the production that would be necessary to overcome the expected shortage," he concluded.

Joseph H. Choate Says Industry Recovers Rapidly from War.

Protection more drastic than tariff on imports will be necessary to keep Germany from regaining her hold on the dye industry, Joseph H. Choate, general counsel of the Chemical Foundation, Inc., told the members of the New York Section of the Société de Chimie Industrielle at the Chemists' Club last night.

"It is up to Congress to continue the protection which the British fleet began," he said, "for the German dye industry is one single trust. Prices will make no difference to the Germans; they will underbid American manufacturers, regardless of tariff or temporary loss, if they regain control of dyestuffs in this country."

He cited figures to show that the German aniline and pharmaceutical industries had recovered, and added that the Badische chemical works had increased their employes from 16,000 to 24,000 since the armistice. German monopoly of dyestuffs, Mr. Choate warned, meant control of industries using dyes.

TELLS OF CAR LINE LOSSES.

Receiver Says New York Railways Company Averages $3,031 Daily.

In applying to the Public Service Commission yesterday for permission to discontinue transfers with the Fifty-ninth Street crosstown line of the Third Avenue Railway System, Job E. Hedges, Receiver of the New York Railways Company, asserted that his company was losing an average of $3,031.67 a day. He said that during the five months ended on Jan. 31, 1920, the operating loss amounted to $436,845.75.

Mr. Hedges added that the average cost of carrying each passenger was 5.183 cents for the five months' period, and that for the six months ended Feb. 29, 1920, the average cost was 5.361 cents. On the basis of these figures he stated that the company lost 2.183 cents on each transfer passenger during the five months.

ARREST SCHWAB'S 'FRIEND.'

Police Find Man Signalling with Hat on Riverside Drive.

A man giving the name of Fred M. Gresham was arrested last night on a charge of disorderly conduct after he had been observed for sometime executing semaphore signals with his hat at the entrance to the residence of Charles M. Schwab, at Seventy-third Street and Riverside Drive. At the West Sixty-eighth Street Station he told the police he was an old friend of the steelmaker and that he wanted a little help for his family. He was treated by an ambulance surgeon from Flower Hospital before being taken to Night Court. Gresham gave his address as the Hotel Astor, where it was learned he had run up a bill.

BAN CANDY AND SOFT DRINKS

Indiana Housewives Aim to Abstain and Reduce Cost of Sugar.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 14.—Abstention from candy and ice cream soda is facing the members of the Housewives' League of Marion County, if the members obey the resolution adopted by the organization last night as an effort toward reducing the price of sugar and increasing the supply.

The resolution provided that beginning with tomorrow the members abstain from buying candy, soft drinks, ice cream and other luxuries requiring sugar in their preparation until a surplus is created and the price reduced.

David Weil the Creditor.

In the report in THE TIMES on Thursday of the bankruptcy proceedings of the Thorne Murphy Textile Company, the name of Daniel Weil appeared as one of the creditors. This was an error. The name should have been David Weil.

AIRPLANE ORDERS SWAMP FACTORIES

LINES TO BE OPENED IN JULY

Only Freight to be Carried Until Next Year, When Aerial Pullmans Are to be Built.

How American business men forming transcontinental aerial transportation lines were compelled to buy in the English market because American aircraft manufacturers were unable to fill orders, is set forth in an announcement made yesterday by the Aerial Transport Corporation of its plans for entering the commercial field. The corporation has closed a deal for 3,000 surplus British planes. Among those connected with the company are Lieut. Commander P. N. L. Bellinger, who piloted the NC-3 in the transatlantic race, A. W. Harris and R. S. Hartz, formerly of the U. S. Air Service and John J. Jordon, of the Aerial Mail Department of the Post Office.

The announcement says the transportation lines will be in operation by July, and that arrangements have been made with leading commercial interests to forward their goods by plane. Contracts already negotiated show that the volume of merchandise to be transported will assure a capacity schedule, it is stated.

"On this account," it continues, "it will not be possible to carry passengers this year. We are glad of it, because for passengers we want the best airplanes that American engineers and American constructors can produce. Bids will be invited in the near future from all American aircraft manufacturers for a large number of airplanes, especially adapted for the transportation of passengers, and every inducement will be given to American manufacturers to supply us with aerial Pullman cars for this service."

"We communicated with all the American aircraft manufacturers and visited all the plants, only to be told by each of them that the airplane could not be obtained this year. We were told by the manufacturers that only half a dozen airplanes could be obtained by the end of 1920."

After fruitless negotiations here, the corporation communicated with allied aircraft manufacturers and received prompt offers. Through Handley Page it negotiated for 3,000 planes and additional motors and extra parts. An agreement was made with Handley Page, the announcement says, to organize a company to dispose of the planes not needed for the transportation lines and he turned over orders and bids for thousands of planes which he had received while here. The Aircraft Sales Corporation is the name of the company formed for this purpose.

IMMIGRANT TIDE RISING.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 14.—According to a Washington dispatch to The Chicago Tribune immigration on a large scale is forecast by reports from Europe.

"More than 600,000 aliens in nearly all European countries except Germany, Austria, Hungary, Moslem Turkey and Russia, have applied for permission to migrate to America," said the dispatch. "American Consuls are passing on the applications as rapidly as possible. The latest figures show that for several weeks immigrants have been arriving in this country at the rate of 600,000 a year, five times as many as entered last year and half as many as in 1914, when the peak of pre-war immigration was reached.

"The renewed influx of foreigners is welcomed by employers, who believe that immigration will relieve the labor shortage. The American Federation is alarmed for fear that the competition of immigrant labor will lower wages and is pressing its demand for the suspension of all immigration for several years.

"The House Committee on Immigration is at work on a regulatory measure for consideration at the next session, but the indications are that instead of a suspension of immigration the only legislation will provide for the weeding out of undesirables before they leave foreign shores."

EX-KAISER'S GOODS SHOWN.

Throne Missing from Palace Furnishings Seized for Debt.

The sixty-five articles which were at one time among the furnishings of the palace of the ex-Kaiser, but were seized in satisfaction of debts owed by him after his flight to Holland, were on exhibition yesterday at the Anderson Galleries, where they were viewed by a large number of people.

Vlademar Poveisen, who brought them to this country, said that he had obtained the pieces from Julius N. Zwining, a famous cabinet maker in Berlin, who obtained them in satisfaction for a large sum owed to him by the ex-Kaiser. The throne itself was not among the pieces, although hangings of the throne were on exhibition. The sixty-five pieces will be sold next Saturday.

Textile Mills Cut Production.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., May 14.—Several textile mills here announced plans today for curtailment of production giving shortage of orders as the cause. The Montrose Worsted Company has laid off night weavers and the Barnai Worsted Company will end night work this week. Other mills are reported to be cleaning up remaining orders with a shorter time schedule in view.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday....7¼ per cent. for the best names
Thursday....7¼ per cent. for the best names

Dresses One-Third Off.

According to reliable information from several sources, the prices on important dress lines have been cut a third. The range affected is reported to be between $11.50 and $25. The revision has been made not only on goods in stock, but on garments ordered and not yet cut up. Voiles, organdies and ginghams are the materials used. While the market can explain any recession on silks, owing to the drop in material prices, more difficulty attaches to finding the reasons back of the drop on cotton dresses. Buyers thought, however, that the price slashing was a bid for business.

Garment Workers' Own Factory.

Reports that the garment makers' union is preparing to operate its own factory are made the subject of amused rather than serious comment by the manufacturers. As it has been customary for the garment workers to start up in business for themselves as soon as an opportunity persented itself, the manufacturers are inclined to wonder where the union will secure its managing talent. Beyond this point the employers feel that an experiment of the kind planned may provide the union with a fuller appreciation of manufacturing problems and lead to more stable conditions in the industry. From a competitive standpoint, the manufacturers approached on the subject do not appear very fearful that they will lose much business to the union factory.

White Sweaters Not Active.

While some call is reported here for women's novelty sweaters in white, reflecting the vogue for these garments at Palm Beach and other Winter resorts during the last season, the demand for them from the country at large is by no means heavy. In fact, it was said yesterday that the pastel colorings in the sweaters in question outsold whites by about twenty-five to one, with turquoise, American Beauty, peacock, &c., well up among the leaders in the wanted shades. One of the most interesting things about the current demand is the amount of goods that is being taken in staple colors, especially black. An unusually large demand for navy sweaters for this time of the year is also reported.

More Coal Coming Through.

The hard coal tonnage received by the local trade has increased a little this week, because of the heavier dumpings at the upper ports, Saward's Journal will say today. It is useless to expect a normal supply, however, as long as the towing service from Port Reading and Perth Amboy is crippled by the railroad tugs being tied up. About all the city dealers can hope for while the trouble lasts is to get enough coal to take care of the current requirements of their customers, especially their steam trade. An encouraging feature of the bituminous trade is the slightly better car supply reported on most roads.

Gray Goods Prices Slip Fast.

The retreat in prices in the local gray goods market assumed the proportions of a route yesterday, when second hands let out a variety of fabrics at prices ranging from 1 cent to 2 cents a yard less than those paid for similar cloths on Thursday. May business was done on 38½-inch 64-60s at 23 cents, with July goods of the same construction sold at 22 cents. Also a cent a yard off were five-yard sheetings, which sold for shipment in the remainder of this month at 18½ cents. A break of 2 cents a yard in 40-inch lawns was noted when 88-80, 8.50-yard goods sold at 36 cents for this month's delivery. Similar deliveries of voiles and organdies were disposed of at corresponding prices.

Fine Cottons Being Canceled.

The cancellation bug, which has bitten so many buyers in the woolen and worsted goods field that official notice of it has been taken by a trade association, has lately widened its sphere of activities so as to include jobbing and big retail buyers of fine colored and white dress cottons. While apparently canceling because the goods are long overdue, men close to the converting trade assert that the dropping prices for unfinished cloths are no small factors in the action buyers are taking. Were prices for fine-yarn goods in the gray firm or advancing, it is contended, there would be a different story to tell. The fact that the last rise in the gray cloths carried them past the prices at which a considerable amount of business in finished goods was booked does not seem to check the "bear" activities of the buyers.

Novelty Worn Off.

The novelty of getting a discount on a retail purchase seems to be wearing off, with a consequent slacking in public interest, according to the observation of retail store men who have been keeping in close touch with the situation. The first great rush of buying is over, and shoppers are now more careful to compare values before tumbling over in the eagerness to collect a discount. A store featuring a 25 per cent. discount yesterday had only a handful of customers in it when the hour was one that is usually busiest. The rainy day might have had something to do with the poor showing, but market representatives thought waning public interest might also be responsible.

Money to Lose.

A prominent garment manufacturer is credited with the statement that from now on the industry is to see "hard sledding." He considers it essential for the manufacturers to name only bottom prices and take their losses, if necessary. "I have $100,000 to lose," he said, "and every one who made money last year ought to have put aside something to use in the price struggle that is now at hand. The thing that must be remembered is that it is the public demand for lower prices that is stiffening the retailers in their decision not to purchase exorbitant values. As the price break goes along the line the manufacturer will have to lose some money, but he will soon get his raw material prices down where they belong, and the situation shall become normal."

A Faker at Work.

A letter has been received from a resident buying firm calling attention to a fraud being practiced in the trade. The faker claims to be a buyer for department stores, and places large orders. On the strength of these he secures a letter of introduction to a friend of the manufacturer who is either in the fur or diamond business, saying that he wishes to get a fur coat or a diamond for his wife. He gives the fur or diamond manufacturer a check, which is usually accepted after a conversation over the telephone with the original manufacturer with whom the large order was placed. At the present time this thief claims to be a buyer for L. Klein, Inc., of Chicago.

COMMODITIES PRICES.

Rather Marked Have Been Changes In Those of Foodstuffs.

Commodities prices took another upward swing in the week just closed, Dun's list showing 66 revisions, of which 38 were upwaard. Last week in 55 changes, there were 30 upturns. Particularly noticeable this week was the strength of the grains and the foodstuffs. All of the former moved up to new high levels under the influence of several bullish factors, while in the latter the ups exceeded the downs by two to one. Provisions were especially strong.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

Fourteen of the twenty-one changes listed in the foodstuffs this week were advances. In the local market for provisions the features were increases of 50 cents a barrel each in Spring patent and Winter straight flours. The former is now $2.50 a barrel higher than at this time a year ago, but the advance in the latter is not nearly so sharp. Lard and hams also advanced, but there was a break of half a cent a pound in the price of bacon here. At Chicago live hogs and short ribs went up. There were no declines.

Changes in the dairy products were fewer and less marked than those of last week. The best butter showed a very small advance. State dairy stock, common to fair, did not change, but there was a break of 1 cent a pound in the best renovated. The best cheese went up a little, with the undergrades unchanged A rise of 1 cent a dozen was seen in the best Western eggs, reflecting the shortage resulting from the traffic tieup, but the fancy nearby stock did not change. Both grades are now quoted lower than the corresponding 1919 prices.

The list for fresh fruits showed neither advances nor declines, and the only change in the dried ones was another rise in muscatel raisins. The feature of the week's transactions in the vegetables was a break of $1 a barrel in the price of potatoes, which, however, still cost more than twice as much as they did at this time in 1919. The only other change in the vegetables was a rise in choice marrow beans. In the list for teas the best Japans were quoted higher, while in the coffees a slight nominal decline was seen in No. 7 Rio. The spice list was marked by further declines in both black and white Singapore peppers, and nutmegs also declined. The sugar market continued to show the unusual condition of the raw material being higher than the finished, although both went up.

In the grains list the week brought new high levels to wheat, corn, oats and rye, but prime timothy hay and long rye straw declined. Malting barley did not change. The revisions in the combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils were evenly divided, with six each way. Not many features were included in them. In the naval stores a nominal advance in resin and a similar drop in turpentine completed the changes.

Gray forge pig iron was higher at Pittsburgh this week, with the only other advance in the metals list shown by electrolytic copper. The declines came from spelter, lead and tin. Domestic Portland cement went up 70 cents a barrel, and in the lumber list advances were shown in red gum, plain chestnut and basswood. Hides and leathers again put in a quiet week. The latter were bare of changes, and the only revision in the hides was an advance in Colorado stock. The paper market showed advances in news roll and M. F. book stock, and chip and straw boards also went up. Both the Eastern and Brazilian crude rubber markets were easier, and the same was true of some of the Chinese raw silks. Japanese raw silks, however, took on a somewhat firmer tone under the influence of better buying. In the miscellaneous changes were a rise in hemp and declines in platinum and English vermilion paint.

Cancellations, reduced production and softening prices were the portion of the textile trades this week. Linens were the only things that seemed to escape, and they were probably saved only by their extreme scarcity. Burlaps and unfinished cotton goods showed liberal declines, with second hands the principal sellers in both cases.

GOOD DAY AT FUR AUCTION.

Bidding Was Lively and Receipts Went Up to $850,000 Again.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—Wholesalers able to obtain offerings at about 30 per cent. under February prices, the fifth day of the international fur auction showed decided activity in buying, and total sales of the day went up to $850,000 again.

Raccoon was the principal attraction. Minnesota skins brought up to $14.50; Eastern, $10.50; Central, $8.10; South Western, $4.50, and Carolina, $4.60. Some of the 2,900 lynx pelts offered brought up to $51. The day's selling embraced also 16,500 wildcat and 15,000 lynx cat. "Lynx cat" pelts, of especially good quality, brought up to $12; wildcats went at $2.30—averaging about 30 per cent. below February's second prices.

Saturday's offerings will consist of 2,400 viscachas, 10,000 chinchilla rats, 1,361 Siberian chinchilla, 2,400 chincilla and 295,000 ermine, including 35,000 grey and 80,000 brown ermine. In the afternoon the entire body of fur men will journey to Cardinal Field to watch the ball game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Trolley Dodgers.

Weather Dampens Dry Goods Trade.

CHICAGO, May 14.—In their weekly review of the dry goods trade Marshall Field & Co. say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods was in excess of the corresponding period a year ago. Road sales for immediate and future delivery were not so large in volume. Customers have been in the market in slightly smaller numbers than last year. They report that unfavorable weather has somewhat retarded retail distribution. Collections continue good."

BUSINESS RECORDS

FAILURES OF THE WEEK.—Bradstreets reports 94 failures in the United States for the week, against 113 for the previous week and 116, 178, 289, 302 for the corresponding weeks 1919 to 1916. # FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Recover—Liberty Bonds Fall Further—New Railroad Paper Sells Quickly.

Enough short covering purchases came into yesterday's market for stocks to impart a firm tone to prices at the end of trading. In fact, there was little evidence at any time of selling pressure from professional or other sources, and in case of certain steel and petroleum issues offerings were sufficiently scanty to cause 1 to 3 point gains on relatively few bids. The unsatisfactory feature of security dealings was again the decline of Liberty bonds, and the 4¾ and 3¾ per cent. notes. Liquidation brought at times declines of one-quarter to one-half point in this group, which is weakness reflective of insistent selling that pays less regard to price than to desire for immediate conversion of bonds into cash. Government war issues of small denominations figure prominently in current dealings, and it would not be surprising if necessities of wage earners are having a part in the market to an extent greater than during the Winter. The railroad strikes and consequent disturbance of orderly and regular deliveries of goods have thrown many factories upon a part-time working schedule, and in some localities reports tell of complete shutdowns, which entail loss of wages. Labor has no less a stake in railroad upbuilding and freedom of traffic movement than those other groups whose function in the industrial structure it is to supply capital for manufacturing and distributing products.

Call money reached 12 per cent. after standing loans had been renewed at 8 per cent., and the rate did not slip under 10 per cent. at the close of business, although offerings were reported largely in excess of bids. It was interesting to note in news dispatches that the Western Federal Reserve banks were expecting substantial aid from Eastern institutions in financing agricultural needs in the next few weeks, which presupposed that rediscounts at the New York, Boston and Philadelphia banks for account of others would begin to expand shortly. The situation is not difficult to visualize. The congestion of railroads has padlocked loans represented by grain in elevators and factory products, and fresh demands for accommodation in the grain regions are imperative if there are to be adequate crops. While this situation exists there seems small chance for an easement in credit available for speculative dealings in securities and commodities. On the contrary, the elements for further pressure by banks to reduce loans in less-essential lines are made more powerful than a month ago.

The prominent railroads in need of capital are rapidly filling their requirements through the security market, and it remains only for better transportation of steel to bring about early additions in quantity to railway rolling stock. The bankers for the Louisville & Nashville and Atlantic Coast line placed yesterday $13,500,000 ten-year 7 per cent. bonds at par. This week more than $46,000,000 paper of this class has gone to investors and the market is not yet showing signs of surfeit.

Sterling exchange eased off slightly yesterday, making little if any response to expectations of fresh gold imports from London. Marks were firm, and other Continental rates moved irregularly. The downward tendency of the silver price was made more pronounced through a quotation of 58⅛ pence per ounce at London, a new low record for the year. At New York the decline carried the price down through $1 per ounce to 99¾ cents, arousing wonder whether or not the Government would appear as a buyer under provisions of the Pittman act.

Motors Company Capital Doubled.

The General Motors Acceptance Corporation has been authorized to increase its capital from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 and its surplus from $500,000 to $1,000,000. The General Motors Corporation holds the entire capital stock of the Acceptance Corporation. The increase in capital will double the facilities for financing the sale of General Motors automobiles on the deferred payment plan. The corporation, it is asserted, is doing a business at the rate of $150,000,000 a year.

RAIL CRISIS IS NEAR, SHEA WARNS BOARD

Workers, Believing They Are Being Fooled Again, Are on Verge of Upheaval, He Says.

PUTS BLAME ON PROFITEERS

He Asserts That Rate Increases to Cover the Wage Rise Will Be Quadrupled.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—An industrial catastrophe comparable to the steel and coal strikes is impending and may descend upon the country unless something is done to relieve the conditions of the railroad workers, Timothy Shea, Assistant President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, told the Railroad Labor Board today. He said also that something should be done to prevent a five-fold increase in railroad rates by profiteers.

"Let no man be blind to the fact that a crisis in the transportation industry is at hand, said Mr. Shea. "Six weeks ago we achieved the almost impossible feat of persuading men to return or to continue at work without securing for them any immediate relief and with nothing but promises as to the future, and now we have every evidence that these men are concluding that they have been fooled again.

"One great trouble with the American people is that they never believe that anything disagreeable is going to happen until it has actually happened. They wouldn't believe we would get into the World War until we were in it up to our ears, and more recently they refused to believe that there would be a steel strike or a coal strike until those industrial disasters were upon us. Now, apparently, they refuse to believe that the railroad situation is absolutely critical. The steel strike cost the country half a billion dollars at a comparative estimate, and the coal strike half as much more. Both could have been averted. The lesson in the present situation is obvious.

"There is not even an applied threat in calling attention to another impending industrial catastrophe. It is a simple statement of fact. The railroad workers must have relief, and they must be given relief at once.

"There is another phase of the situation to which attention should be called. Notice has already been served on the public that whatever railroad rate increase may be necessitated by increase in wages to railroad workers, that increase will be multiplied four or five times by the profiteers and added to the already intolerable burden of the cost of living. The public is told that it is helpless to prevent this. If that is true it is a sad commentary on our political institutions, for it means that this is a Government for, of and by an organized plunderbund.

"In this connection the public should understand that if it were not for the profiteers railroad workers could be given a square deal and a living wage without any increase in railroad rates. Next to wage earners and salaried people the railroads are the greatest victims of the profiteers.

"Railway equipment corporations, the Steel Trust, the coal barons and the petroleum pirates have grown fat on the excessive and unjustifiable profits they have exacted from the railroads, and unless some means is found to curb their greed they will gobble up the greater part of the billions which the railroads must spend for new equipment, betterments and materials of all kinds during the next few years. The Railroad Labor Board may not have the authority to deal with this phase of the railroad problem, but there must be some governmental agency that has the necessary power and the courage to exercise it."

In closing the case for his own organization Mr. Shea asserted that in a comparison of earnings for eight hours of labor locomotive firemen ranked seventy-seventh in the list of the various occupations and industries for which authoritative data are available. Only nine occupations had a lower wage scale that the firemen, he said.

City and State Financing.

Rumor has it that both the city and the State shortly will enter the bond market for fairly considerable sums. Nothing definite has been said thus far, but the reports one hears in bond circles are to the effect that the city will soon apply for somewhere between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, while the State probably will ask for at least $50,000,000. Bond men say that the city, under present investment market conditions, would be fortunate indeed to be able to do financing in this volume on a 5 per cent. basis, and most of them incline to a fractionally higher figure. They believe, though, that the State probably could sell $50,000,000 bonds at par at 5 per cent. In most places, it is felt that both the city and State will act wisely if they do whatever financing they find necessary on a very short-term, serial basis, say one to three, or one to five years.

Will Aid Winter Wheat Movement.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—To enable bankers of the Middle West to aid the Winter wheat crop movement, the Federal Reserve Board plans to transfer soon a large amount of Reserve funds from Eastern banks to those in the grain-producing districts, Governor Harding today informed Representative Tincher, Republican, of Kansas.

$13,500,000 RAIL NOTES QUICKLY SELL

MORE FINANCING EXPECTED

Market Also Absorbs $2,660,000 Bethlehem 7% Equipment Trust Certifcates.

J. P. Morgan & Co. announced an offering yesterday of $7,500,000 Louisville and Nashville ten-year 7 per cent. gold notes and one of $6,000,000 Atlantic Coast Line ten-year 7 per cent. gold notes, both at par, and accrued interest, and within a few hours both issues had been sold. These two flotations brought the total of new financing for the current week to approximately $50,000,000. The Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line notes sold yesterday were not equipment notes, but were ordinary obligations of the two companies.

The issue of $2,660,000 Bethlehem Steel Company 7 per cent. equipment trust certificates offered by the Guaranty Trust Company and the Bankers Trust Company also were entirely sold yesterday.

New industrial financing announced yesterday included the statement that the stockholders of the American Sumatra Tobacco Company will be asked, at a special meeting to be held June 1, to authorize an increase in the company's common stock from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Subject to the authorization of this new stock, an issue of $6,564,000 of five-year 7½ per cent. sinking fund gold notes will be offered to preferred and common stockholders of record May 24, for subscription at 98 and interest. The holder of each share of stock will be entitled to subscribe to $40, face value, of notes. The notes will be convertible, from Oct. 1, 1920, to Dec. 31, 1921, into common stock on the basis of nine and one-half shares of stock for each $1,000 note.

Bankers believe that a considerable amount of new financing will be announced next week. The demonstrated ability of the market to absorbe the new offerings has encouraged both the corporation managers and their bankers and it is believed that both railroads and industrial corporations will make every effort to take advantage of the present situation.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Money Going West.

The declaration of a Kansas member of Congress that he had been assured the Reserve Board would transfer funds from Eastern districts to those of the grain producing sections, in order to facilitate harvesting the crops, does not necessarily mean that the East is to be denuded of cash, but it probably does mean that there will be more rediscounting by Eastern banks for Western banks than has been going on lately. This was to be expected, for the Treasury hardly is in position to follow the example set by Mr. McAdoo, when he was Secretary of the Treasury, of depositing large amounts of public money with the banks in the crop districts, for the good and sufficient reason that the Treasury has not the balances it had then. But there is some question as to how far the Eastern Reserve banks can go. There is a limit, even to what Reserve banks can do, and some bankers think that limit is not far off.

Today's Bank Statements.

The regularity with which call money rates "flurried" this week, added to the reports that Eastern banks were being called upon to help out in the Middle West and the South, leads to the belief that the local Reserve bank will make rather an indifferent showing in its statement today. It was considered probable yesterday that the display would show a fairly large expansion in rediscounts for other Reserve banks, and it would not be surprising if the borrowings of local member banks experienced some expansion during the week. The Reserve system, as a whole, was expected to show some slight fall in the cash reserve ratio, but not any considerable change, as it was figured that whatever loss the Eastern banks might show would be nearly offset by what some bankers call "surface improvement" elsewhere.

Gold from London.

Advices from London state that some more gold is in transit, or is about to be put in transit, for the United States. Local bankers who might be expected to be possessed of exact knowledge on the subject, however, profess to be entirely ignorant in the matter, and the sterling exchange market gave no indication of impending imports of the metal, for certainly it was not stimulated as on former occasions when gold arrivals were looked for. But in this matter of gold movements, all the usual signs may fail, for the transaction is without precedent and therefore not susceptible to the usual rules.

Silver Under a Dollar.

The "official" quotation for bar silver yesterday was 99¾ cents the ounce, the first time it has been under a dollar since August, 1918. The London quotation, from which the "official" rate is computed, though, was 58⅛d., which is a low record only since August, 1919. Since the last-named date the metal has been as high as $1.37½, in November of last year, here, and up to 89d. in London, on Feb. 7 of this year. From August, 1918, to May, 1919, the New York price was "pegged" at $1.01½, but the London price moved upward during that time because of the decline in Sterling. Yesterday's break to below a dollar an ounce was more technical than actual, however, for the official figure, which is ascertained by converting the London price into a New York parity, figuring in Sterling exchange, was not the real market price. Dealers said that no business was done at the official rate, and that, while business was extremely dull, any round lots of silver bid for would have required a price of at least $1.02 to have the sale consummated. So far as is known, the Government did not buy any silver yesterday.

Market Tone Improves.

The market showed decided resistance to selling pressure yesterday and in many instances prices showed gains at the close. There was nothing buoyant about the advance, but at least the decline was checked, except in some of the more speculative issues, and a decidedly better feeling marketwise prevailed. It is doubtless true that the advances that were recorded, with the exception perhaps of those in the rail group, came about largely as a result of short covering. However, it was a cause for satisfaction with many that the bears were beginning to be a bit dubious as to the strength of their position. It would seem that the stories of financial disaster threatening the country which were in circulation not so long ago really carried no conviction in the minds of those who were telling the tales.

The Short Interest.

There was considerable speculation yesterday as to the extent of the short interest in the present market. All reports indicate that it is larger than for a long time. Selling has been going on steadily and, while some of the pressure was brought about through the disposal of long stock, much of it was a result of short sales. This has built up a short interest, it is believed, there being no incentive to cover and reap the paper profits while the market continued heavy. So far as hurrying the shorts to cover, the news developments as yet are lacking in strength, but with the market failing to go lower there is a belief that weak holdings have been eliminated. The firm underpinning which this gives the market makes the short side of the market one of possible danger.

Steel Merger Off?

The steel merger story took a new turn yesterday, quite in contradiction to anything that has thus far appeared. This was to the efect that the merger was being held up because of serious obstacles. The presumption from this, naturally, is that the merger is still under consideration but that it may be called off. As a matter of fact, there has never been anything concrete in the gossip regarding a steel merger and steel men themselves, who would know of developments, have maintained that any talk of merger at the present time was lacking in real foundation. The market action of the stocks which would presumably be affected in any merger has not been of a nature recently to confirm suspicions that a merger was seriously under way. As compared with recent highs, the present prices show a substantial decline.

Oil in Montana.

Wall Street was interested yesterday in a story that John D. Ryan and C. F. Kelley, respectively Chairman of the Board and President of the Anaconda Copper Company, had taken options on some prospective oil land in Montana. It is true that the two are interested in some land which is now under examination by geological experts, and also that oil has been discoverer near by. On the other hand, there is nothing thus far to indicate that another great oil pool is about to be uncovered. As one man put it, the excitement over oil in Montana is running a bit high per barrel of oil. It is natural, however, that the Anaconda interests should wish to take part in any development that may come in Montana. Should oil in big volume be discovered on the property mentioned, more comprehensive plan will be undertaken.

Ray Copper Earnings.

For the first quarter of this year the Ray Consolidated Copper Company shows a net operating profit before Federal taxes of $637,300, equivalent to about 40 cents a share. This is about the same profit on the stock that was shown in the report for the December quarter of last year. The copper business is still far removed from the prosperous days of 1916 and 1917. There is a good demand for copper, but the car shortage is causing delays that are fatal to high production.

FAVORS TWIN TUBES TO STATEN ISLAND

WOULD COST $25,000,000

Other Plans for Relief of Richmond Are Outlined in Report to Board of Estimate.

Out of several plans for connecting Staten Island with the rest of the city by tunnel or bridge one has been selected by John H. Delaney, Transit Construction Commissioner, as being worthy of serious consideration. This plan provides for a two-tube tunnel under the bay from Sixty-seventh Street, Brooklyn, to Tompkinsville, in Richmond, with a direct communication with the existing Fourth Avenue subway at the Brookl-- outlet.

The length of this proposed tunnel would be about 8,600 feet between pierheads. This great length, Mr. Delaney says, would probably make it necessary to construct ventilation facilities in the shoal water adjacent to the two shores. From informal discussions with the War Department has come an understanding that there would be no objections to the construction of small ventilation islands and emergency exits in the bay, providing they did not interfere with navigation. This plan, it is explained, would follow the general lines of the route laid out when the rapid transit projects were under discussion in 1912 and 1913. The estimated cost of the tunnel is $25,000,000.

This plan is the most prominent in a report made yesterday by Mr. Delaney to the Board of Estimate in response to a request for it, because of his opinion of its availability. But he also states that the least expensive of the proposed schemes that are any way practicable is for the construction of a tunnel between Rosebank, Staten Island, and Ninety-fifth Street, Brooklyn, because the distance across the bay is only about 5,200 feet, 3,400 feet shorter than the other route. Part of this idea embraces the extension of the Fourth Avenue subway from Eighty-sixth Street to Ninety-fifth Street, which would cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. The tunnel would cost, according to the estimate, $17,000,000. It is said that either of these lines could be built in five years.

Mr. Delaney also says in his report that the subway line could be extended in two years, and that a ferry could be established between Ninety-fifth Street and Clifton, S. I., at a cost of $3,000,000 for terminals, ferry boats and other equipment. Such a ferry, it is explained, would place passengers in direct touch with the lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system and give vehicles direct entrance into a new part of the city.

Four other tunnel schemes devised in behalf of civic organizations are also described in the report, as well as a suggestion for building a great bridge spanning the Narrows that would accommodate rapid transit lines, vehicles, freight and through train service.

Two of the schemes submitted were conceived by Staten Islanders. They involve a combination tunnel and viaduct along the New Jersey shore stretching from St. George, on the island, to the Battery. The estimated cost ranges from $25,000,000 to $45,000,000. Mr. Delaney frowns upon them because they would require action by the New Jersey and New York Legislatures and because less income could be derived from them.

Another scheme is for the construction of a tunnel between the north shore of Richmond and the southerly end of Manhattan, with an under-water tube five miles long. This idea has been rejected. The estimated cost is $45,000,000.

Engineers have reported their belief that a great bridge across the Narrows between high land on the Brooklyn shore and the island could be constructed, according to rough estimates, for from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

In closing his report Mr. Delaney calls special attention to the use a twin-tube tunnel could be put to in carrying both passengers and freight, and that passenger service would demand the entire use of a single tube.

BAKERS FEAR FLOUR FAMINE.

Think Higher Price Inevitable and That Bread Will Cost More.

Bakers in this city agreed yesterday with the Washington prediction that the price of bread may rise to 25 cents a loaf before the end of the year unless action is taken to regulate the price of wheat after Government control ends on June 1. They praised the action of Julius H. Barnes, Director of the United States Grain Corporation, in calling a conference in Washington on May 19 of the Cabinet, Congressmen, railroad men and others to discuss ways of meeting the crisis.

Representatives of large bakeries showed much concern as to the probable price of flour, and agreed that some increase over present prices seemed inevitable. One baker said that if bread were sold on the present market price of flour in New York of $14.80 a barrel it would cost 20 cents for a loaf of 21 ounces, instead of 14 cents, as at present. Bread has already reached this price in Kansas City, he said. As the larger bakeries here buy flour on a three months basis, it was said that it would be at least two months after a radical increase in the price of flour before the price of bread would be affected.

Shipments of flour from the West are coming in with a little more regularity now, the bakers said, as all the railroads are able to get some cars through.

BATTERY PARK NATIONAL BANK

GETTING TOGETHER
Because confidence is the basis of credit, public confidence is a Bank's biggest asset, though not shown in the financial statement.
We strive for the confidence of the best merchants; and, entrusted with their cash deposits, we reciprocate by extending credit.
So we offer a cordial welcome to merchants with whom we can develop a confidence that is mutual.

Announcement

Equipment Trusts

Approximately one hundred million dollars par value of equipment trust securities have been very recently sold to the investing public at attractive yields.

Excluding the direct obligations of the United States Government we believe that properly secured equipment trust securities represent the safest form of investment.

Court decisions have established the prior position of equipment trusts in receiverships and in reorganization proceedings. There are many instances where car trusts have received preferential treatment over first mortgage bonds.

For many years we have specialized in the purchase and sale of equipment trust securities. During these years millions of dollars par value of these car trust obligations have been bought, and resold by us to our customers without default of either principal or interest.

The present issuance of large amounts of new equipment trusts will bring this form of investment into popularity with many thousands of investors to whom the attractive features of these car trust obligations have been hitherto unfamiliar.

To these investors and to those many institutions, firms and individuals with whom we have had the pleasure of transacting business in the past we beg to announce that we will continue to make active trading markets in both the recent equipment issues and in those which have been outstanding for some time.

Our trading department may be quickly consulted for quotations and markets on all equipment trusts by calling any of the following numbers: John 5089, 5090, 5091, 3463, 5325, 5326, 3527, and asking for Mr. Ackert or Mr. Tyrrell. Through our correspondents we are also in close touch with all out of town markets.

We underwrite entire issues of railroad, tank car and marine equipment trust securities and such business will receive the prompt consideration of any member of our firm.

Our mailing list is now in process of revision. We mail to our customers lists of attractive equipment offerings at regular intervals. Your name will be gladly added to our list upon request.

A booklet describing the history of car trust securities and detailing the many advantages will be mailed to any individual investor, bank or institution to whom it will be of interest.

A careful description of any car trust now outstanding giving percentage of cash payment, maturities outstanding and present cash equity may be obtained from our statistical department.

Our specialized organization, backed by years of experience in the equipment trust market, solicit your business.

Canada's Pacific Portal

OUR BRANCH AT VANCOUVER

ASIDE from scenic grandeur and remarkable climate, British Columbia is richly endowed by nature. Its location on the Pacific with the termini of the three great transcontinental railways and its splendid harbors provides for extensive foreign trade.

BRITISH COLUMBIA has vast acreage devoted to fruit growing, and mineral resources abound. Its fishery production is valued at more than $20,000,000 annually. Its lumber stand of more than 366 billion feet is one of the largest in the world. Such wealth of raw material, together with excellent transportation facilities and a potential water power estimated at 3,000,000 horsepower, provides a basis for manufacturing of immense scope. Victoria, the capital, not only is important as a port and distributing center, but is also highly attractive as a residential center because of its splendid climate. This growing city is situated on Vancouver Island, the largest of the many islands along the coast, and one possessing immense natural resources. Vancouver, the commercial center of the province, is the fourth largest city in the Dominion and is rapidly growing in importance.

IN BRITISH COLUMBIA are 55 branches of the Canadian Bank of Commerce offering comprehensive facilities for every form of banking service. Its New York Agency, directly connected with these branches, is equipped to render American business men exceptional service.

Central America

American interests in Central America are served by Banks affiliated with The Mercantile Bank of the Americas in Nicaragua, Honduras, and Costa Rica and by Agencies in Salvador, and Guatemala.

The nearness of Central America and its present commercial relations with the United States make it a fertile field for American business expansion.

In two of the countries, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, we control the only banks operating under American supervision—the National Bank of Nicaragua and the Banco Mercantil de Costa Rica. In Honduras we operate through an affiliate, the Banco Atlantida, and in Salvador and Guatemala through agencies.

The American merchants and manufacturers who are developing their business relations with Central America will find that of all the machinery necessary for facilitating foreign trade with those countries, no part is so well established as the banking machinery.

The Mercantile Bank of the Americas has thoroughly studied the peoples of Central America and their mode of doing business. It is prepared to place its knowledge and experience at the disposal of those interested in trade with Central America.

ARGENTINA TO PAY 2 LOANS HERE TODAY

Maturity of $25,000,000 and £5,000,000 Was Floated in May, 1915.

EXCHANGE AT $4.86 A POUND

Sterling Bondholders Gain $1.05 by Fixed Rate—Country Has Trade Balance.

The Argentine Government, it was announced yesterday, has completed arrangements for meeting its maturity of $25,000,000 and £5,000,000, due today, and both loans will be paid at the National City Bank. The issue was floated in May, 1915, $25,000,000 having been sold here and £5,000,000 in London. The Sterling loan is payable either in London or at New York at the fixed rate of exchange of $4.86 to the pound. It is understood that virtually all of the sterling bonds have been in this country for some time. As Sterling exchange is now quoted at $3.81 to the pound, the holder of an Argentine Sterling bond will profit to the extent of $1.05 to the pound by presenting his bond for payment here.

Negotiations over this maturity have been in progress between representativess of the Argentine Government and local bankers for some time. It is understood that the bankers were in favor of extending the loan, at least in part, but that Treasury officials opposed this on the ground that Argentina already enoyed a credit balance in trade operations with the United States, and that to extend the loan would give the South American country a greater command of our gold stocks. Argentina has taken approximately $60,000,000 American gold since the first of the year. Recently it has been reported that a syndicate of London bankers has advanced £10,000,000 to the Argentine Government to meet the loan due here.

Extra Dividend on Solar Oil.

The Solar Refining Company, one of the Standard Oil companies, has declared an extra dividend of $5 a share in addition to the regular semi-annual dividend of $5 a share. Both are payable June 20 to stock of record May 31. The extra dividend is the same as was declared by the company at this time a year ago.

BIG DIVIDENDS DECLARED.

South Carolina Cotton Mills to Pay Large Cash and Stock Returns.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 14.—Large extra cash and stock dividends were declared today by three cotton mill companies here.

Directors of the Piedmont Manufacturing Company recommended a common stock dividend of 100 per cent. and authorized the payment on June 1 of a special cash dividend of 14 per cent. and the regular semi-annual dividend on July 1 of 6 per cent.

Directors of the Victor Monaghan Group of Mills declared a cash dividend of 10 per cent., payable June 1, on a capital of $2,000,000, and recommended a 50 per cent. dividend, payable in common stock, which was quoted on the market today at $320 a share.

CRIPPLE CREEK ON WANE.

Scene of Famous Gold Rush Reduced to 2,325 Inhabitants.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Cripple Creek, Col., which not so long ago saw its population increased daily by hundreds of gold seekers, is apparently going the way of many another Western mining bonanza town. The 1920 census figures made public today give it only 2,325 inhabitants, a decrease of 3,877 or 62.5 per cent., since the 1910 census.

On the other hand, Casper, Wyo., in the same period has gained 8,808 residents and now has a population of 11,447. In percentage the gain of 333.8 per cent. ranks among the highest yet reported.

Cohoes, N. Y., has lost 1,722 inhabitants since 1910, the decrease of 7 per cent. bringing its present population down to 22,987.

Canton, Ohio, and Oil City, Pa., show gains, the former's present population of 87,091 representing an increase of 36,874 or 73.4 per cent. The latter with 21,274 residents has gained 5,617 or 35.9 per cent.

Connecticut Trolleymen Ask Rise.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 14.—Members of the trolleymen's union on the Connecticut Company's system, through its State Conference Board, have requested a new contract, beginning June 1, which calls for a 75-cent flat hourly rate of wages, the eight-hour day and regulations as to running the one-man trolley car. The present schedule is a 50 cents an hour maximum, a ten-hour day and varying regulations, according to local conditions.

DENY HOLDING WOOL TO AFFECT MARKET

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Statements that the War Department now held in storage enough wool and leather supplies to last a year, and was holding them because of an agreement not to disturb the market was answered today by Department authorities.

They said that 65,000,000 pounds of inferior grade wool remained and would be sold within a year. Practically all surplus leather stocks have been disposed of, it was stated, the amount now remaining in storage being held for army use.

Regarding the wool, the Director of Purchase, Storage and Traffic said in part:

"The War Department has disposed of the greater portion of the wool stocks that it had on hand at the time of the armistice. There remain approximately 65,000,000 pounds to be disposed of. The wool on hand is of an inferior quality and grade, which does not compete with American grown wool.

"The Department will continue to sell its wool at public auction from time to time as the market will absorb it, and expects in the course of the next year to complete this liquidation and close out its wool business."

SUBPOENA SUGAR OFFICIALS

Lusk Committee Calls Four in Profiteering Investigation.

Subpoenas have been issued for officials of four large sugar corporations to appear before the committee headed by State Senator Clayton R. Lusk, which is to begin an investigation of alleged profiteering in various commodities. The committee will meet at the City Hall at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning.

The subpoenas were for A. B. Wallam of the American Sugar Refining Company; H. R. Duval of the American Beet Sugar Company, 32 Nassau Street; William Arbuckle Jamison of Arbuckle Brothers, 71 Water Street, and C. M. Warner of Warner Sugar Refining Company, 79 Wall Street.

Several wholesale grocers conferred with Assistant District Attorney Ben A. Matthews and Armin W. Riley, Chief of the Flying Squadron of the Department of Justice, regarding the sugar situation. They assured the officials of their willingness to co-operate with the Department of Justice in the crusade against profiteering.

Canada Asked to Repeal Alcohol Tax

OTTAWA, Ontario, May 14.—The House of Commons was asked today to consider abolition of the excise tax on the manufacture of industrial alcohol, so that its price may be reduced and motorists and others may use it as a substitute for gasoline. The Advisory Council on Scientific Research recommended the abolition of the tax to stimulate the manufacture of alcohol.

Interest payable May 15 and November 15

BANKERS TRUST COMPANY, TRUSTEE

From a letter received from H. Walters, Esq., Chairman of Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, stating the particulars in regard to the Notes, we quote as follows:

The Notes are to be limited to an authorized issue of $7,500,000. They will be the direct obligations of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company and will be secured by deposit and pledge with Bankers Trust Company, as Trustee under a trust indenture with the Railroad Company, which indenture shall be in form satisfactory to your counsel, of the following securities:

$5,000,000 Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, Atlanta, Knoxville & Cincinnati Division, Gold 4% Bonds, due May 1, 1955.

$3,000,000 South & North Alabama Railroad Company General Consolidated Mortgage Gold 5% Bonds, due October 1, 1963.

At current quotations, the aggregate market value of such securities, to be deposited and pledged, is approximately $9,286,000, or 122% of the face amount of this issue of Notes.

The Notes are to be redeemable on and after May 15th, 1923, as a whole or in part, at 100 and accrued interest, plus a premium of 1% for each year or portion of a year from the date fixed for redemption to maturity. Such redemption may be made, at the option of the Company, on any interest payment date, or, if the redemption is to be made out of proceeds of sales of the pledged securities, on any date fixed by the Company therefor. Sales of pledged securities may be made at not less than certain minimum prices respectively specified for the purpose in the indenture, the proceeds to be held by the Trustee until applied to the redemption of Notes secured by the securities sold, or until applied to the purchase of such Notes for retirement at not exceeding the then redemption price.

| 1919 | 19,979,120 | 8,802,838 | 11,176,282 |

The Company has outstanding $72,000,000 capital stock, of which $36,720,000 is owned by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, and by it deposited and pledged to secure its $35,000,000 Louisville & Nashville Collateral Trust Gold 4% Bonds. Since 1901 dividends of not less than 5% per annum have been paid and, with the exception of the years 1915 and 1916 in which 5% and 6% were paid, respectively, dividends at the rate of 7% per annum have been paid since 1910.

They will be the direct obligations of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and will be secured by deposit and pledge with Bankers Trust Company, as Trustee under a trust indenture with the Railroad Company, which indenture shall be in form satisfactory to your counsel, of $10,000,000 face value Atlantic Cost Line Railroad Company General Unified 4½% Gold Bonds due June 1, 1964.*

At current quotations the market value of the bonds to be deposited and pledged is approximately $7,300,000, or 122% of the face amount of this issue of Notes.

The Notes are to be redeemable on and after May 15th, 1923, as a whole or in part, at 100 and accrued interest, plus a premium of 1% for each year or portion of a year from the date fixed for redemption to maturity. Such redemption may be made, at the option of the Company, on any interest payment date, or, if the redemption is to be made out of proceeds of sales of the pledged securities, on any date fixed by the Company therefor. Sales of pledged securities may be made at not less than the minimum price specified for the purpose in the indenture, the proceeds to be held by the Trustee until applied to the redemption of Notes secured by the securities sold, or until applied to the purchase of such Notes for retirement at not exceeding the then redemption price.

| 1916 | $15,973,105 | $6,105,470 | $9,867,635 |
| 1917 | 17,192,960 | 6,358,869 | 10,834,091 |

The Company's outstanding capital stock is $68,756,100, of which $67,559,400 is common stock. The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company has paid dividends since 1900.

Since 1909 dividends of not less than 5½% per annum have been paid and, with the exception of the years 1915 and 1916 in which 5% was paid, dividends at the rate of 7% per annum have been paid since 1912.

SUBJECT TO ISSUE AS PLANNED AND TO PREVIOUS SALE, WE OFFER THE ABOVE NOTES AT 100 AND ACCRUED INTEREST, TO YIELD 7%

SAY 56% OF NEW CROP IS IN

The cotton market was very dull and inclined to be irregular in yesterday's session. There was a dip at one time which carried prices down 25 to 30 points, and a subsequent rise which regained all of this loss and maybe 10 points on the average more, but at the close the list was at virtually the same level it stood at on Thursday's closing. January of the new crop was down 10 points, which was the greatest net change of the day. The others finished at 3 points up to 5 points down.

Weather reports were again unfavorable, with rain reported in about every section of the belt except in those parts of Texas where rain is needed, and a report by a Southern company of the amount of crop already planted put the figure at 56 per cent., which is unusually bad when it is considered that even in last year's backward season there was 77 per cent. of the crop in at this date. These factors were pronouncedly bullish, yet the market failed to respond to them in the way it might have been expected to. Obviously, the trade is fearful of something, and that something is the credit situation, which threatens to become worse as time passes, for the demands of the South will very shortly have to meet the competition of the West for funds, and the East, rather hard put on its own account, is in no position to meet the combined requests of the South and West in the liberal way it has in past years.

The Census Bureau's report on domestic mill consumption and exports for April added strength to the already strong technical position. In the month the mills took 567,839 bales, exclusive of linters, and there were shipped out of the country 546,125 bales, for a total of 1,113,964 bales. In the nine elapsed months of the cotton year the combined mill consumption of exports now stands at 10,578,314 bales, and if the remaining three months provide no increase in consumption, with even exports standing at their reduced April figures for May, June and July, the total takings, domestic and foreign, will be in the neighborhood of 14,100,000 bales, as against the carry-over from last year and the old crop of 15,600,000 bales, aggregate.

This will leave a carry-over of only 1,500,000 bales, and probably most of it will be of the low grades. With the present season unusually backward, with no noticeable increase in acreage, and with labor and credit conditions as bad as they are, the promise of a scant supply after the turn of the cotton year, on Aug. 1, seems assured.

EGGS—Receipts, 31,079 cases yesterday, have been more liberal this week. The fanciest qualities of northern goods are rated steady to firm under a disposition to store. Medium grades were quiet and of irregular value, with a wide range in prices. Underpriced eggs ranging from 45c downward have been meeting a fair demand, reducing accumulations. Nearby white eggs of very fancy quality were in light supply and steady. There is still a surplus of medium and ordinary qualities. Fresh gathered, extras, dozen, 49@49½c; storage packed, extra firsts, 48½c; firsts, 46½@48c; fresh gathered, extra firsts, 47@48c; firsts, 44@46½c; seconds and poorer, 34@43c; dirties, No. 1, storage packed, 38½@39c; regular packed, 37½@38c; No. 2, 33@37c; checks, good to choice, dry, 35@37c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western hennery whites, extras, 53c; extra firsts, 51@52c; firsts, 48@50c; gathered whites, firsts to extra firsts, 48@52c; under grades, 45@47c; Pacific Coast, white, extras, 53c; extra firsts, 51@52c; firsts, 48@50c; other Western and Southern, gathered whites, 46@50c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western, hennery browns, extras, 51@52c; gathered brown and mixed colors, extras, 49@50c; firsts to extra firsts, 46@48c; duck eggs, Baltimore, 40@50c; Western and Southern, 40@48c.

ROCHESTER, May 14.—Profits of the Eastman Kodak Company of New Jersey, and subsidiary companies in 1919 were $18,326,188.31, according to the company's annual report made public today. Of this amount $7,819,110 was distributed to common stockholders and $360,942 to preferred stockholders.

The company surplus was increased by $10,137,136, making the present total $42,008,907. One item of the company's current liabilities, listed in the report, is a reserve of $6,089,692.99 for war excess profits and income taxes.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

The tendency toward lower commodity prices, even though attended by some degree of unsettlement, marks a more wholesome condition in trade activities, according to the weekly survey of conditions by Dun's Review, which says:

"Abatement of the notable commercial activity of previous months has been hastened by the serious congestion in transportation and by the backward season, but slackening of demands in many quarters is mainly the outgrowth of consumers' increasing resistance to high prices and their greater discrimination in buying."

Bradstreet's says:

"Reaction is still in evidence in the financial markets, in distributive trades handling men's and women's apparel, in manufacturing lines engaged on these products and in some sections where high costs have operated in building materials, notably lumber."

FINANCIAL NOTICES.

BRITISH-AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY, LIMITED

NOTICE TO HOLDERS OF SHARE WARRANTS TO BEARER FOR ORDINARY SHARES.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by Resolution of the Company passed on the 10th day of May, 1920, it was resolved as follows:

1. (a) That it is desirable to capitalize the sum of £3,202,853 or such other sum as may be required to effect a distribution of ordinary Shares at the rate hereinafter mentioned part of the undivided profits of the Company amounting to £4,912,733 12s. 1d. as shown by the Company's Balance Sheet as on the 30th September, 1919, and that such sum be appropriated and applied only in making payment in full on behalf of the Members and Holders of Share Warrants hereinafter mentioned (in the proportions in which such members and holders would have been entitled to participate therein if the same had been distributed as a Dividend in cash) for Ordinary Shares of the Company of £1 each such shares to be distributed pro rata among the Members on the Register of Ordinary Shareholders on the 17th day of May, 1920, and the holders of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares on the same date at the rate of one of such Ordinary Shares of £1 each for every four Ordinary Shares of £1 each held by them in the Company (but so that Registered Shares and Shares comprised in Share Warrants to Bearer shall not be added together for the purpose of this distribution) Fractional Certificates representing the right of the Registered Ordinary Shareholders and Holders of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares respectively to a fraction of an Ordinary share being issued whenever necessary to effect such distribution. The provisions of Section 92 of the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908, with regard to the delivery of Certificates shall not commence to run till the 12th day of July, 1920.

(b) That the holders of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares in order to become entitled to be entered on the Register in respect of any of the shares so to be distributed and to obtain Certificates, must in the first instance deposit with the Company at its Registered Office, Westminster House, 7 Millbank, London, S. W. 1, on or before the 12th day of July, 1920, Coupon No. 79 detached from such Share Warrants as evidence of ownership and must sign an acceptance of such shares in such form as the Directors shall require provided that such date may be extended to a later date in the absolute discretion of the Directors.

(c) That all of the said shares shall rank for dividend as from the 12th day of July, 1920, or the date of issue of the particular shares whichever shall be later.

To enable the holders of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares to be entered on the Register and to obtain Certificates for the new shares in the Company to which they are entitled, they must obtain the appropriate form from the Head Office of the Company at Westminster House, 7 Millbank, London, S. W. 1, or the Office of the Company, 511 Fifth Avenue, New York, and deposit on or before the 12th day of July, 1920, or within such extended time as the Directors may in any particular case allow, Coupon No. 79 detached from each Ordinary Share Warrant to Bearer held by them, together with the form duly signed and completed at the Head Office of the Company, Westminster House, 7 Millbank, London, S. W. 1.

Upon such deposits being made the Shareholder shall be deemed to have requested the Company to enter the holder of such Share Warrants on the Register and to issue the Certificates relating to the Shares which he is entitled to have allotted to him in accordance with the above Resolutions.

The new shares when allotted will in due course be registered and may be exchanged later on if desired for Share Warrants to Bearer upon Payment of the usual Stamp Duty and fee.

The new shares will rank for dividend pari passu with the existing Ordinary Shares as from the 12th day of July, 1920, or from the date of the issuing of the particular shares whichever shall be later.

NOTICE IS ALSO HEREBY GIVEN that by Resolution of the Company passed on the 10th day of May, 1920, it was resolved as follows—

2. (a) That it is desirable to distribute among the Members on the Register of Ordinary Shareholders on the 17th day of May, 1920, and the Holders of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares on the same date who shall comply with the conditions hereinafter mentioned as and by way of a capital distribution such a number of shares in the Garland Steamship Corporation of Delaware, U. S. A. (representing Capital assets of the Company in excess of its paid-up Capital for the time being) as will give to each Registered Ordinary Shareholder and Holder of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares one share of the Garland Steamship Corporation for every twenty Ordinary Shares held by him in the Company (but so that registered shares and shares comprised in Share Warrants to Bearer shall not be added together for the purpose of this distribution) and that such shares be distributed accordingly.

(b) That instead of issuing Fractional Certificates of the Garland Steamship Corporation the Directors of the Company be and they are hereby authorized to sell the fractions to which the Shareholders would have been entitled if Fractional Certificates had been issued at the price of one shilling for each fraction of one-twentieth or such other sum as the Directors may obtain and to distribute the proceeds in cash among such shareholders in the proportions in which they would have been entitled to the fractions if Fractional Certificates had been issued.

(c) That the holders of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares in order to become entitled to a distribution of the shares of the Garland Steamship Corporation must in the first instance deposit with the Company at its Registered Office, Westminster House, 7 Millbank, London, S. W. 1, on or before the 12th day of July, 1920, Coupon No. 80 detached from Share Warrants to Bearer as evidence of ownership, and must sign an acceptance of such shares in such form as the Directors shall require provided that such date may be extended to a later date in the absolute discretion of the Directors.

(d) That the Directors be and they are hereby authorized in the case of any holders of Share Warrants to Bearer who shall not have delivered Coupon No. 80 to the Company, accompanied by the required acceptance duly signed on or before the 12th day of July, 1920, or before such later date as the Directors in the absolute discretion may decide, to sell for such sum and upon such terms and conditions as the Directors may in their absolute discretion determine the shares of the Garland Steamship Corporation to which such holders would have been entitled and distribute the proceeds of such sale (but without interest) among the persons who would have been entitled to such shares in accordance with their respective rights and subject to such proof of their title as the Directors shall deem sufficient and pending such distribution to deal with such proceeds in such manner as the Directors shall deem convenient.

(e) That the writing off of the sum of £475,437 19s. being the purchase price paid by the Company for the said 641,000 Shares of the Garland Steamship Corporation out of the said sum of £4,912,733 12s. 1d. be and is hereby confirmed.

To enable the holders of Share Warrants to Bearer for Ordinary Shares to obtain Certificates for the Shares of the Garland Steamship Corporation of Delaware, U. S. A., to which they are entitled they must obtain the appropriate form from the Head Office of the Company at Westminster House, 7 Millbank, London, S. W. 1, or the Office of the Company at 511 Fifth Avenue, New York, and deposit on or before the 12th day of July, 1920, Coupon No. 80, detached from each Ordinary Share Warrant to Bearer held by them together with the form duly signed and completed at the Head Office of the Company, Westminster House, 7 Millbank, London, S. W. 1.

Upon such deposits being made the Shareholder shall be deemed to have authorized the Company to request the Garland Steamship Corporation to issue the Shares to which he is entitled.

In the event of a holder of a Share Warrant to Bearer failing to deposit Coupon No. 80 accompanied by the required acceptance duly signed on or before the 12th day of July, 1920, or before such later date as the Directors in their absolute discretion may decide, Coupon No. 80 will cease to be available for exchange in accordance with the terms of the Resolution, and the holder will be entitled only to the proceeds of sale of the Shares, but without interest.

Properties Will Be Offered at Auction for Benefit of Palmer Heirs.

As a result of a partition action just instituted by Henry A. Taft as attorney for Mary S. Palmer against Catherine A. B. Abbe, as trustee and others, several famous old properties in the Union Square section will be sold at auction within the next few weeks.

The parcels include the old Morton House, now the Hotel Churchill, at the southeast corner of Broadway and Fourteenth Street, and the Union Square Theatre, adjoining. The Churchill extends in an easterly direction to within twenty-seven feet of the Fourth Avenue corner and abuts the building of Rogers, Peet & Co. on Thirteenth Street. It was erected in 1850, and first opened as the Union Place Hotel under the direction of W. Wheeler.

The Union Square Theatre is one of the oldest playhouses in the city, having been erected in 1871. In 1888 the theatre was destroyed by fire and a year later it was rebuilt and opened by James M. Hill. Many successes of the early 80s and 90s were staged here, notably "The Two Orphans." James W. Collier became its manager in 1883, and three years later James M. Hill took hold as lessee and manager. In 1888 the house was burned and was rebuilt and reopened by Mr. Hill the following year as a combination house. It had a seating capacity of 1,300.

The Union Square Hotel, at Fifteenth Street and Union Square, also involved in the partition suit, is one of the city's oldest hostelries. It is a six-story structure. The hotel was built in 1873 by A. J. Dan and operated by him until 1885 as the Hotel Dan. Another property in the action is the home of Ludwig Bauman & Co., at the northeast corner of Eighth Avenue and Thirty-fifth Street, with an extension to Thirty-sixth Street.

PRIVATE HOUSE DEALS.

Clark Estate Sells Its Thirty-first House.

The Brown, Wheelock Company, Inc., sold for the Clark Estate the four-story and basement dwelling at 33 West Seventy-third Street, on a lot 21 by 102.2, to a client of Charles A. Strauss, who, after extensive alterations to the house, will occupy. This is the thirty-first house sold by these brokers for the Clark Estate since the first of the year. The same brokers sold for S. M. Williams 142 East Forty-fourth Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 15 by 100, to a buyer who will alter it for business.

Clark T. Chambers sold for Mrs. Josephine Long 145 East Thirty-eighth Street, a four-story dwelling, 16 by 94, to a client who will occupy. It was held at $33,000.

Ennis & Sinnott have bought, through Thomas J. O'Reilly, from Isidore Hasbrouck the three-story and basement dwelling at 39 West Ninety-fourth Street, on a lot 17.9 by 100.

The John P. Peel Company sold for the Mildon Realty Company to Mrs. Claire Batigne the four-story dwelling at 451 West Twenty-first Street, on a plot 16.8 by 98.9, opposite the General Theological Seminary. Mrs. Batigne will remodel and occupy it.

Frank B. Haubert of the office of Edward C. H. Vogler sold for Mrs. Isabelle C. Starr the three-story dwelling, on a lot 17.6 by 100, at 124 West Ninety-seventh Street.

Charles D. Curtis purchased for occupancy from the estate of Jennie K. Ewell the five-story residence, 20.6 by 102.2, at 47 East Seventy-fourth Street.

Joseph W. Lawrence sold 78 East Ninetieth Street, a three-story dwelling, 18 by 100, for Karl Klein to Elizabeth Manderwerth for occupancy.

Pease & Elliman have sold for Mrs. DeWitt Parshall of California to a client who will occupy it the five-story, twenty-one-foot American basement dwelling at 47 East Seventy-fourth street, between Madison and Park Avenues.

J. Irving Walsh sold for Maisie Boggs, to a client for occupancy, the three-story dwelling at 248 West Eleventh Street on lot 16 by 50.

Beaux Arts to Continue.

André D. Bustanoby, proprietor of the Café des Beaux Arts, denied reports yesterday that the restaurant would go out of existence.

"While the upper part of the building may, in the course of a year or so, be altered for business purposes, no changes are contemplated in the restaurant," he said. "Our lease is independent from that of the studios, and does not expire for two years. The possibilities are that the Cafe des Beaux Arts will continue indefinitely."

The Bryant Park Studio Building was leased for a long term several weeks ago by A. A. Anderson to the L. K. Schwartz Company.

Operator in Two Deals.

Pease & Elliman sold to Joseph G. Abramson, operator, for George F. Burt 140 West 119th Street, 20 by 100, a three-story dwelling, and for William B. Bond 58 East 120th Street, 27 by 100, a five-story apartment building.

Park Place Resale.

Frederick Brown resold to Frank H. Lester, the tenant, the five-story loft building at 97 Park Place, on a lot 24.8 by 86, between Washington and West Streets. Edward J. Hogan was the broker.

COTTON CONSUMPTION GAINS

Census Bureau Reports Last Month's Use 110,000 Bales Above April, 1919

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Cotton consumed during April amounted to 567,839 bales of lint and 29,955 bales of linters, the Census Bureau announced today. Consumption in April last year was 475,875 bales of lint and 11,478 of linters.

Cotton on hand April 30 in consuming establishments was 1,809,253 bales of lint and 287,716 of linters, compared with 1,379,392 of lint and 273,748 of linters a year ago, and in public storage and at compresses 2,967,931 bales of lint and 392,870 of linters, compared with 3,976,257 of lint and 211,326 of linters a year ago.

Negroes Call a Race Convention.

A number of prominent negroes of New York and other cities have issued a call for a convention of the Friends of Negro Freedom, to be held in Washington on May 25, "to devise better plans and methods to fight for negro freedom." More than 1,000 delegates are expected, it was announced yesterday. The more immediate object of the convention will be to plan making the influence of the race felt in the coming election.

Army-Navy Pay Bill Goes to Wilson.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Enactment of the Army and Navy Pay bill was completed today with the adoption of the conference report by the House and Senate. The measure now goes to the President.

EDITOR ADDS TO REALTY.

Arthur Brisbane Buys Madison Avenue Residential Holdings.

Arthur Brisbane purchased from the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, as trustee for the estate of Herbert B. Turner, deceased, the ten-story apartment house at 513-515 Madison Avenue, northeast corner Fifty-third Street, occupying a plot 40 feet 5 inches by 85 feet. Mr. Brisbane also purchased the twenty-foot four-story private dwelling at 517 Madison Avenue, adjoining, from the same estate.

He recently purchased 33 and 43 East Fifty-seventh Street, and also 103 and 105 East Fifty-seventh Street, adjoining the northeast corner of Park Avenue, and owns numerous other parcels throughout the city. The gross rentals of the properties just purchased are in the neighborhood of $50,000 per annum. Pease & Elliman negotiated the deal.

The Benenson Realty Company repurchased from a client of Louis A. Sullivan, attorney, the Avoca, an eight-story fireproof apartment house at 251 Fort Washington Avenue, northwest corner of 170th Street, on a plot 101.1 by 101. The structure was valued at $350,000 and returns an annual rental of approximately $45,000. It contains forty-eight apartments.

The H. M. Weill Company sold for Charles Wynne and Louis H. Low 61, 63 and 65 West 100th Street, three five-story apartment houses, to Ralph B. Ittelson. The houses, which return about $15,000 a year in rents, were held at $90,000.

J. S. Maxwell sold for the Cheyenne Realty Company to a client for investment the five-story apartment house 70 East 114th Street, on lot 33.4 by 100, between Madison and Park Avenues. The property has a rental of $5,000 and was held at $40,000.

The Cruikshank Company sold for the Fidelity Trust Company, trustees, to the Rene Realty Corporation the six-story new-law apartment house 216-18 East 122d Street, on lot 50 by 100.11.

Joseph Cramer sold for the David W. Cromwell Estate to Adolph Fischer 746 and 748 Columbus Avenue, two five-story flats, with stores, on plot 50 by 100, held at $90,000.

Recent Buyers.

Merrill N. Gates of Masten & Nichols is the buyer of the two old dwellings at the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Seventy-fifth Street, sold recently. He will erect a residence.

A company composed of J. Barlow, W. H. Lownsberry and J. P. Gage is the purchaser of the apartments at 55-57 East Seventy-sixth Street, sold recently.

Brooklyn Dwelling Buyers.

The three-story dwelling at 971 Kent Avenue, Brooklyn, between DeKalb and Willoughby Avenues, on lot 20 by 70, has been sold by the Bulkley & Horton Company for Martin Metzner. The same brokers sold 1,477 Dean Street, a two-story house, 20 by 107.6, for Max and Nathan Bialor to a buyer who will occupy.

The Burling Realty Company has sold dwellings at 438 Throop Avenue for Miss C. Geraty; 447 Lexington Avenue, for M. Began; 365 Monroe Street, for Emma Reichman; 40 Van Buren Street, for F. S. Ketcham; 63 Van Buren Street, for Louise Ling, and 118 Patchen Avenue, for R. F. Young.

$81,125 for Brooklyn Lots.

The 158 Bay Ridge lots owned by the John McCarty estate, were sold at auction on Thursday night by Joseph P. Day for a total of $81,125, or an average of $514.

Inside lots on Bay Ridge Avenue, between Twelfth and Thirteenth Avenues, brought from $500 to $850 each, while the southeast corner of Bay Ridge and Twelfth Avenues sold for $1,025, the highest price in the sale. Other corners on Twelfth Avenue went for $500 and $750 each, and inside lots for $525 and $700 each.

The list of buyers included William M. Nevin, R. Van Der Veer, Billici & Lebuccia, C. Lobosco, Joseph Blasi, James C. Canzilo, Ralph Cagnetta, Mary Torres, T. J. Shea, Louis Pesagno, Charles de Martini, Isaac Murphy, Morris Liabowitz, Thomas C. Hickey, Samuel Schlang, Gaetano Scawizzo, Ernest Augermuller and others.

Bloomingdales Buys Warehouses.

Bloomingdale Brothers have purchased from the Sebastian Wagon Company two five-story warehouses on plot 75 by 200.11, at 425 to 429 East Fifty-third Street, extending through to 420 to 424 East Fifty-fourth Street. The warehouses will be improved with sprinklers and other alterations will be made. Joseph P. Day and Osgood Peil & Co. were the brokers. The deal is reported to have involved close to $300,000.

Commercial Leases.

Samuel Marx, the auctioneer, has leased for a long term from Elmer A. Darling, through Manheimer Brothers, the five-story store and loft building 115 and 117 West Twenty-third Street, through to Twenty-fourth Street, 50 by 200. All leases expire Feb. 1 next. Mr. Marx occupies the store and basement at the present time and contemplates making extensive alterations to the property.

Joseph Ordierna leased for a long term of years a store at 141 West Thirty-third Street to the R. B. L. Cigar Company. Lewis L. Rosenthal Company was the broker.

Queens Borough Transactions.

Ira L. Terry sold for Mrs. Emily J. Halligan of Savannah, Ga., the property at 20 Murray Street, Flushing, L. I. It comprises a plot 35 by 100 feet, improved with a ten-room dwelling, and was sold to George B. Simpson.

Frank J. Magerle sold a two-family cottage for Mrs. Louise Cooper at 272 Etna Street, between Pine and Crescent Streets, Cypress Hills.

THE BRONX MARKET.

Private Houses Continue to Find Investment Favor.

Robert Levers sold for the Debs Realty Company to C. H. Dietzel the two-family house at 2,315 Loring Place, on a lot 25 by 100. The purchaser recently purchased the adjoining house through the same brokers. George V. W. Pelz represented the purchaser.

Walter E. Brown sold for J. Waldron Gillespie 3,472 and 3,474 Third Avenue, a four-story apartment and store, and a two-story frame building to a client for investment.

The Eugene J. Busher Company sold for Pemberton Hare Powell a private house at 1,890 Cedar Avenue, 37 by 125, to Joseph Vingiprova, and for Kenneth L. Fleming, Jr., trustee, 1,857 and 1,859 Cedar Avenue, two residences, 17 by 98 each, to Harry Whelan.

S. H. Frankenheim has sold for August R. Haeuser to the C. R. M. Realty Company the three-story dwelling at 495 East 139th Street, on a lot 16.8 by 100.

East Side Physician Buys.

Dr. Samuel Moss bought from the Oak Point Corporation the three private dwellings at 266 East Broadway and 253 to 255 Division Street. It is understood that the doctor will occupy part of the East Broadway house for his medical offices some time next year. The property fronts twenty-seven feet on East Broadway and runs through to Division Street for 103.9 feet, where it has a frontage of 36 feet. The M. Morgenthau, Jr., Co., negotiated the transaction.

April Building Gains.

The report of building operations in the Borough of Manhattan for the month of April as given out by Building Superintendent Rudolph P. Miller, shows a considerable gain over the same month of last year. This year plans were filed for the construction of 218 new buildings, costing $53,354,358, as against 105, costing $10,685,450 last year, thus showing a gain of 113 in number of buildings and $42,668,938 in moneys involved.

YESTERDAY & TO-DAY

of the Terminal Zone, now one of the city's busiest traffic and transit centres, is the pivotal point at and near 42nd Street, of the movement uptown of many prominent business and financial concerns.

Huge office buildings, such as 30 and 50 East 42nd Street, and hotels, the Biltmore for one—are the most recent replacements of the old and remodeled dwelling houses that, a decade or so ago, characterized this section.

Another row of remodeled buildings—43rd to 44th Street, in the West side of the Avenue—have been demolished to provide a site for the majestic office building to be erected by the Fifth Church of Christ Scientist. The Brooks Bros. and Abercrombie & Fitch buildings are edifices of earlier build at 44th and 45th Streets, while a corner, at 46th St. at present is being improved, for the Marlin-Rockwell Corporation. History is repeating itself in Madison Ave., as in Fifth Ave.

These changes are characteristic of the many recorded since this firm, in December, 1911, began its business career in a basement office at 421 Madison Avenue—1911 to 1915—then removed to the building at 414 Madison Avenue—1915 to 1920—where our progress has been coincident with the development of Madison, Fifth and Park Avenues.

Once again we have outgrown our quarters; and again we have greatly increased the facilities of our organization—the better to handle the interests of our clients.

BUY WISELY

Consult the Suburban Home Guide of the New York Evening Post for all the facts about the Suburbs of New York before you buy your new home.

It gives advantages and features of the suburbs around New York in detail—tax rates, commutation fares, social activities, school facilities and number of houses available for rent or sale.

This Saturday it describes the Towns of the North Shore of Long Island. Next week—May 22—will be devoted to Central Long Island, and May 29 to the South Shore.

Back issues have described Westchester Towns, Suburban Connecticut and New Jersey. They are available while they last.

RENTS FOR $130,000 A YEAR

Times Square properties which have been figuring prominently in numerous recent realty transactions continued to occupy a leading position on the market yesterday.

The twelve-story office building at 141 to 145 West Forty-fifth Street, on a plot 68 by 100, near Broadway, has been sold to H. Winik, in association with a group of London moving-picture interests, who will hold it for investment. The property, which rents for $130,000 a year, and has been held at $1,250,000, was sold by the Hilda Holding Corporation, acting for Vogel, Schultz & Schwartz.

It is located near the new State Theatre, being built by Marcus Loew, and is in the centre of the Times Square amusement district. Spotts & Starr negotiated the transaction.

The same interests recently acquired, through the same brokers, the five houses known as the Areco Apartments, at Westchester Avenue and Simpson Street, in the Bronx, valued at $1,000,000.

Firm Buys for Occupancy.

Several blocks to the south another interesting deal brought a firm of public accountants into the property-owners' field.

To provide a permanent location for their executive offices and allow for future expansion, Haskins & Sells purchased from the Brunswick Realty Company, Robert P. Zebel, President, the twelve-story office building at 35 and 39 West Thirty-ninth Street, valued at $750,000. It is on a plot 44 by 100, adjoining the Engineering Societies' Building. Hall J. How & Co. were the brokers.

The buyers have branches in all parts of the United States and in England, France, China and Cuba. They will get possession of a portion of the space early next Fall, and will move their headquarters from 469 Fifth Avenue, corner of Fortieth Street. Eventually they will occupy the greater portion of the building.

Other Business Deals.

The Cruikshank Company reports the sale for Frederick P. Bellamy, trustee, the Central Union Trust Company, trustee, and others to a client of Ruland and Whiting-Benjamin Corporation, the two business buildings 96 and 98 Vesey Street. This is the block recently reported taken over by the New York Telephone Company as the site for a new exchange.

M., R. and J. Seltzer have formed the 35 Forsyth Street Realty Company, capitalized at $30,000, to take over the three-story building, 24.10 by 98.10, at that address, near Canal Street. The realty is owned by the Mary L. Mercein Estate.

NOVEL APARTMENT PROJECT.

Bronx Builders Plan Six-Story Concrete House.

New York City apartment house builders were interested yesterday in the announcement that a Bronx construction firm had begun work on a six-story apartment house to be built of concrete.

The Havens & Degenhardt Corporation has filed plans for the project, which calls for the erection of a twelve-family house at 2,254 Grand Boulevard and Concourse, between 182d and 183d Streets, on a lot 25 by 138. The building will measure 25 by 115, and is expected to be ready for occupancy on Oct. 1. The estimated cost has been placed at $50,000, of which $30,000 has been obtained through a building loan made by Snow & Snow.

William W. Havens of the building firm declared that the house would be the first of its kind in the entire city. "The front of the building," he said, "will be tapestry brick and limestone trim, but all the other walls will be concrete. These concrete walls will be chuted into place by means of mechanical equipment, in order to reduce labor costs. The forms in which the concrete will be laid have been espeially designed and will be available for use on each story of the house."

CAVANAUGH RENT CASE IS POSTPONED

COURTS HEAR 370 DISPUTES

Winner of One Suit Refuses to Accept Lease Because "Landlady Is Undesirable."

The case of Mrs. Alice Cavanaugh, a former volunteer worker for the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering who is charged with misuse of money intrusted to her pending the settlement of various rent disputes, was postponed until Monday by Magistrate Bernard Douras, in Morrisania Court yesterday because of the absence of Assistant District Attorney Israel Adelman, who has the case in charge.

Mrs. Cavanaugh said that since leaving the Mayor's committee she had been working independently in the interests of tenants. She has refused to give her address, her business or her source of income. She asserts that by handling rent money turned over to her she has saved many tenants from eviction.

The complainants in the case, tenants of an apartment house at 970 Prospect Avenue, the Bronx, charge that Mrs. Cavanaugh refused to yield either to them or to their landlord $2,694 they had deposited with her. Mrs. Cavanaugh admitted that she had but $600 of the amount. The remainder, she said, she had turned over to other tenants in immediate danger of eviction.

Refuse to Order Return of Money.

Edward Herbst, attorney for the tenants, told Magistrate Douras that many of his clients were in a serious predicament through Mrs. Cavanaugh's failure to return their money. Some, he said, have had to pay their rent again, while others, unable to pay, are facing eviction.

Mr. Herbst asked the court to order Mrs. Cavanaugh to return the money, but this was refused on the ground that the court was interested solely in the trial of the charges against the defendant.

Three hundred and twenty rent disputes were handled yesterday by Justice Peter Sheil in the First District Municipal Court, Westchester, and fifty cases were heard by Justice William E. Morris in the Bronx District Municipal Court.

Mrs. Anna Brand appeared before Justice Sheil to answer charges of extortionate rental made by Frank Brosnan, who said she raised his rent from $45 to $75 in a year. Justice Sheil fixed the rent at $62.50 and offered Brosnan a year's lease. The compainant refused. He said he was leaving the apartment June 1 because he considered Mrs. Brand an undesirable landlady.

Landlord Loses Case.

Justice Morris held that money spent for repairs could not properly be charged to depreciation. The case in point was against Mrs. Ida L. Karlbach, Secretary of the I. L. K. Realty Company, owners of a house at 2,497 Tiebout Avenue, Bronx, who was charged by tenants with unreasonably raising the rent from $34 to $50. Justice Morris fixed the rent at $45 a month and gave tenants a year's lease.

Supreme Court Justice Lehman decided that the anti-rent profiteering law effective April 1 last is not retroactive and does not apply to leases made prior to that time and that tenants who have such leases cannot refuse to pay on the ground that the rent is exorbitant. The court acted in a suit of the Paterno Investing Corporation against Jacob Katz to recover rent due April 1.

A widow with two children moved into Tent No. 1 of Newark's canvas colony for the evicted last night. Other families are preparing to move to the encampment as soon as weather conditions improve. Yesterday's rain halted workmen setting up the tents, but gave Newark tenants one more day of grace before the serving of eviction papers.

Payne Considered as Rail Director.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Although Walker D. Hines retires tomorrow as Director General of Railways, White House officials said tonight there had been no final selection of his successor. Secretary Payne of the Interior Department is understood to have been under consideration. Max Thelan, now in charge of the Railroad Administration's Liquidation Bureau, also has been mentioned as Mr. Hines's successor.

One Price $3.45

One Price

ONE Policy—One Quality—One Price was the foundation of this business twenty years ago. Before the war my One Price Policy was quite popular in different lines of business, but during the war I have been plugging along alone—but Peace hasn't been declared yet.

A Profiteer can't do business on a One Price Policy, because where there's only One Price, they can't use the $3 price for "bait" in the window and the $5 price for "bu$ine$$" in the store.

I just happened to notice today that all the stores who are featuring $3 hats in the windows or displaying $3 hats in big type in the papers, are carrying $4 and $5 hats in the stores.

But $3—$4—$5 don't make $3.45. The figures are the same but the result is different, and it makes a lot of difference to you whether the dollar sign is used once or three times—whether there is One Price or Three Prices.

I have one price in the window and one price in the store, and my salesmen don't have to figure out the size of your pocketbook when you tell them the size of your head. They don't try to show you "something better" because there isn't "anything better"—they are all One Price—$3.45.

You can make your selection from more than a hundred different styles. Imported and Domestic. Bleached or natural color. Wide, Medium, Fine or Fancy weave Straws. Smooth or Saw-edge Brim. Wide and narrow bands,—and every straight-brim straw in the store is one price,—$3.45.
